

Girls Practice Wishful Seeing According to University Survey

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

New York — (U.P.) — When we look into mirrors what we see is not always what is there, and science now can give you an idea of how this works in girls.

When girls look into mirrors, they're likely to see narrower waists and shoulders, shorter noses, slimmer calves and ankles, and smaller feet than are actually being reflected in the glass.

But they're inclined to eye-measure their busts on the big side. According to Sidney M. Jourard and Paul F. Second of Emory university, this is because girls carry around in the backs of their heads, the measurements of "the ideal female figure."

See What They Like
They pick up these ideal measurements here and there, from other girls who are conspicuously successful with males and, most importantly, from "Hollywood starts and beauty queens." Then, when they look into their mirrors, they'll see themselves, if it is at all possible, as they'd like to be rather than as they are.

The scientists tried out their theories on 60 college girls at Emory. They used questionnaires; also, in their words, "assorted rulers, tape measures, calipers, and scales for direct measurement."

However, the measuring was done by Miss Fairlie Brown, a student, whose assistance Jourard gratefully acknowledged in their report to a technical journal of the American Psychological association.

The ramifications were somewhat complex. When we look into the mirror, our attitude toward what we see is body-cathexis. If we are delighted by what we see, then we score quite high on the body-cathexis scale — and if we shudder at it, we score very low.

Asked Reaction
The Emory girls were asked to give their reactions to their own height, weight, nose length, and the circumference of their busts, waists, calves, and ankles. They couldn't put down that they had felt one of the following: "Strong positive feeling, positive feeling, slight positive feeling, no feeling one way or the other, slight negative feeling, negative feeling, strong negative feeling."

All the results turned up the existence of an "ideal female figure" shared by most if not all. It showed that those girls who could, saw themselves as the ideal, more or less. It showed that those who couldn't kid themselves, had some variety of "negative feeling" about the ankles or the bust or the waist which fell short of or exceeded the ideal.

Club to Meet
Rogue chapter, Grandmother's club, will meet Monday, April 25, at 1:30 p.m. in Girls Community club. Members are asked to take articles for the Jacksonville sanitarium to the meeting. Mrs. Mammie Bloomfield and Mrs. Gertrude Miller make up the committee.

Society

Gay Nineties Revue Planned Saturday Night

Ashland—"Faint Heart Ne'er Won Fair Lady" and a lot of other things—are to be presented Saturday evening in Churchill hall, Southern Oregon College, when the Ashland Lions club and the college team up to present the "Gay Nineties Revue."

The all-student production, also billed as "The Southern Oregon Varieties," will dwell upon the Gay Nineties theme with the one-act play, "Faint Heart Ne'er Won Fair Lady," taking a leading role. Playing the part of Mrs. Hortense Slushington will be Hazel Ray. Her daughter, Nellie, is portrayed by Patsy Roberts and Nellie's suitor, Elmer Quackenbush, is depicted by Jim Womack.

Other numbers in the Gay Nineties repertoire include: Darlene Empey who does impersonations of Beatrice Kay; Dick Dickenson in a reading; Betty Tarr, dancer; Five co-eds in a Can - Can number; Virginia Beach, singer; a men's quartet; a brass instrumental group and other singers, dancers and performers. Master of ceremonies is to be Dean Reeter. Students are admitted at reduced rates.

The Lions club share of the proceeds will go into funds for scholarships, scouts, Fourth of July celebration, sight conservation work and other civic projects. The college portion of the receipts helps support a scholarship fund.

PTA Pageant Planned for Convention

"Golden Yesterdays," a pageant depicting some of the major accomplishments of the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be presented at the civic auditorium Tuesday night, April 26, as a highlight of the Golden Jubilee convention to be held in Portland April 26, 27, and 28. The pageant is the result of much research into old papers and books and many interviews with the historian committee headed by Mrs. C. D. Cummins, Portland.

Miss Dorothea Lensch, Portland, recreation chairman for the Congress and director of the Portland Bureau of Parks, will stage the pageant. The combined Mothersingers chorus composed of members of individual groups throughout the state will furnish music for the pageant. A reception for Mrs. Newton P. Leonard, Providence, R.I., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will follow. Mrs. Leonard will take part in the Oregon convention as one of her last official acts as national president, as she will retire from that office at the national convention to be held in Chicago in May.

