Mays Key To Giants' 1955 Pennant Chances

(This is the seventh in a series on the 1955 prospects of the major league clubs.) By DICK FALES Phoenix, Ariz.—(U.P.)—The inevitable question with the world champion Giants is "Willie" and they're asking it—"Will he?"

For Willie Mays holds the key to the Giant pennant chances. Will he be the same superlative young star who threatened Babe Ruth's home run record, led the major leagues in hitting, and became the national league's most valuable player in his first full season?

Will he provide the same inspirational spark that lifted the whole club into a fighting unit and prompted Manager Leo Durocher to state that, "As Willie goes, so go the Giants?"

Or will he perhaps, become a little jaded after a long hard winter of baseball in Puerto Rico and run out of gas? The Giants are wondering because seldom has the destiny of a pennant-defending team been so bound up in one player.

Eyes on Maglie The Giants stood pat with their champs—a dangerous business in a league where only one pennant winner has repeated since 1944, the Dodgers of 1952-53.

The pitching could be too thin, particularly if Sal Maglie reaches the end of the road, or if Larry Jansen fails in his bid for a comeback. Durocher admits he could be in trouble unless he comes up with another dependable starter.

"We've got Johnny Antonelli and Ruben Gomez for two of the starting spots and they're

RV RETRIEVER TRIAL TO BEGIN ON FRIDAY AT HOOVER LAKES

To assure adequate "cover" for some of the land series, the fourth annual American Kennel club licensed trial slated this week end by Rogue Valley Retriever club may be held over a larger area than in past years, field trial committeemen said today.

The trial, at Hoover lakes and vicinity northeast of Medford, begins at 8 a.m. Friday with the amateur all-age stake. Events will continue through Saturday and Sunday with three other stakes, derby, qualifying and open all-age on the program. Entry list of 132 is highest in the four-year history of the RVRC event.

Trial committeemen listed five tracts of land in the general vicinity of the lakes where some of the land tests may be conducted. They are the Medford Gun club property west of Crater Lake highway Four Corners; Biddle and city of Medford property north of the airport; Game Commission land south of the Military Bridge on Rogue river; the Agate swale, Game Commission and city of Medford property south of the National Guard building on the old Camp White reservation, and the Tex-Nash tract one-half-mile north of the Four Corners on Crater Lake highway.

Exact locations for the various tests were being determined today by Judges Alfred H. Schmidt, Portland, and Lefe Utter, Los Angeles, and the local judge, Irv Warren, in a trip over the grounds.

These areas are all within three miles of the clubhouse at Hoover lakes and are south and west of that location. Special facilities have been made for transporting birds to be used at the various locations. Word will be left at the Ladies of the Moose concession stand at the club concerning exact location of the series in progress.

Max Terzenbach Highest in Shoot

Max Terzenbach with 275 was high for the evening Tuesday as Medford Rifle and Pistol club shooters held a long practice for the National Rifle association sectional pistol tournament here this Sunday.

Roy Hewitt had a 274, Jim Bolton 266 and Ward Hutton and Joe Alliston each 265. The tourney will start at 8 a.m. Sunday at the club's indoor range in the Merrick building. It is a portion of the NRA national championship firing.

The Giant infield stacks up with the best in baseball, with Whitey Lockman at first, Davey Williams at second, captain and sparkplug Alvin Dark at short, and hard-plugging Henry Thompson at third. Williams, who has a bad back and a low batting average, is the only question mark but if he can play every day and field like he did last year, the club can carry him.

The same is true with first string catcher, Wes Westrum, one of the best mitt men in baseball. He batted only .187 last season but still helped win game after game with his fine handling of the pitchers. Ray Katt, of whom much has been expected, may yet develop into a top flight catcher and Mickey Grasso, the veteran picked up in the draft from Cleveland, is a hustler who can help.

With Mays as key man in the outfield, the Giants are well fixed here too, although everyone in camp is hoping that Monte Irvin's bad season of 1954, in which he hit only .262, was a temporary lapse and that he isn't coming to the end of the road. Irvin used to be the team's most dependable run-producer but drove in only 64 in '54.

If he can hit again, left field is his spot, while Don Mueller, a .342 batsman who is shooting to lead the league in hitting, has right field to himself. Dusty Rhodes, baseball's most distinguished pinch-hitter, is the No. 1 spare. Home run slugger Bob Lenson, up from Nashville where he hit .64, Bill Taylor and Eric Roden are fighting it out for the number five spot. Infield reserve strength is satisfactory with Bobby Hofman, bonus player Joe Amalfitano, Foster Castleman, Bill Gardner and Gail Harris the ones most likely to stick.
