Yamhill Man Named Outstanding Farmer

Portland — (U.P.) — Roger A. Dumdli, 34, of Yamhill, was selected today by the Oregon State Junior Chamber of Commerce as the state's outstanding young farmer.

He will be eligible now for a U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce contest designed to find the nation's four outstanding farmers between 21 and 35 years of age.

Second place winner was Bruce Nicholes, 32, of Madras and third was Lloyd Forster, 31, of Tangent.

Dumdli started his farm career at the tender age of 10 when he borrowed $12.50 from his father to purchase a milking shorthorn heifer calf.

Portland Plant Plans To Make Furniture

Portland — (U.P.) — A new concern will manufacture furniture in the big Doernbecher plant here which was shut down several months ago.

Charles F. Barker, a former vice-president of Doernbecher and head of the new Barker Furniture company, announced that limited operation will get under way about June 15.

The firm plans to produce bedroom furniture similar to that long produced by Doernbecher for marketing throughout the west, Barker said.

By July 15, the new firm hopes to have 60 persons employed or virtually all the old Doernbecher crew.
