

1955 Arts, Crafts Hobby Fair Today At Domiciliary

Camp White — The Domiciliary's 1955 Arts and Crafts Hobby Fair is being held in the theater today, with a number of new features.

Demonstration of the work done by domiciliary members engaged in the various classes of creative activity will be shown in leather and copper work, weaving, gems and novelties.

There will be 60 to 75 exhibits in the various handicrafts and hobbies with from 35 to 40 separate entrants listed, Bud Ash, special services coordinator, announced.

The show, sponsored each year by the VA Voluntary Services advisory committee, was scheduled to be held last month but had to be postponed due to an influenza quarantine.

The doors will open at 10:30 a.m. and the Fair will continue all day until 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served and the VA canteen service coffee shop will be open during the day.

Public Invited

Manager Eugene K. Ricker has extended a general invitation to the public to visit Camp White at this time and examine the unique assortment of items made by the handicapped and disabled veterans living at the Home.

In addition, a number of items made by the personnel will be shown. A special room for exhibitors who are offering their work for sale to the public has been provided.

Prizes will be awarded the winners in 10 classes of hobbies. The judges will be Don McGovern, Eagle Point High; Vern Voss, Medford Junior High, and O. J. Wilder, Southern Oregon college.

Clifford Howard, Elks representative, is general chairman of the Hobby Fair. In addition to the special services staff assisting in the program, committees in charge include those handling publicity, refreshments, reception, and decorations.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

SWEET delight; O more than human bliss. With her to live that ever loving is! How blessed is he that may so live and die So loved, so blessed in my beloved am I.

There is an excess of grim airwave dramas dealing with people with "problems." The star of this kind of playlet is usually one of those soap opera Bernhardt's who hams it all over the set. Therefore, it is refreshing to have an opportunity to view some well acted playlets packing plenty of laughs, and including an occasional tear, such as offered by the Damon Runyon Theater. I can hardly wait from one week to another to see these highly amusing pieces.

Down Under

Australians are the world's greatest meat eaters. You can travel thousands of miles in Australia and never find a vegetarian. The Australian life expectancy is 65 years. This is one year more than that the residents of the United States. So don't let any vegetarian make you believe an enthusiasm for steak and roast beef will shorten your life.

Please Note

The major league home run situation is ridiculous. While the moronic type of fan screams in childish delight when a ball is hit into the stands, an intelligent sports enthusiast can only find it depressing. This is especially true in New York. At the Polo Grounds, it is only 258 feet from the home plate to the right field stands. To the left field stands is only 22 feet farther. At the Yankee Stadium it is 296 feet to the right field, 301 to the left. And the ball is getting livelier every year.

Asking

Queries from clients. Q. Where do you say the orange originated? A. The orange originated in China and was introduced into Spain by the Portuguese. The Spaniards introduced the orange to this country in Florida . . . Q. Did the ringman known as "Knockout" Brown ever meet the battler called "One Round" Hogan? If so, what happened? A. The men you mention met once. Hogan did not dispose of Brown in one round. Brown didn't knock out Hogan. The fight, a no-decision bout, went ten rounds.

Barbers

Passing a tonsorial parlor I noticed a barber sitting down while giving a client a haircut. Not a bad idea. Why don't all barbers sit down while working? Be better for their health. Besides they wouldn't be so weary when they arrived at home at night and could take their wives out dancing a couple of times a week.

Horses & Women

Note Jane Russell, the tall, buxom cinema celebrity referred to as a "Venus." Jane has a nice figure, but she is definitely no Venus. The same can be said of many other women who are said to have "Venus" figures. History tells us the measurements of the young woman who posed for the statue of Venus were as follows: Height, 5 feet 4; bust, 34 3/4; waist, 28 1/2; and hips, 36.

Musicians

More people are being entertained by music than ever before in this country's history. Nevertheless, of the approximately 249,000 professional musicians in the United States, only 74,000 have full time jobs! The major cause of the alarming unemployment situation among musicians is said to be the juke box.

Plan Remote Illinois River Fishing Lodge

Construction is expected to get under way in mid-June on a $60,000 hunting and fishing lodge and property in the Illinois river area by the Associated Development corporation of Eagle Point.

Signers of the incorporation papers are O. R. McNeel, an inspector at the Medford city building inspection offices, his wife, Mrs. Mildred M. McNeel, and George W. Plumb. The property will be accessible only by airplane.

Mainly share holders in the company are from this area though the stock is not entirely sold.

The project, to be known as "Whirlaway Lodge," will accommodate 16 persons, and options include about 300 acres of land.

The McNeels have lived in Oregon since about 1948 and came here from Los Angeles. He has been at the Medford office for about four years.

Work Injuries To Juveniles Shows Decline

Salem — (U.P.) — Work injuries to children under 18 in industrial employment were almost one-third less in the first quarter of 1955 in Oregon than for the first quarter a year ago, according to State Labor Commissioner Norman O. Nilsen.

Employment of the minors for the same period estimated to represent a four per cent increase. The severity of occupational accidents to minors was found to be at a low point and no disabling injuries were reported. Bureau of Labor investigations showed 25 per cent of the teenagers suffering injuries in the course of their employment were hired illegally without approval of the labor bureau. About one-third of the jobs in which teen-agers were working illegally are classed as hazardous under child labor laws.

"Study of the factors affecting minors' accidents in legal employment shows that many of the accidents could have been prevented through training of young employees in the safe use of edged tools," Nilsen said.

Hand injuries accounted for about half of the industrial accidents to minors in the first quarter. Back strain was next, followed by bruised feet and

Three Mine Claims Filed in County

Three notices of location of quartz mining claims were filed with the Jackson county recorder's office yesterday. One listed cinabar, one mentioned gold and the other did not specify the minerals.

John Walch, John Walch Jr., and L. A. Walch filed the claim for the Blue Ridge Cinabar mine on the west branch of Soda creek in the Little Butte Mining district. They listed also "other valuable minerals."

Gold and other precious minerals were specified for the Radiant Queen claim on the headquarters of Murphy's creek in the Evans Valley Mining district. Signing the location notice were Margaret M. Hoffman, Charles S. Hoffman, Don Johnston, Jewell Johnston and Vern Ward. Address given was Mineral Frontiers, Brookings, Ore.

Helen Shoemaker and Everett E. Denny filed notice for the Ceader mine in the Foothills Mining district. Her address was listed as PO Box 465, Gold Hill.

The records indicated that boys on the job were eight times more liable to accident than girls.

Jellyfish are not so helpless as is generally thought. They seem to have a rudimentary ability to band together. Almost always in the Chesapeake bay they swim in groups, often only a few individuals but at times many hundreds.
