Gold Hill—Installation of officers was held at the last meeting of Gold Hill Parent-Teacher association. Taking office were Mrs. Ralph Hixson, president; Fred Lester, vice-president; Mrs. Floyd Taylor, secretary and Mrs. Ida Von Buskirk, treasurer.

Mrs. Ethel Mays conducted the ceremony.

Charles Cook, music instructor, led the school band in a group of numbers. Carol Meyer and Joyce Dye played a clarinet duet and the mixed chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite Black, sang several numbers. Mrs. Grace Brownlee was accompanist.

Mrs. Fred Lester, retiring president, thanked all the committees for their cooperation during the past year. Mrs. Hixson reported on the recent convention of Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers held in Portland. She stated that the convention was the golden jubilee of the organization and told some of the accomplishments of the group since organization.

Robert Sage, principal, announced the PTA had budgeted money for the cafeteria milk bill, but since the lunch room had no deficit, the money was used instead for the purchase of a salad maker for the cafeteria and two record players to be used in the school rooms.

Mrs. Lester announced that another "coffee" is planned to raise more funds before school ends. Time will be announced. It was announced that no date had been set for pre-school clinic and that no visitation day will be held this year for children entering the first grade next year.

School will officially end June 3. There will be no school Memorial day, May 30, but classes will be held Tuesday, May 31 and Wednesday, June 1, which will be the last day of school.

Eighth grade promotion exercises will be held in the school gymnasium Wednesday, June 1 at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Mrs. William Greene, who has been conducting Bible classes at the Assembly of God church, invited parents to attend the last meeting.

Mrs. Norman Gail thanked Mr. Sage on behalf of the organization for his work the past six years as principal of the Gold Hill Grade school and wished him well at his new position as principal of Washington school in Medford.

Room count was won by the sixth grade.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Melford Hood, Mrs. Floyd Taylor and Mrs. Thomas White, eighth grade room mothers.

Twenty-one horseback riders participated in an annual Elk-Trail school spring roundup May 6. Shown above are four of the riders as they prepared to leave for the trip at 8 a.m. from the school yard, and below the group is shown as they stopped for a rest period. Students who made the trip were from the third through the eighth grades and three were high school students. They were accompanied by a parent, two teachers, and Lee Meriman, principal, who was organizer and guide for one group. They lunched on a ridge at the base of Buck rock and returned to Trail by way of Rail gap. They returned to the school at 3 p.m. On Friday evening the riders brought their horses to the school yard for the night when seventh and eighth grade students sponsored a weiner roast and movie.

College Student Gives Paper at Science Meeting

South Hadley, Mass.—Among the participants in the Connecticut Valley Student Scientific conference was Miss Frances Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Cooper, Camp White. The conference, held at Amherst college recently was attended by representatives of many New England colleges and universities who read papers covering almost all the sciences.

Miss Cooper, a sophomore at Mount Holyoke college, did her paper on "Bright Spots on the Moon". She used slides in giving her description of the bright spots and their history and cause.

The purpose of this yearly conference is to stimulate scientific interest among college students, while at the same time providing each college the opportunity to improve its sciences by learning what other colleges are going in the field of science.

Specialist Advises How to Wash Clothes

Madison, Wis. — (U.P.)—A University of Wisconsin home management specialist suggests that housewives follow a "recipe" when they do the family wash.

Katherine Bailey said a regular program on wash days will result in cleaner clothes and a saving of time and money.

Start with soft water. Both hot and cold water must be soft if the clothes are to be thoroughly rinsed. Mrs. Bailey suggested using a powdered softener before adding the soap, in case you don't have a mechanical softener.

Then she suggested adding ¼ cup of soap or synthetic detergent to the washer. The washer should be run for a few minutes. If it doesn't churn up about two inches of suds, you don't have enough soap.

But she warned against too much soap. A surplus "cushions" the clothes and keeps them from getting clean.

Roast beef can be kept safely in the refrigerator for several days, if the beef is separated from broth and gravy, according to experts. Frankfurters and Bologna keep longer unsliced.

Home Economist Gives Technique For Doing Dishes

Carbondale, Ill. — (U.P.) — No wonder those dishpan hands

A home economist at Southern Illinois University estimates that on the basis of an eight-hour work day the average housewife spends 6½ years of her life washing dishes.

In an effort to lessen this "sentence" Mrs. Agnes Ridley has worked out these time-savers.

Clear the table by stacking dishes on a tray in groups to be taken to the right side of the sink, rinsed and placed in washing order. Silverware is placed in a glass of warm water to remove food particles.

The SIU home economist approves of the double sink with a left side deep enough for dishes placed in a rack to be immersed completely or to hold a pan or hot water for the same purpose.

"Dishes left sitting for a while in hot water have fewer bacteria than those rinsed with poured, sprayed or running hot water," she said.

Mrs. Ridley has refined the dishwashing art right down to the duties of each hand.

For example: First to be washed are the glasses transferred to the wash water with both hands. The left holds the last glass carried over and the right starts the washing brush going with a circular motion.

The silver is taken from the glass of hot water, held in the left hand and washed with the brush. As the next group of dishes are placed in the washing water with the right hand, the left puts the cleaned ones into the rinse water.
