

DRIVE REBELS OUT—Smoke billows in background as armored car and troops move up Boulevard Gallieni during violent street fighting in battered Saigon. Government troops of pro-American Premier Ngo Dinh Diem destroyed headquarters of the rebel Binh Xuyen gang and drove its commandos back into a river island in a great but bloody civil war victory.

Churchill Paintings Steal Show at London Art Display

London — (U.P.) — A painting of 12 whiskey bottles, seven glasses and four cigar boxes stole the show at Britain's swankiest gallery Saturday. It was the work of Sir Winston Churchill.

Almost all of Britain's big name professional artists were represented in the Royal Academy's summer exhibition, but Churchill grabbed all the headlines with what he called a "bottle-escape."

It was one of two Churchill canvases accepted by the Royal Academy's often-contrary judges. They were relatively old paintings. The "Bottle-escape" was done in 1925. His second painting, "Sunset at Roehampton" was done in 1919.

Churchill also contributed some means to art circles. Sculptor Oscar Nemon, who is completing a statue of Churchill, disclosed the former prime minister is taking up that art too.

Nemon himself posed for Churchill while Churchill was posing for Nemon.

"A brilliant effort," Nemon said.

Russians Release U.S. Major, Wife

Berlin — (U.P.) — A U.S. Air Force major and his wife were held by the Soviets for nine hours Friday after they accidentally crossed into the Soviet zone of Germany on the Berlin Elevated Railway, the U.S. Army announced yesterday.

They were Major Edwin F. Fogarty Jr., son of E. F. Fogarty Sr., of Washington, D.C., and his wife.

They were arrested by East German border police at 11:50 a.m. and turned over to the Soviets. They were taken to Soviet headquarters in the East Berlin district of Karlshorst. They were released at 9:30 p.m.

Fogarty said the Soviets were courteous and did not interrogate him or his wife, as they often have done in the past with persons who wandered into the East.

President Extends Olive Branch to Organized Labor

Washington — (U.P.) — President Eisenhower held out an olive branch to organized labor Saturday.

He spoke at cornerstone-laying ceremonies for a new $3,500,000 Marble building, little more than a block from the White House, that will be headquarters for the AFL and CIO when they merge into one big organization this fall.

Both by his personal appearance at the ceremonies, and in the conciliatory words of his speech, Mr. Eisenhower was clearly trying to patch up the sharp political differences between labor leaders and his administration.

He quoted the words that President Woodrow Wilson used in laying the cornerstone of the old AFL building in 1916:

"If you come at me with your fist doubled up, you will find that I will double mine no less swiftly than you do yours. But if you come at me in the spirit of friendliness and negotiation, you will find that I will say, 'Come, let us sit down together and there, I assure you, we shall find that our differences are far more imaginary than real!'"

Mr. Eisenhower also used the occasion to reiterate his pledge to work untiringly for world peace.

"So far as the almighty will give to this administration and to me personally the ability to discern the proper tasks, we shall do nothing but devote our efforts to try to lead this world — this nation of ours — toward enduring peace, toward a better prosperity and equal justice for all here at home," he said.

He said that "so long as humans are human and the millennium has not arrived," there will always be strife in the world — "International, and in some degree among ourselves."

"But the character of men and the character of nations will be determined by the method in which they meet to solve their differences," he said. "If we acknowledge that the difference is honestly agreed, then let us meet in what we like to term the Christian spirit and reach an answer that is for the good of all."

Follows East German Line

This followed the line of an East German suggestion that the Traffic Ministers of the West German and Soviet Zone governments should confer on the dispute.

West German officials oppose such a meeting because Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government does not recognize the Soviet Zone government.

SMALL REWARD

Malden, Mass. — (U.P.) — Thieves pried open a window of the K. J. Quinn and Co. plant, forced an inner door, cut off the sides and top of two metal safes and chipped away two inches of concrete lining strong boxes within the safes. They worked most of the night — and got $4.

Pushkin Approves Western Demands For Road Toll Meet

Berlin — (U.P.) — Soviet High Commissioner G. M. Pushkin agreed Saturday to a western demand for a four-power high commissioners meeting on exorbitant highway tolls imposed by the Communists on trucks supplying the isolated city of Berlin.

Pushkin in a note to the Allied High Commissioners defended the tolls but agreed to the request made in a three power note April 15 for a meeting on the problem "as soon as possible."

Seis No Date

The Russian set no date in his note for the proposed meeting, but Western sources said that the Allies now probably will set a date for the talks.

The Soviet's note indicated that the talks had little chance of winning Communist agreement to abolishing the tolls.

Pushkin said the tolls were justified because East Germany spent "large sums" to repair roads used to supply Berlin.

The Russian maintained in his note that the East Germans had the right to impose such tolls and that any negotiations on the charges should be between the East and West governments.

Freedom Congress Wants UN Ousted

San Francisco, Calif. — (U.P.) — Immediate withdrawal of the United States from the United Nations and declaration of a "Day of Shame" for American lives lost in Korea was urged Saturday by the Congress of Freedom in its concluding session.

Delegates gathered from all parts of the United States roundly criticized the UN and its member agencies as totally ineffectual in promoting "the cause of liberty."

Representatives of more than 500 patriotic organizations approved this resolution, summing up a week of specialized study and lectures of the United Nations.

"We respectfully urge the Congress of the United States, the President of the United States and the people of the United States to sever all connection with the United Nations — and out this foreign, Un-American repository of political and potential might."

Demos Expect Victory For Highway Program

By UNITED PRESS

Democrats predicted Saturday the Senate will accept their substitute for President Eisenhower's highway construction program.

A Senate highway subcommittee rejected the administration plan by a 6 to 3 vote late Friday and approved one sponsored by its chairman, Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.).

Gore's measure would provide $13,200,000,000 in federal funds for highway building in the next five years with the states putting up matching funds totaling about $8,100,000,000. It also would increase the federal gasoline tax from two to three cents to help finance the program.

Administration Plan

The administration plan had called for $37,000,000,000 in federal funds to be spent on a 10-year program with state and local governments putting up $64,000,000,000. It would have been financed in part by the issuance of $20,000,000,000 in government-guaranteed bonds outside the federal debt, a feature which had been the center of opposition to the program.

Gore predicted the full public works committee will approve his legislation next Thursday and that the Senate will follow suit the following week.

Under his bill, $10,300,000,000 would be earmarked for super-highways and $11,000,000,000 for primary, urban and second roads.

Other congressional news:

Doctor Draft: Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) predicted the House Armed Services committee will approve a two-year extension of the doctor draft law despite protests by the American Medical Assn. The administration told the committee Friday the draft extension is "absolutely necessary" to assure adequate medical care for military personnel.

Conference: House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. said he expects the Formosa crisis will be discussed next Tuesday at a conference between President Eisenhower and congressional leaders of both parties. The meeting also will consider the $3,350,000,000 foreign aid bill which accents aid to free Asia nations.

Viet Nam: A senator's suggestion that the United States cut off most aid to free Viet Nam if Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is overthrown is getting serious consideration from the administration, it was reported. The suggestion was made by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.). He said Diem is the victim of an "undercover conspiracy" which has "only the Communists will gain" provoked armed revolt and that if he is ousted.
