Germany Authority Becomes US Citizen

Huntsville, Ala. — (U.P.) — The man who may go down in history as the "Christopher Columbus of space travel" became an American citizen today with 102 other German rocket experts and former scientists for Adolf Hitler.

Dr. Werhner Von Braun, 41-year-old world's foremost authority of space travel and the inventor of the German V-2 rocket in World War II, was naturalized in a small Southern high school after nearly 10 years in the United States, helping the government keep ahead in guided missile development.

At the Army's top-secret guided missile center here, Redstone Arsenal, Von Braun is director of the guided missile development division but spends his spare time investigating the possibilities of space travel.

1954 Deer Kill

Figured at 112,486

Portland — (U.P.) — An estimated 112,486 deer were taken by hunters in Oregon during the 1954 season, according to figures released by the State Game Commission. The deer kill set a new record.

R. U. Mace, game commission biologist, said that slightly more than half of the 215,047 hunters bagged their venison. The largest bag was in Klamath county, where 9,998 deer were killed.

Some 5,038 elk were taken, or about 2000 more than the number killed in 1953.

Tuna Fishermen

Seem Never to Quit

Galilee, R. I. — (U.P.) — Some tuna fishermen never give up.

The Atlantic Tuna Tournament will be held in this little fishing village next summer for the third year in a row.

Two years ago tuna fishermen taking part in the tourney caught one tuna. And last year the fishing fleet was sunk by Hurricane Carol as the tourney was about to begin.

ALL OF A SUDDEN—You can chalk up one more child actress who has successfully made the transformation into grown up roles. Natalie Wood is shown here (left) as she appeared in "The Miracle of 34th Street" in 1947 and (right) as she appears in Hollywood currently shooting "Rebel Without a Cause." She is 17.

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY
 United Press Correspondent

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Natalie Wood, the one-time child actress in pigtails, has graduated to grown-up roles — an over-night transformation "because I'm slender."

Only last year Natalie played a 12-year-old in "The Silver Chalice" and also other sub-sub-debs in TV films. But today, at 17, she's portraying a pretty, curvaceous high-school girl who has tender love scenes with new star James Dean in "Rebel Without a Cause."

"Physically I'm slight and small," she explained. "I've been able to work right along because I never went through that awkward plump growing-up stage with braces and the whole bit."

"When I was too young to play grown-up parts, I still could play a 12-year-old. Now I'm old enough to change to older roles. "Some child actresses have trouble making the switch," she added. "Margaret O'Brien had to wear braces on her teeth."

Natalie performed her "overnight" transformation with some tricks. The wardrobe department helped her disguise her slender figure. In a teen-age hair-do and make-up she looks like what she is—a senior in high-school (she still goes to Van Nuys High School between pictures).

"But to do the 12-year-old roles last year I made my voice higher and thinner," she said. "Another reason I think I'll work toward truly mature roles is my name. How can an actress grow up with a name like Terry or Debbie? My name fits mature roles, too."

Natalie nosed out Debbie Reynolds, Pat Crowley, Kathryn Grant and other young players for the plum role opposite Dean. She thinks the part is the beginning "of a new career for me—I'm getting a lot of chances to play older girls on television."

Enough Young Roles

"The young roles were good for the experience and training," she said. "But I hope I don't have to do any more. I've had my fill of those."

Natalie appears to be straining at the bit to be grown up in real life, too. She said she'll be overjoyed when she graduates from high-school this year. She then can do without her tutor on movie sets and also without her mother as a chaperone.

As a real-life high-school senior, Natalie thinks most TV series and movies about teenagers are "phony."

"They have those silly girls, giggling, and squealing 'Oh, Daddy,'" she said. "Kids resent it. There's no phonies in our movie. It shows that teenagers have problems."

Seattle — (U.P.) — The Civil Aeronautics Board said it would call about 30 witnesses at its hearing next Tuesday into the ditching of the Pan American World Airways stratoscruiser off the Oregon coast last month.

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—THREE

Spring Storms Wreak Havoc in Southland

By UNITED PRESS

Spring erupted again yesterday with a Texas blizzard, flooding rains and dust storms which left three persons dead and widespread property damage through the South.

The Texas panhandle city of Dalhart was isolated by more than a foot of snow. In Jackson, Miss., a three inch rainfall flooded streets almost up to the level of car windows.

In the Southwest high winds kept some of the worst dust storms of the season going for the second day. Many towns in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico were closed in by dust early today and hundreds of motorists were reported marooned late yesterday.

The violent weather continued a pattern of April wildness. The northern plains were buried under the second major blizzard in a week yesterday and ripping winds have been tearing at the dust bowl.

New York State to Get 15,000,000 More Trees

Ithaca, N. Y. — (U.P.) — Soil conservation districts in New York state will plant more than 15,000,000 trees in New York state this spring.

The state's conservation department nurseries produce the trees and sell them to landowners at prices ranging from $2 to $4 per thousand.

This year's production include red pine, Austrian pine, Scotch pine, white pine, Norway spruce, white spruce, larch and black locust.

Rogue River

Rogue River — Frank McKloske of Holland, Ore., is spending a week at Rogue River visiting friends and attending to business in Grants Pass.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan and sons left April 11 for Bishop, Calif., after spending Easter vacation with relatives here.

E. A. T. Hobby club met at the home of Mrs. Bob Gail on Highway 99 (south) April 7 with eight members present and one guest, Mrs. H. Williams.

Among those attending the ham dinner at upper Rogue Grange from here were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sheehan, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Parr, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Golding, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith and Frank McKloske.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller of Old Stage road returned last week from Triangle Lake where he has been employed for the past three months.

Henry Corbin is visiting his daughter and family at Tacoma, Wash.

Women's Association of Hope Presbyterian church will hold the regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Eda Fulton Thursday, April 14, at 7:45 p. m. Mrs. Ronald Dundas from the Episcopal church at Grants Pass will speak on refugee work in America. All ladies are urged to attend.

Greater comfort and quicker return to activity for fracture patients is promised from use of a cast made of plastic resin and plaster of Paris.

Sharp Protest Readied On Blockade of Berlin

Berlin — (U.P.) — The three Western allies have prepared a sharp new protest to the Soviets against Berlin's "little blockade," but the Communists hinted at drastic "security measures" to isolate this cold war outpost.

Diplomatic sources said officials of the three Western high commissions were "getting tired" of Soviet and Communist stalling over the economic squeeze on West Berlin and were writing an even stronger protest than the earlier one Russia so far has ignored.

An Allied note of April 1 protested the crippling tax slapped down by Soviet zone authorities. Russia did not answer, but the Communist press indicated the Russian reply, if any when it came, would assert that East Germany is a "sovereign state" and that Russia cannot interfere.

Cheesemakers' Tests

Scheduled April 27

Salem — (U.P.) — The State Department of Agriculture has scheduled its next cheesemakers' examination for April 27 at the Tillamook creamery in Tillamook.

The schedule calls for written examinations in the morning and cheese judging and analysis in the afternoon. The tests are required to obtain a cheesemaker's license.
