

BEST DRESSED—Making one of her first Washington outings since her recent attack of flu, Mamie Eisenhower smiles as she leaves National Presbyterian Church. She attended services with President Eisenhower. Later, it was announced that the New York Fashion Academy named her the best-dressed woman in public life for 1955.

Ho Chi Minh Set To Make Debut as Spokesman for Reds

Djakarta, Indonesia — (U.P.) Ho Chi Minh, Moscow-trained president of Communist Northern Viet Nam, will make his international debut at next month's Afro-Asian Conference. It was reported Saturday.

The 29-nation conference is scheduled to open in Bandung April 18.

Revealed in Speech

News of Ho's plans to attend the conference first leaked out Friday night in a speech by Indonesian Information Minister F. L. Tobing. Tobing told members of his political party the conference would be attended by 14 prime ministers and one president, Ho.

A spokesman for the joint secretariat of the conference said Saturday that official notification of the makeup of the Northern Viet Nam delegation has not yet been received. However, reliable Indonesian sources said Indonesia already has been notified informally that Ho will lead the delegation from the world's newest Communist state.

Formidable Team

Ho and Premier Chou En-Lai of Red China would constitute a formidable team of spokesmen for the Communist viewpoint at the conference.

An Indonesian government spokesman denied reports that Indonesia had invited U. S. Congressman Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) to attend the conference.

The ministry would have no objection if Powell comes but "he would be strictly on his own" and would not be considered an "official observer," the spokesman said.

Source of First Copies of Yalta Papers Not Known

Washington — (U.P.) Secretary of State John Foster Dulles does not know who leaked the first copies of the Yalta Papers to the New York Times, the State department said Saturday. The Times received the documents about 24 hours before they were handed out to most other newsmen.

The department at the same time showed the first signs of striking back at congressional press and other critics of the leak. The department has been bombarded with demands to know who decided to give the copies to the Times first.

After these demands hit a peak Friday, a reporter asked State department press officer Henry Suydam whether Dulles himself knew who had handed out the first copy of the once-secret papers ahead of the general release time.

"I have the answer—it is no, Mr. Dulles does not," Suydam said later.

Suydam would not say whether other persons in the State department had leaked the Yalta Papers.

Injured Skier To Move To California Hospital

Santa Monica, Calif. — (U.P.) Skier Jill Kinmont, 20, who has been partially paralyzed since she broke her back two months ago, is scheduled to arrive at St. John's hospital here next Wednesday from Salt Lake City, Utah.

The daughter of Bishop, Calif., rancher William Kinmont, was confined to Salt Lake City General hospital after the accident during the Snow Cup races there. She is regarded as one of the nation's finest women skiers.
