Judge Overrules Autopsy Request

Portland—(U.P.)—Circuit Judge James W. Crawford Friday denied a defense motion to require the state to provide an autopsy report on Diane Hank, 16-year-old Portland girl who died mysteriously last year.

After the ruling, Wey Him Fong and his wife, Sherry, entered innocent pleas to first degree murder charges brought in connection with the girl's death.

The Fongs had pleaded innocent earlier, but had withdrawn the pleas in order that Defense Attorney Irving Goodman could enter his demurrer to the indictment. The demurrer was recently overruled.

Judge Crawford ruled that the district attorney's office had control of the autopsy report and that the document also was not of such a nature it could be demanded by the defendants.

Trial of the Fongs is scheduled for April 11.

for the Columbia Basin News, said Jackson evidently thought he could reach young Peterson without firing on him.

Jackson cornered the youth in an alley between two cabins in the east side of town Friday evening shortly after the youth had wounded his father and grandfather after being denied use of the family car.

Jackson died on the operating table at Our Lady of Lourdes hospital less than an hour after the shooting.

Police said the boy had been drinking vodka and became enraged when his father told him he could not use the family car. Officers said Peterson first shot his grandfather at the trailer camp he operated, then fired at his father who was about a half block from the camp.

At the hospital, Peterson's father, shot three times with a .30-30 caliber deer rifle, asked "Did you get the boy? Did you get the boy?"

Told his son had been captured, Peterson said "good."

Police said the husky youth fired 50 or 60 shots from three weapons during the half-hour shooting spree.

Grand Coulee Lake Far Below Normal

Portland — (U.P.)—The Bonneville Power Administration said Saturday that lake Franklin D. Roosevelt behind Grand Coulee dam has reached the lowest level in its history.

The BPA said the present level of the lake was 1,223 feet above sea level, a draw-down of 65 feet since last fall. Grand Coulee power plants never have operated with levels of less than 1,225 feet in a previous year. The reservoir's level is 1,288 feet when it is full.

Sen. Gore Renews Request That Ike Cancel Dixon-Yates

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) Saturday renewed his suggestion that President Eisenhower cancel the Dixon-Yates contract.

Gore acted in the light of a comptroller general's report criticizing Ebasco Services Inc., the company which is to design the controversial Dixon-Yates power plant at West Memphis, Ark., and supervise its construction.

The report was prepared by Joseph Campbell, newly-appointed head of the General Accounting office who voted for the Dixon-Yates contract while a member of the Atomic Energy commission.

Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) a member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy committee, said the GAO report shows that Ebasco "should be disqualified from further work on contracts involving federal government funds."

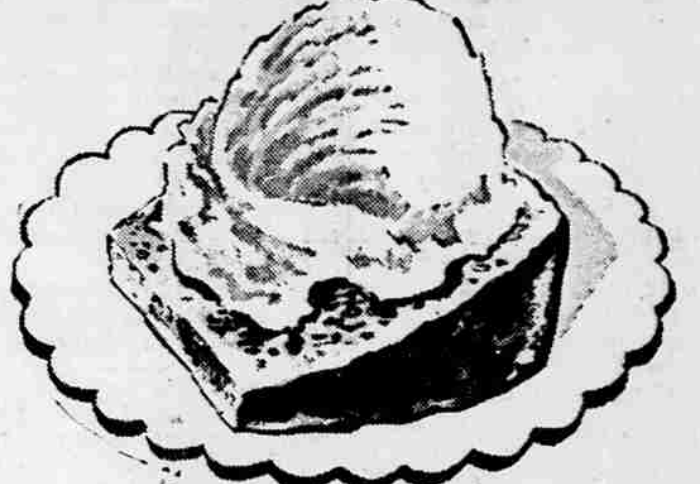

The report dealt primarily with the work of Ebasco services in building a steam plant for the government at Joppa, Ill. Gore commented that the project has become known as the "Ebasco fiasco."

The GAO report said actual costs overran estimates by about $51,000,000 dollars on the Joppa plant. It said the government also will have to pay about $62,500,000 over a 25-year period in added power costs.

Among other additional costs and delays highlighted in the report, the GAO singled out a one-story administration building which cost $82 a square foot to build as compared with a $20 to $24 "reasonable" cost.

The report said 29 doors installed in the building cost almost $400 each to buy and install.
