

Ike Orders Polio Vaccine To Be Shared With Other Nations

Washington —(U.P.)— The government moved rapidly today to carry out President Eisenhower's order to share information on the Salk anti-polio vaccine with other nations as an international gesture of good will.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles took personal command of the project and assigned it a top priority. In Congress, various proposals were suggested to insure that no black market develops in distribution of the vaccine in this country.

Dulles planned an afternoon meeting with Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis, to discuss Mr. Eisenhower's plan to give the rest of the world the benefit of U. S. knowledge about the anti-polio vaccine.

Export Restrictions Made

Dulles also requested from the foundation a copy of this week's history making report by Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. on the effectiveness of the vaccine. The State Department will send copies of the report to the 75 foreign countries with which the United States maintains diplomatic relations, including Russia, and to the World Health Organization.

Dulles also announced he will confer with other federal agencies on how far the United States can go in making the vaccine itself available for export. But it appeared unlikely there will be any large-scale shipments of the vaccine overseas until vaccinations in this country are well under way.

The Commerce Department only Wednesday put all exports of the vaccine except to Canada under regulation. Its action means the vaccine cannot be exported except under Commerce Department license.

At the capitol today, two House members said that if any sign of a black market in the vaccine develops in this country, Congress should be prepared to crack down. This view was expressed in separate interviews by Reps. Abraham J.

Governors To Attend Columbia Ceremonies

Umatilla, Ore.—(U.P.)—Oregon and Washington governors will be on hand tomorrow for ceremonies opening the new $5,000,000 bridge over the Columbia river here.

Short addresses before the ribbon is cut are slated by both Paul L. Patterson of Oregon and Arthur B. Langlie of Washington. The chief executives will then lead a motorcade over the inter-state span.

Ribbon cutting will be done by Mrs. William H. Switzler, widow of the Umatilla county pioneer in whose honor the bridge will be dedicated.

The bridge will be paid for by tolls in about 25 years. It will then be turned over to the state highway departments.

Multer (D-N.Y.) and Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill.), both members of the House Banking Committee which has jurisdiction over price control and rationing legislation.

May Ration Supplies

Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby said Wednesday night her agency at present has no plans to combat a black market because "I can't believe it would develop; I have too much confidence in the medical profession." But she conceded she might be "too trusting."

A public health spokesman said there might be isolated complaints of black marketing, but ethical drug makers could deal with them by withholding supplies from the offenders.

In another development, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said he will sponsor legislation to provide for rationing of available supplies of the vaccine by a committee headed by the surgeon general. He said "it is imperative that this magnificent scientific development be used sensibly and unselfishly."

The State Department compared the President's plan for sharing information about the anti-polio vaccine with his atom-for-peace proposal. But there were these differences: the vaccine was not developed by the government or under government control as was atomic data, and there has been no government-imposed secrecy on the vaccine research and many foreign nations already have much information about it.

WELL RECEIVED—The first shipment of Salk polio vaccine for distribution to physicians for private practice inoculations is greeted by Kathleen Thompson at Dallas, Tex. The 7300 pounds of serum was flown by American Airlines from the Cutter Laboratories in Berkeley, Cal., one of six companies making the vaccine.

The Army Dog Training Center at Fort Carson, Colo., is the only military training installation of its type in the United States.

Trailmobile built the first freight trailer for motor vehicles in 1912. It was a pygmy by today's trailer standards, carrying only 1,000 pounds of goods.

Back Stairs: President's Tax Return

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
Augusta, Ga.—(U.P.)— Back stairs at the White House:

In case anyone wants to investigate, President Eisenhower got his income tax return in well ahead of time. He relied heavily on his military aide, Col. Robert Schulz, who handles the presidential chequer.

Good guess among presidential intimates: He'll go overseas this year. Big Four or an inspection trip?

It was touch and go for a time on whether the President would come to Augusta. He was thinking about cancelling his trip and staying at Gettysburg with his wife who is busy with the myriad details of decorating their house.

Mr. Eisenhower ran into a lot of political friendship when he was in Charleston, S. C., last Tuesday, but he also heard some criticism — not personally, but some of the South Carolina party bosses told him they did not like his federal highway program.

South Carolinians who could not get next to the President were not critical of his highway objective; they just didn't like his plan of tapping the federal gas tax to finance the road program.

This objection is not peculiar to South Carolina. It is heard over much of the south.

Could be that Mr. Eisenhower will take some step to pat the back of Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who has announced that he'll be available for re-election.

George is certain to encounter the opposition of Herman Talmadge, former governor of Georgia. George also has the praise and gratitude of the President for not attempting to upset administration foreign policy during a touchy period.

So, what happens? If Talmadge the younger attempts to damage George materially, there may be an oblique answer from Mr. Eisenhower — possibly like having George appear with him in public.

Mr. Eisenhower would have loved to have been here for the thrilling Masters Tournament, but he didn't dare. If he had shown up, he'd been a bigger gallery drawing card than Cary Middlecoff.
