Henry J. Kaiser Plans Lavish Resort To Lure More Tourists To Hawaii Isles

Honolulu, T.H.—(AP)—Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser, who came to Hawaii for a vacation 15 months ago and is still here, wants to spend $110,000,000 on a resort development to lure more tourists to the islands.

The tourists are eager to come, he believes. What Hawaii needs is a place to put them.

The territory also needs more tourist business to take up the slack in her economy, where government activities and the sugar and pineapple industries leave off.

Kaiser's answer is a $20,000,000 project to create an 18-acre eyeshore area on Waikiki Beach into the biggest single resort ever developed in the islands. There would also be a $50,000,000 resort on a man-made island off Waikiki, and a $40,000,000 development on the Kona coast of the island of Hawaii, 200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

"The vacation business is a new industry in a new era," the 73-year-old former shipbuilder said in an interview. "People are getting twice as much vacation time as they used to. Right there you have a 100 per cent increase in the vacation industry."

Kaiser said Hawaii is the most likely spot to draw tourists because it is the only truly year-round resort area accessible to most Americans.

"There's a need for more vacation facilities—a human need. I've always found you could be successful wherever you could find a human need and make an effort to fill it," he said.

Kaiser and his wife came to Hawaii in February, 1954, for a visit. They soon succumbed to the lure of the islands and bought a beach home in the luxurious Kahala district for $187,000.

Since then Kaiser and a team of experts have been knee deep in plans for the resort development. One phase is expected to be a fabulous hotel similar to Miami's new Fontainebleau.

The Hawaii development doesn't mean Kaiser is pulling out of any of the other big deals he is involved in, such as a $40,000,000 project to build autos for Argentina and a $56,000,000 contract to bore a 13-mile tunnel through solid rock and then build a dam in Australia.

But the tourist enterprise has a special interest for the man who is most famous for his shipbuilding exploits in World War II.

decided Florida never would develop a tourist business and passed up a chance to be in on the ground floor there. Then I went on to figure that Palm Springs and Las Vegas were desert sand traps and always would be.

Items of Interest To Jackson County Slated at Meeting

Two items of particular interest to Jackson county are scheduled to come up at the next meeting of the highway commission, to be held in Portland May 25 and 26.

Members of the highway committee of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, as well as chambers in Grants Pass, Klamath Falls and other southern Oregon communities, will appear before the commission to seek approval of the long-projected all-weather highway between Medford and Klamath Falls by way of Lake creek and Lake O' Woods.

Unified Support
The project has unified support among Oregon chambers, and is high on the list of priorities assigned to highway projects in this area. The route would eliminate the curves of the Greensprings highway, and would provide a fast, direct and all-weather route between the two cities.

The commission also will receive bids for construction of a culvert and two bridges on Valley View rd.

One double 12 by 6 foot reinforced concrete culvert to carry Wagner creek, and a 224-foot reinforced concrete bridge across Bear creek, are located near Talent. The other 204-foot reinforced bridge over Bear creek is near Ashland junction.

The structures replace obsolete and depreciated timber bridges. They are scheduled for completion by Oct. 31.