The second day of the convention will be given over largely to consideration of a major problem facing the youth of America today. Speaking on "New Approaches to Juvenile Delinquency" Wednesday morning will be Bertram M. Beck, director special delinquency project, Children's Bureau, Wash. D.C. A panel discussion will follow with Dr. R. E. Lieualien, Monmouth, as moderator. Dr. Lieualien, tuition scholarship chairman for the Oregon Congress, has recently been named administrator in charge at the Oregon College of Education.

Interrogators will be Herbert Bisno, Eugene, assistant professor of sociology and social work at the University of Oregon; Mrs. Victor P. Morris, Eugene, a former faculty member of the Oregon College of Education for 10 years; and A. Wayne Durrell, Portland, dean of admissions, University of Portland. He also serves as juvenile protection chairman for the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Wednesday afternoon these interrogators will head section meetings on the community's, the school's, and the home's responsibility for juvenile protection.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Thursday morning the delegates will consider "Problems in Education and Their Significance to PTA" as presented by Dr. Paul B. Jacobson, Eugene, Dean of the School of Education, University of Oregon. Dr. Jacobson is former superintendent of schools in Davenport, Iowa, and co-author of numerous educational publications. The final session Thursday afternoon will feature a symposium "The Future of Education as We See It."

From its modest beginning in 1905, the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, then known as the Oregon Congress of Mothers, has made steady growth to its present membership of 118,143, a gain of 8,662 over last year. This includes 50 new units this year, making a total of 646 units in Oregon. In harmony with its objects of child welfare and adult education, the Congress from the beginning has concerned itself with promoting various programs and legislation which would accomplish these ends.

Medford Woman To Defend Title At Tournament

Mrs. Josephine Clark, holder of last year's championship for the individual duplicate bridge tournament sponsored by Medford Duplicate Bridge club, will defend her title at this year's bridge tournament. It will be held April 23 and 24 at the Medford hotel.

The Saturday evening session will open at 7:30 p.m. and the Sunday afternoon session at 1 o'clock. The sponsoring club stresses that all interested bridge players in the Rogue valley are invited.

This individual duplicate bridge tournament attracts also players from outside the valley, mainly from Sacramento, Calif., and Roseburg, Ore., it was pointed out, and many players participants every year.

Refreshments will be served after the Saturday night session, with the award of prizes to the three highest players on Sunday afternoon.

In charge of the tournament are Mesdames Al Gilhouse, Lloyd Johnson, George Choate, Nell Littrell and George Rode. Any interested player will be welcomed at the Medford hotel Saturday at 7:30 p.m., the chairman states.

To wash a deep vase or jar, add bits of wrapping paper to the warm soapy water and shake well. Ammonia in the rinse water gives an extra sparkle.

Chapter Members To Attend Session In Klamath Falls

Alpha Beta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held the last meeting at the home of Mrs. Clyde Ramsey, 130 Highland drive. Plans were made to attend the regional conference which is being held in Klamath Falls May 13 and 14. Entertainment at the meeting was provided by Girl Scout Troop 72 of Lincoln school.

Scouts participating were Sheryl Lewis, Kathleen McGuire, Donna Lilly, Yvonne Evans, Charlene Francis and Judy Bailey. Their leader is Mrs. O. A. Eden, sponsor of Alpha Beta chapter. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. J. E. Moir and Mrs. William Hartman from the Exemplar chapter in Medford. The cultural program on "Arts and Crafts" was given by Mrs. Steve Saimons and Mrs. Paul Lowery. Mrs. Al. Hayes assisted the hostess.

Grand Officers To Visit Swamp

Mrs. Don Anderson, Medford, grand gila monster of Oregon, Military Order of the Lizards, will make her official visit to Cebu Swamp at a meeting to be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, April 24, at the home of Mrs. Frank Widner, 813 East Ninth street.

Mrs. Anderson will be accompanied by several of her grand officers including Mrs. Harry Barneburg, grand chameleon; Mrs. E. Renne Grosh, grand horned toad; Mrs. Mabel Nicholson, grand dragon; Mrs. Hans Rammin, grand agama; Mrs. Sallie Coter, grand salamander; Mrs. James Cech of the grand newt patrol; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnston and Mrs. Kathryn Sweetland, grand creepers.

