

Lily Day Parade Set Saturday

The annual sale of paper lilies made by handicapped persons will be conducted by 60 Medford Senior High school sophomore girls on downtown streets from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, April 2. Mayor Earl Miller has proclaimed Saturday as Lily day in Medford.

The Lily parade is planned as part of the 22nd annual Easter Seal campaign to help raise funds for crippled children. Contributions from the sale of lilies in Medford will be used to help finance the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority is in charge of the drive and Mrs. Chester Peterson has been appointed to serve as chairman of the Lily day parade, with Mrs. Fred Stamm as the assistant chairman.

Mrs. Ryder Berg, dean of girls at Medford Senior High school, is assisting the sorority by acquainting the girls who will be selling lilies with the purpose of the campaign by showing a film entitled "This is Their Story."

Mrs. Peterson says "Your purchase of Easter lilies aids greatly in outlining a program for crippled children which will provide happiness in their future."

Use those scraps left from slip covering or re-upholstery. They can be made into storage bags for the closet or as containers for small cleaning items and for small parts of the vacuum cleaner.

Stamp Collectors Win Show Ribbons

Camp White — Members of the Veterans' Stamp club at the Veterans' Administration domiciliary won 11 ribbons at a recent stamp exhibit held at the Palace hotel in San Francisco. The men entered a 52-page album.

Among the winners were Ed Tierney, who won a blue ribbon for his Vatican City exhibit; Lester Farlinger, who won a blue ribbon for Roosevelt stamps; Herbert Milne, who won a red ribbon for an exhibit of Mexican stamps; Roy Campbell, red ribbon for ships on stamps; Claude Blewett, third place for an exhibit on Ireland; Howard Schoonmaker, third place for sports on stamps. Several honorable mentions were also won.

The exhibit was sponsored by the American Women's Voluntary services, and Mrs. Alma Rothschild, San Francisco, is national president of the group. About 30 hospitals on the west coast participated in the event, and it was the second time that Camp White men had entered.

The Veterans' Stamp club meets every Monday morning at the domiciliary, and visitors are welcome. The club, in its fifth year, is directed by Mrs. R. E. Carley and recently affiliated with the Northwest Federation of Stamp clubs. The federation has set the annual conference and exhibit for May 28-30 at Eugene, and the veterans plan to enter an exhibit.

Hundreds Attend Birthday Party At Camp Corral

The fourth birthday anniversary party at Camp Corral Sunday afternoon was termed a "huge success" with over 300 in attendance. Mrs. Leslie Robertson was mistress of ceremonies for the dance program, introducing the 14 out-of-town callers and several local callers.

As many as 35 squares were on the floor dancing to the calls and in some round dances two large circles were formed to accommodate the dancers. Many dancers were present from Roseburg, Grants Pass, Rogue River, Prospect, Klamath Falls and Yreka, besides valley dancers.

The hall was effectively decorated with kites, streamers and flying fish. A fourth electric candle had been added to the former three in front of the caller's stand to commemorate four years of pleasure in square dancing at Camp Corral under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson.

Home-made pies, donated by the Camp Corral club members, and other refreshments were served from the snack bar during the afternoon.

Johnnie Johnson was general chairman of the party with Harold Evans, Bob Herriott and various committees assisting.

Legislator Says Special Election May Be Called

Salem —(U.P.)— Plans for a possible state tax election were outlined and the latest Democratic attack on President Eisenhower was answered in talks before the Monmouth - Independence unit of the council of Oregon Republican Women at Monmouth Tuesday night.

Speakers were Rep. Loran Stewart (R - Cottage Grove), chairman of the House Taxation Committee, and Tom Lawson McCall, Portland radio commentator.

Stewart told the Republican women that the House tax group is preparing bills providing for an automatic special election this year on any tax legislation attacked by the referendum after the Legislature adjourns. He said if the voters turn down the revenue proposals at the special election, the Legislature would have to hold a special session.

Stewart said he personally favors adoption of the California plan as a long-range answer to Oregon's need for additional revenue. California combines the income and sales tax. Exempt from the sales tax are food, seed and fertilizer.

McCall charged that Democratic Sen. Matthew M. Neely of West Virginia had struck "the all-time political low blow" in his blast at President Eisenhower at a CIO United Auto Workers convention in Cleveland Monday.

Neely was reported to have alleged that President Eisenhower was unqualified for his office, objected to the time the president spends golfing and fishing and lashed out at news coverage given the president's church-going.

Medford Woman Attends Meeting
