

Daylight Saving Time To Start In About Half Nation Sunday

By UNITED PRESS
About half the nation's population will lose an hour, and farmers, travelers, and timetable authors will have their annual day of confusion and frustration next Sunday.

That's when Daylight Saving Time replaces Standard Time for an estimated 69,779,606 Americans in most of the nation's major cities and throughout at least nine states.

Change at 2 A.M.
The big switch will come at 2 a.m. local time. Or, to be more exact, 2 a.m. will never arrive. Instead official clocks will be turned to three o'clock in the morning.

The change-over generally results in suburbanites missing their trains, employees turning up late for work, and farmers grumbling because their cow-milking schedules are out of step with the clock.

This year, however, may bring even more confusion.

Many eastern states have decided, or are on the point of deciding, to extend DST an extra month until the last Sunday in October.

Out of Step
This will put them out of step with the rest of the nation, where DST traditionally ends on the last Sunday of September.

It may also play hob with television and radio schedules. New York is already officially committed to extending DST and this could mean TV shows would be originating in New York City on daylight time schedules while the rest of the nation had gone back to standard time.

Other states where more Daylight Savings Time has been ordered or is being considered are Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia. An extension was also under study in Chicago.

Practically all of Pennsylvania will make the change, even though state law requires that clocks in state-owned buildings stick to Standard Time. The law didn't affect state employees, who planned to show up for work an hour later along with everybody else.

Same Situation in Ohio

The situation was about the same in Ohio, where 41 cities and numerous villages will make the change while official time remains Standard. In Kentucky and West Virginia a few cities and counties will switch over while the rest of the two states stick to the old time.

Across the nation, nine states will switch officially to Daylight time and the change will be made on an optional basis in 15 others. In the remaining 24 states, some will be Standard through and through and some will have both times.

The Egin National Watch Company estimated that 43 per cent of the nation's population will be under daylight time this year, as compared to 37 per cent in 1948.

Church Missionary Conference Slated At Central Point

William Kraemer, an educator and member of the board of parish education of the Lutheran church, Missouri Synod, will speak at St. Peter's Lutheran church, 1020 East Main st., tonight at 7:15 o'clock. Kraemer, an expert on Christian day schools, will talk about the possibility of beginning such a school here and the steps to take.

The Lutheran church, Missouri Synod, conducts more than 1,100 such parish schools with an enrollment of more than 100,000 pupils. Kraemer is the assistant executive secretary of the church's board, which supervises the teaching activity of some 2,500 teachers, five normal schools and training colleges, and the production of literature for educational purposes.

Anyone interested is invited.

General Motors, CIO Resume Negotiations

Detroit — (U.P.) — General Motors resumed negotiations with the CIO United Auto Workers today after nearly a week's recess.

The GM negotiations were recessed last week to allow company officials to confer with representatives of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers. The IUE is seeking the same basic demands as the UAW, including a guaranteed annual wage GAW proposal.

The wage proposal is the central issue in negotiations between the UAW and GM, Ford Motor Co. and other firms.

Ford met with the union briefly Tuesday but recessed until Friday without revealing what was discussed in meetings so far.

KING'S KAROLERS—Part of a program of the "Musical Ambassador," the 16-voice choir from the Southern California Bible college, now on their annual spring tour, will be the "King's Karolers' girls' trio. They will appear at the Medford Assembly of God, 1108 West Main street, tonight at 7:30 p.m. They are, from left, Elizabeth Ring, Covina, Calif., Flossie Borgstrom, Chehalis, Wash., Benna Hoffman, Moses Lake, Wash., and the accompanist, Pauline Noble of Bonanza, Oregon.

Bible College Head Church Educator Will Speak Tonight Due at St. Peter's

Dr. Irvine J. Harrison, president of the Southern California Bible college at Costa Mesa, will speak at the Medford Assembly of God, 1108 West Main st., at a service at 7:30 p.m. today, according to Rev. F. Wildon Colbaugh, pastor.

Also featured will be the "Musical Ambassadors," the 16-voice touring choir from SCBC which is on its annual spring tour. The college is a four-year liberal arts college offering the BA degree in the areas of Bible, theology, arts and science. It is owned and operated by the Southern California district of the Assemblies of God and is in its 35th year of operation.

An invitation to the public to attend has been extended.

Church Educator Due at St. Peter's

The 10th annual Missionary conference at the Community Bible Church in Central Point will begin today at 7:45 p.m. with Mrs. Anne Dievendorf of Japan as speaker.

Mrs. Dievendorf went to Japan in 1922 and was among the Americans interned during the years of World War II. Coming out of internment she found her work wrecked, the churches burned and the congregations scattered. Rehabilitation immediately began, the mission was reorganized, the burned churches were rebuilt with two new ones, and a Bible school was established in the atom-bomb devastated city of Hiroshima.

Among her ministries Mrs. Dievendorf has taught Bible classes among university students. She will show movie pictures, curios and costumes and will also speak at the Friday night service.

Indochina Missionary

On Thursday evening the Rev. R. M. Jackson, missionary to Viet Nam, Indochina, will speak and show pictures. Mr. Jackson has been on the mission field for 36 years and was interned in Indochina during the war. When the Reds captured Dien Bien Phu he was forced to move to Dalat and has continued his missionary work there. Mr. Jackson is well-informed on the problems and conflicts in southeast Asia.

The missionary services will be held three nights, Wednesday through Friday the pastor, Rolf H. Hansen, states. The public is invited.

sent past officer's pins to the outgoing officers. The new officers will assume their duties next month.

It was announced that Medford will be host for a District 3 meeting next Sunday, to be held at the Jackson hotel.

New J-C Officers Banquet Last Night

Newly-elected officers of the Medford Junior Chamber of Commerce were installed at a banquet meeting at the Jackson hotel last night.

The new officers, who were installed by Don Hagedorn, Roseburg, Jaycee District 3 vice-president, include John D. Smith, president; Thomas J. Reeder, first vice-president; Jay Pierce, second vice-president; Arthur Van Leeuwen, secretary; Will Offord, treasurer, and Richard H. Bowers, Charles Jones, Ron James, Stan Fuqua, Bruce Cyphers and Bill Rozell, directors.

Awards Given
Ten members of the organization were presented awards for the work they have done on various projects of the group here. The "key man" award, highest in the organization, went to Robert A. Boyer, and Jaycee awards went to Larry Allen, Will Robertson, Mac DeHeart, Mark McKenzie, Hal Gardner, Tom Reeder, Bill Rombach, Jack Rawlings and Chuck Shepherd.

Lucky Eckstrom, Ashland, national director for Oregon of the Jaycees, was master of ceremonies, and Jack Lively, Springfield, state president, was speaker. President Dick Bowers pre-