A potluck supper will precede the meeting. Medford members are requested to bring main dishes and Grants Pass members salads and desserts.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Collingwood, 1108 Lozier lane, have as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Burton McEwen, Vallejo, Calif. The McEwens are former Medford residents.

First-time in Southern Oregon

Forever Young

Fashion Show

SAURDAY

11:30 and 3:00

COUNTESS RENEE de SIERRAGORDA
Glamorous fashion expert, will appear with her lovely models and will narrate at both showings.

Mann's
MEDFORD

EAST SIDE MARKET

608 East Main

Phone 2-6805

Shop the Easy Way—Free Delivery

Open a Charge Account—Park FREE at Union Oil

Get the Best and Northern Stamps Too!

Open 8 a.m. till 7 p.m. — Sunday 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

FRESH CARROTS 3 Green Top Bunches 25¢

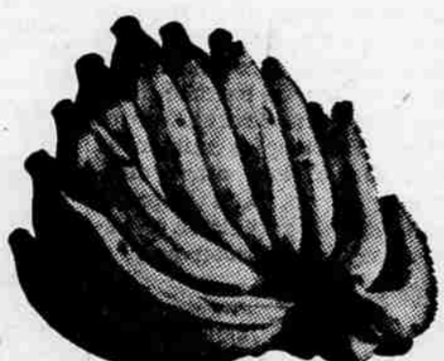

HEAD LETTUCE Large Crisp 2 FOR 19¢

Newtown APPLES 5 LB. BAG 49¢

GOLDEN RIPE TOP QUALITY HANDS

BANANAS

2 lbs. 27¢

ZUCCHINI SQUASH 2 Lbs. 19¢

FOR THE FINEST INSPECTED MEATS SEE KEN OR LEE

"U.S. CHOICE" GRADE BONELESS ROLLED

POT ROAST lb. 65¢

