

Work at Two Mills Almost Double in Recent Months

Gold Hill — Operations at Stagecoach Lumber company's Gall's creek saw and planing mills have almost doubled since the company leased the mills from Fred and Otto Jeddloh recently.

O. J. Crenshaw, general manager of Gold Hill operations for the Grants Pass company, said the company plans to load between four and five railroad box cars a day, starting later this week when new loading platforms on the Southern Pacific tracks are put into use. Only two box cars are loaded daily now.

Work on the platforms is underway. The platforms are to facilitate loading with a lumber loader.

Crenshaw said the company is operating both saw mills in Gall's creek, and a night shift has started on the gang saw mill. A night shift also has been put on the planing mill, Crenshaw said. Formerly only one saw mill and the planing mill were being operated.

The operation, Crenshaw said, is primarily the same as the one run by the Jeddloh brothers except on an increased basis.

The company manufactures West Coast Lumber products. Building Under Way

Meanwhile, construction of an industrial type building is underway at the Jeddloh Brothers Swood Mills company, where gang saws for lumber industry will be manufactured. Production is expected to start in about 40 days.

The building framework on a concrete slab is complete, and roofing and siding probably will be started later this week.

The business is expected to expand to a quarter million dollar industry with employment commensurate to its growth.

CAUGHT IN WAR'S FURY—With the screech of bullets and the bursting of bombs in their ears, a mother and child run down the tree-lined Boulevard Gallieni in Saigon, scene of some of the heaviest fighting in Indo-China's civil war. In center background, a mother and two of her children disregard the danger as they stop to gather up their belongings, dropped in their hasty flight. In the first day's fighting, when the regular Viet Name Army suddenly attacked the rebel forces of the powerful Binh Xuyen, an estimated 600 were wounded and more than 100 killed, many of them civilians.

Vancouver Council Approves Pinballs

Vancouver, Wash. — (U.P.) — Pinball amusement devices received the blessing of the Vancouver city council last night in a surprise 6 to 1 vote in favor of licensing the machines for parks and recreation revenue.

Pinballs are legal in Washington if they are used for amusement only. The Vancouver council rejected a proposal to raise $40,000 for parks and recreation through an expanded business and occupation tax. It was uncertain how much money the pinball licenses would raise.

Two more hearings must be held on the pinball ordinance before it becomes effective.

Salem — (U.P.) — The State Highway commission said today it would open bids on 40 projects totaling an estimated $3,200,000 at its next regular meeting in Portland May 25 and 26.

Grace Kelly Denies Plans for Wedding

Paris — (U.P.) — Movie Star Grace Kelly insists she has no plans to wed, but ducked questions as to whether handsome French actor Jean Pierre Aumont had asked her to marry him.

"This is a private matter between us and I do not want to say anything about it," she said.

Rogue River Boosters Club Adopts Charter

Rogue River — The Rogue River Boosters club adopted a constitution and by-laws at a recent meeting. No regular meetings are scheduled, but President Frank C. Stamm was authorized to call them when he deems it necessary.

About 20 members attended. The group voted not to collect annual dues from members but to depend on donations to finance club projects.

Neuberger Denounces Hoover Commission

Washington — (U.P.) — Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore.) yesterday denounced Hoover commission recommendations for abolition of the postal savings system and increases in parcel post rates.

Neuberger said "many men and women in Oregon are totally reliant upon parcel post for delivery of the necessities of life." The Portland Democrat said postal savings "is the only banking system available to families far from commercial banks."

QUAKE REPORTED
Manila, P.I. — (U.P.) — A moderate earthquake shook two provinces in southern Luzon Monday, causing slight damage to private property. The weather bureau said the center of the 15-second rumbling was about 150 miles southeast of Manila.

Racial Segregation Decision Expected Before Adjournment

Washington — (U.P.) — Chief Justice Earl Warren indicated today that the Supreme Court will issue an order before it recesses for the summer on how states should carry out its ruling abolishing school segregation.

"As has been the practice for many years, action in all argued cases is expected to be announced prior to adjournment," Warren said in a speech prepared for delivery before the 32nd annual meeting of the American Law Institute.

The court heard arguments last month on how its historic, year-old decision should be carried out. The justices will decide how and when the states should finally lower the racial bars in public schools.

Possible Precedent Breaking
There had been a possibility the court might break with precedent and delay its ruling until next fall because of the importance of the decree and the vast sociological and legal problems involved.

But Mr. Warren's statement apparently means the court intends to hand down its order within a few weeks. The high tribunal is now scheduled to recess May 31, but the date may be postponed for several weeks if the justices find they cannot meet the deadline.

Most of the Chief Justice's address was devoted to the problems of the nation's federal courts. He said that they are understaffed, overloaded with cases and hampered by "inadequate facilities, outmoded practices."

The backlog of business is "becoming a nationwide problem," Mr. Warren said, "particularly in the metropolitan areas" such as the Southern District of New York where 10,735 civil cases are awaiting action.

'Grossly Underpaid'
He also warned that the number of federal probation officers is "far too low" and that they are "grossly underpaid." He said the probation system is one of the best ways of combating the spread of juvenile delinquency and expressed hope that Congress would boost appropriations for the service.

The Chief Justice said "one of the conspicuous defects" in federal court procedure is the lack of any provision for paying lawyers appointed by the court to defend penniless persons accused of crime. He proposed that federal courts be empowered by Congress to either pay such attorneys or to appoint a full-time, salaried public defender with assistants and office personnel.
