Tasting Raw Sausage Risks Farmers' Lives

Morgantown, W. V. — (U.P.)—Specialists of the Agricultural Extension Service at West Virginia university have warned farmers that they're risking their lives when they taste raw sausage to check the amount of seasoning.
"Eating — even tasting — raw pork can cause serious illness and possible death," the specialists said.

Two Medfordites Hold Positions in Youth Legislature

Salem — (U.P.)—Youth Gov. Carroll (Tex.) McCasland of Gresham opened the eighth annual Oregon youth Legislature today with a call—sharply reminiscent of the recently concluded 1955 legislature—to "balance the budget."

In his inaugural address delivered in the House chamber before a joint session of the youth Legislature, Gov. McCasland stressed that legislature should be passed that would be feasible and practical and at the same time economically satisfactory.

Would Limit Speed
One of the measures up for consideration of the youth Legislature is one that would limit the speed on Oregon highways to a maximum of 60 miles an hour in the daytime and 55 miles an hour at night. At present maximum speeds are determined by the basic rule, which means that regardless of the speed, the driver must at all times have his car in control.

The youth Legislature is sponsored by the Oregon Youth and Government Committee of the Pacific Northwest area council of the YMCA.

Bud Titus of Baker is president of the Senate and Don Klinghammer of La Grande, temporary president. Other Senate officers are: chaplain, Herry Berg of Salem; clerk, Sarah Ann Archer of Coos Bay; reading clerk, Judith Steele of Astoria; sergeant at arms, Ken Griess of Medford.
Doug Campbell of Klamath Falls is speaker of the House. Gregg Monroe of Ashland is temporary speaker. Other house officers include: Chaplain, Sharon Bliss of Klamath Falls; clerk, Joe Ann McDonald, of La Grande; reading clerk, Carol Stanley of Baker, and sergeant at arms, Pete Larson of Albany. Reporters are: Loraine Johnson and Tom Harding of Portland. District 2—Tom Williams of Eugene and Geri Van Komen of Roseburg.
District 3—Sheila Marie Kunz of Klamath Falls and Charles Langston of Medford. District 4—Gene Gillette of Baker and Gracie Blakley of La Grande. Guested by Patterson.

Gov. Paul L. Patterson extended his personal greetings to the youth Legislature. He said: "Just as the YMCA has wielded a world-wide influence on the moral, spiritual, physical and social development of young men and boys, your youth Legislature is in a splendid position to make a worthwhile contribution to the affairs of government, whether it be community, state or national."
"Under the excellent guidance your leaders, who have given so unselfishly of their time and effort in your behalf, you will have the rich experience of seeing democracy at work in your sessions, and will be challenged, I know, by this privilege of learning firsthand some of the basic qualifications of good citizenship."

Grange

Phoenix Grange met in regular session May 10, Master Lattie presiding. It was decided to serve a lunch to the So. Ore. Experiment Station June 14.
A radio committee composed of Olive Floyd, Dee Hendrickson and Dollie Lattie were appointed and will appear May 18. Edith Poe was elected alternate delegate to the State Grange in Klamath Falls in June.
Grange voted to sponsor two 4-H scholarships to Corvallis this summer. Irvin and Ruby Patton, and Evelyn Niedermeyer were given the final degrees and are welcome members of the Phoenix Grange. The Douglas and Richard McKees from Griffin Creek were also obligated. During the initiation beautiful tableaux were shown.
H.E.C. will meet for a dessert luncheon June 14 at the home of Hattie Hendrickson with Etta Parker and Marie Jackson co-hostesses.
At the next Grange meeting the men will serve refreshments and Mark Norton will have charge of the program.
Refreshments were served by the Chapmans, Myrtle Ferns and Enid Caster.

Stockpiled Salk Vaccine Said Lost By Unforeseen Reaction

New York — (U.P.)—The New York World-Telegram and Sun said today that "an unforeseen chemical reaction involving stoppers on thousands of vials of stockpiled Salk anti-polio vaccine turned the vaccine into worthless fluid that had to be junked."

"This chemical snafu explains, at least in part, the 'disappearance' of 10 million Salk shots early this month," staff writer William Michelfelder wrote for the Scripps-Howard newspaper.
He said it would also explain the discovery between the manufacturers' original production figures and the amount of vaccine made available.

"It would also explain," he said, "why the promised 17,200,000 cubic centimeters were never delivered as promised May 1. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis found itself with 7,200,000 shots from manufacturers as of May 1, or 10 million shots short."

Michelfelder said the "missing" vaccine was actually ineffective vaccine which had been stockpiled and then destroyed by the manufacturers. He said he had learned that wholesale destruction of the worthless fluid began months ago.
"Scientists for one major manufacturer," the story said, "discovered that merthiolate, a preservative, had generated copper particles in the vaccine by its action on vial stoppers."
"The copper particles set up another reaction which weakened the immunizing qualities of the vaccine. About two months was needed to ruin the potency, the manufacturers discovered. When the situation was discovered, the supply was poured down the drain. Then new batches were made with new chemicals added."
The reporter said that a source close to a major manufacturer told him it was impossible to "rehabilitate" the stockpiled vaccine weakened by the vial stoppers.