SWIFT'S PREMIUM FRESH PAN READY

FRYERS lb. 59¢

VEAL STEAK Shoulder Cuts Blade or Arm lb. 49¢

HAM & VEAL LOAF lb. 49¢

FRESH JUMBO CRABS lb. 33¢

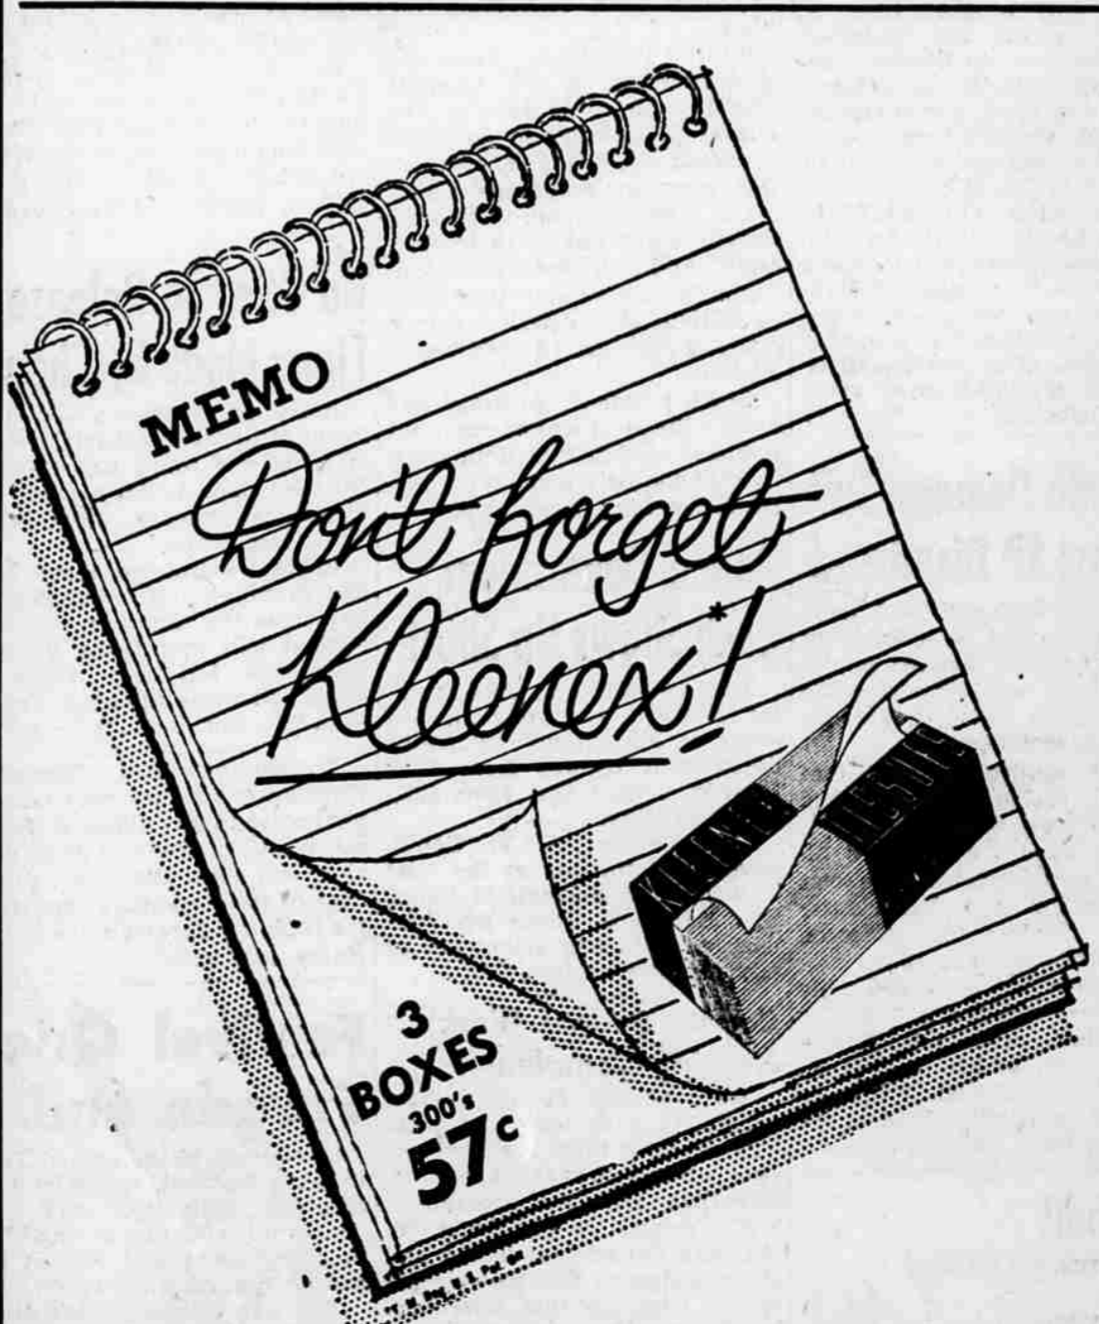

EAST SIDE MARKET OF MEDFORD OREGON
608 EAST MAIN ST. TELEPHONE 2-6805
We Give Northern Stamps

SPECIAL SAVINGS

Big Y Thrift Dept. Specials for Thursday - Friday Saturday - Sunday

FRENCH FRIED
Potato Cutter $1.99
Cuts 25 Clean Chips in one stroke. Non-rusting tinned carbon steel blades. Knife sharp blades. SPECIAL AT

3 BOXES 300's 57¢
BIG Y Thrift Dept.

PICTURE PUZZLES
304 interlocking pieces. Picture size 18x15 1/2 inches. Large assortment of pictures.
Reg. 29¢ Value 19¢

PLASTIC BOWL COVERS
Made of clear plastic. Will not stick, crack or peel. Washable, odorless.
5 Piece Set 19¢

METAL COOKY CUTTERS
For all party occasions. Box of 12 assorted cutters.
For 69¢

RUBBER DISH PANS
Made from a tough resilient rubber which will stand more heat than plastic and more impact than enamel. Colors: blue, red, green, yellow.
$1.98
7 Quart Capacity

PLASTIC Kleenex Dispenser
Handy to have in bath room or bedroom. Assorted pastel colors.
45¢ Value 19¢
While They Last