

Biblical Information Showing Way to Archaeological Findings

By ELIY SIMON
UP Staff Correspondent
Jerusalem—(U.P.)—Archaeologists are making use of an authoritative guidebook, the Bible, in their search for evidence of past civilizations in the Near East.

It has led more than one digger to put his shovel down at the right spot.

The Bible's reference to copper mines in the region between the Dead Sea and the Gulf of Akaba led to the discovery of King Solomon's copper mines. They have been reopened and are being worked again for ore.

Archaeologists have unearthed 225 sites of ancient habitation in the desert country called the Negev. They were led to search there by chapters 12 and 14 of the Book of Genesis, which told them the area was not always a wilderness but was thriving with people in the time of Abraham.

Professor Nelson Glueck, an American archaeologist, believes he has proved the correctness of a story in Genesis 14 about a rebellion of a number of kings against the ruler Chedorlaomer.

By tracing a chain of destroyed cities from southern Syria to the central Negev, Glueck showed them to be the remains of a civilization wiped out in Abraham's day.

Excavations now going on at Ramat Rachel on Israeli Jerusalem's southern border have brought to light a fortress covering an acre and a quarter of land. The fortress dates back to the ninth or tenth century B.C.

Seal impressions found on jar handles dug up at this site corroborate descriptions found in the Old Testament. The seals show winged scrolls such as those which served as the personal symbol of the old kings of Judah.

Scholars also are learning more about the early spread of Christianity in the Holy Land. When some settlers moved into a house on the Lebanese border and started clearing a pile of filth off the floor, they uncovered a colored mosaic design. It turned out they had stumbled on the remains of a fifth century church.

Throughout Israel there is a new interest in looking for relics of ancient times. Practically anyone who has been to school regards himself as an expert in archaeology, possibly because there is so much emphasis on biblical studies in Israeli schools.

Many families have their private archaeological museums. These are collections of statuettes, arrow and lance heads, pieces of pottery, old coins and pieces of mosaic which members

Dedication of Bridge To Honor Ex-Ferryman

Pendleton — (U.P.) — William H. Switzer, pioneer Columbia river ferryman will be honored April 15 at the dedication of the new bridge over the Columbia at Umatilla.

A plaque honoring the late ferryman and rancher for his river development work will be placed on the 3,880-foot bridge.

Governors Paul L. Patterson of Oregon and Arthur B. Langlie of Washington will be present for the dedication of the $5,000,000 project.

Switzer was a former president of the Pendleton round-up and a Umatilla county commissioner.

Sales By Crane Co. Down Five Per Cent

Chicago — Crane Co. sales during 1954 were the fourth highest in the company's 100-year history, according to John L. Holloway, president. Total net sales of all Crane Co.'s U.S. and Canadian operations were $229,791,010 as compared with $315,677,790 in 1953 — a decrease of five per cent.

Net earnings including dividends from the company's English subsidiary totaled $5,807,906 or $2.25 per common share. This compares with 1953 net earnings of $8,703,262 or $3.47 per common share.

"The company is now in a much better competitive position than a year ago," Mr. Holloway said, "and if the present outlook for construction during 1955 is maintained operations should reflect a marked improvement in earning for this current year. In view of the progress being made with titanium and the various mining and minerals operations, together with further product development under way, the longer term outlook appears very good."

Federal, state and local taxes amounted to $7,415,896 or 127.7 per cent of net earnings after such taxes. These taxes represent $3.14 per common share or $379.16 per employee.

The report shows that Crane Co. employed 19,559 persons compared with 19,665 a year ago. There are 21,054 shareholders, a gain of 152 over the preceding year.

The Colorado river was discovered by de Alcarcon August 26, 1540.

Sally Rand Credits Success of Stage Career To Exercise, Lots of Cold Cream

Detroit — (U.P.) — Fan dancer Sally Rand, who readily admits to being "well over 50," today credited her successful show business career to "a few simple exercises and a lot of cold cream."

The curvaceous, five-foot blond zoomed to world-wide attention with a bubble dance act in the days of the Chicago World's Fair. That was in 1932-33, but Miss Rand still doesn't look a day over umpty-three, even without her makeup.

"I've heard women say they'd look good, too, 'with all that makeup,'" the dancer said in her little six-by-six foot dressing room. "But I wear very little makeup, as you can easily see."

Well Dressed for Number
She also wore very little of anything else, for her number was next on the stage of Detroit's 509 Club.

"Any girl can look young for just oodles of years if she applies her makeup sparingly and in the right manner," Miss Rand continued.

"There's really no secret about having a good complexion. Look—"

Suddenly she dipped three fingers into a jar of inexpensive cold cream and smeared the goo in the palm of her left hand.

"The big thing to remember is to have the cleaning cream at skin temperature before touching your face with it."

It's the Cream That Counts
She patted the cream onto the cheeks, smoothed it out evenly with her fingertips and wiped her face with a clean towel. Her skin was as flawless as a newborn baby's.

To keep a trim figure she resorts to a few simple "sitting up" exercises. But when she's at home with her husband and children in Las Vegas, Nev., tending her flower garden is all the exercise she needs.

"I've been in show business for more than 30 years," she said. "And now people keep asking me when I'm going to return."

Judging by the applause she got when she dropped her last fan, she may be good for another 30.
