

Will Leaves $200,000 To Shriners Hospital

Portland —(U.P.)— More than $200,000 was given to the Shriners hospital for crippled children here yesterday in the will of Mrs. Louise Zan, daughter of pioneer lumberman Johan Poulson.

The bequest was one of the largest individual gifts in the history of the hospital.

Hospital board member Tommy Luke said the gift would help the board's efforts to establish a six million dollar endowment so that the hospital would be independent of finances from the national Shrine board. Some $2,500,000 has already been collected for the 80-bed hospital.

Portland Weather Bureau Reorganized

Portland —(U.P.)— The Portland weather bureau was reorganized today in a move that reduced personnel and also expanded public services.

The 70-year-old bureau lost its name in the process, however. All the operating functions of the bureau will be moved to Portland International airport and combined with the aviation weather service under the title of "Weather Bureau Air Station."

Electronic equipment already at the airport will perform most of the measuring and recording functions automatically, according to Col. Eckley S. Ellison, meteorologist in charge.

The move will enable the weather bureau to provide more complete service 24 hours a day. Col. Ellison said, instead of only eight hours a day.

In addition, a daily "radioactive fallout" report will be prepared for the guidance of civil defense officials.

Portland Man Dies In Crash of Plane

Oceanlake, Ore. —(U.P.)— Robert Anthony Butler, 40, president of Butler's Tire and Battery Company in Portland, was killed yesterday afternoon when his light plane crashed into the side of Cascade Head during a fog.

Butler was alone on a flight to North Bend. Two McMinnville fishermen, Charles Merkle and Frank Lane, said they saw the plane circle two or three times as they fished at the mouth of the Salmon river. Then they saw it fly off toward Cascade Head and a few moments later they heard the sound of a crash.

Butler was thrown from the plane and apparently killed instantly, state police said. His body was taken to Newport.

LOG ACCIDENT FATAL

Eugene —(U.P.)— Herschel Jordan, 28, Eugene, was killed yesterday when struck by logs which rolled off a truck east of here.

About One in Eight Americans Drinking Fluoridated Water; Controversy Rages

New York —(U.P.)— About one out of eight Americans is drinking water containing a tiny amount of fluorene, a substance which the American Dental Association says will work wonders in cutting down tooth decay.

Whether more of us will get a dose of this invisible, tasteless chemical with every glass of water is one of the hottest issues to stir up a tempest in American town halls and city council chambers since the end of World War II.

It is as much a controversy in Ukiah, Calif. (pop. 8600 as in) New York City (pop. 8,000,000). Both of these cities are balking at proposals to have their water supplies fluoridated.

Philadelphians drink fluoridated water. Chicagoans do not. Citizens of Palo Alto, Calif., voted to fluoridate their water while on the same day at Sunnyvale, eight miles away, citizens voted not to.

A Tulsa, Okla., dispute over fluoridation got clear to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The charges against fluoridation range from "Socialism" through medical recklessness to invasion of the constitutional right of freedom of worship. Opponents warn that the health of the nation will be jeopardized by consumption of a chemical better known as an ingredient of rat poison.

These charges are summarily pooh-poohed by the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association and the American Public Health Association, which cite any number of examples to show that fluorine, in the right amount, helps cut tooth decay and has no harmful effect on the human body.

The most recent ammunition on behalf of fluoridation comes from the 10-year "Newburgh Experiment" in New York. The water supply for the 30,000 inhabitants of Newburgh, N.Y., was treated with one part fluorine to one million parts water from 1942 to 1952.

Results Released

At the same time, the nearby city of Kingston, N.Y., was used as a "control." No fluorine was added to its water.

The New York State Health Department just released results of the 10-year test showing that by 1953, children at Newburgh had 60 per cent fewer decayed permanent teeth than children at Kingston. At the same time, the general level of health in both cities remained the same.

Statistics like this are used by public health associations in local campaigns to have more and more water supplies fluoridated. The American Dental Association reported this week that 1071 U.S. communities are now fluoridating their water. They have a total population of 20,597,747.

resenting 3,570,000 persons have enough fluorene naturally present in their water to provide tooth protection.

Philadelphia and San Francisco are the largest cities fluoridating their water. Chicago's city council has approved fluoridation, but carrying out the plan has been stalled while the "anti" forces try to bring about a referendum of the question.

New York City's health department recommended fluoridation last summer and a bill to carry it out was introduced in the city council. But the bill has been pigeonholed in committee, and Mayor Robert F. Wagner has asked the health department to give the idea some more study.

Case Rejected

Ten taxpayers at Tulsa, Okla., went to court charging that a plan to fluoridate Tulsa's water supply was an "unwarranted exercise of police power" and violated the First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of religion. Their case, lost in Oklahoma courts, was rejected by the U.S. Supreme Court early this year.

LEST WE FORGET...

On Memorial Day how better can we honor those who gave "the last full measure of devotion" than to place patriotism above self interest and pause in our commercial activities to rededicate ourselves to the cause for which they gave their lives.

Let us not be so indifferent as to hold the love of personal gain above love of country.

Let us pause and rededicate ourselves to the cause for which these men died — to keep America free — a symbol to the world of the blessings of democracy.

Let's make this our tribute to those we honor on Memorial Day.
