Teacher Named To State Office In Voters' Group

Mrs. Justin Smith, Medford teacher, long active in local and state League of Women Voters work, was elected Tuesday as a director of the state group. Mrs. Smith is a past president of the Medford league, and has served on state committees in the past.

The election was held during a biennial convention of the league at Eugene. Mrs. Ronald Campbell, Corvallis is the president. Her message at the convention included the statement that "present problems are capable of solution, given sufficient effort and good will."

More than 100 delegates attended.

Business decided upon at the session included the decision that the members would continue for the next two years its state-wide program to study and implement "measures to revise and strengthen the constitution of Oregon." Other general areas of work on which the league has concentrated in the past and agreed to work if necessary in the future included protection and improvement of state civil service; the public education system, legislative apportionment, civil rights, meat inspection and opposition to negative loyalty clubs.

Three new provisional leagues at Coos Bay, Oswego and Milwaukie were welcomed into the organization and a newly formed league at Beaverton was recognized.

In addition to Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Campbell, the state officers are Mrs. K. E. Montgomery, Eugene, first vice-president; Mrs. Robert Wiener, Portland, second vice-president; Mrs. F. H. J. Dickmann, Corvallis, secretary; Mrs. R. W. Weiss, Portland, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Ford, Eugene, Mrs. A. O. Mueller, Salem, Mrs. W. W. McGuire, Portland, Mrs. Wesley S. Shaner, Astoria, Mrs. D. W. Richardson, Salem, all directors, and Mrs. Peter DeWitt, Portland, nominating chairman.

Grange

Gold Hill Grange

At their next meeting Thursday evening, June 2, Gold Hill Grange will have a rather heavy program.

At 8 o'clock, there will be a number of the Juvenile Grange, then there will be musical numbers by Mrs. Bruce's piano pupils.

The scrapbook on the "History of Jackson County," on which the Juveniles have been working for many weeks, will be on display. This book will be taken to the State Grange session in Klamath Falls to be entered in a state wide contest.

There will also be a lecturer's program, at the usual time, prepared by lecturer, Icie Walker.

The evening will be in the nature of a farewell party honoring Mr. and Mrs. John Stieber, who are leaving shortly, to make their home in Colorado. The Stiebers have served the Grange long and faithfully and will be missed greatly by their many friends, who wish them continued happiness in their new home.

Serving at this meeting, will be Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Martin, Mr. and Mrs. John Novak and Mrs. Myrtle Reel.

Potpourri

The society editor saved out a bit of real news for Potpourri this week—the new president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is a graduate of Medford High school. PTA's top-ranking officer for the coming term is Mrs. Rollin Brown, Los Angeles, who when she lived in Medford was Ethel Guthrie.

As a girl Mrs. Brown made her home here with her aunt, Mrs. Rose Schieffelin, and with Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Daniels. She was a classmate of Mrs. William Isaacs and of Mrs. Richard D. Werner, as well as several other persons well known in the valley now.

Mrs. Brown, who has been a PTA worker for 30 years, defeated Harry Reynolds of Winona, Minn., by a vote of 1102 to 188 during the election. He was the first man ever nominated for the office. Mrs. Brown had been nominated in advance for the office, and her opponent was a last-minute candidate nominated from the floor of the convention, held in Chicago. Mrs. Brown has been serving the congress as vice-president.

The new national president represented the congress at the 10th Pan-American Child Welfare conference held just prior to the convention and also recently attended President Eisenhower's committee meeting to plan the 1955 White House conference on education, in which there is widespread interest.

Mrs. Daniels, who often receives letters from Mrs. Brown, had a note and a sheaf of clippings from Los Angeles papers last week. Because she knew friends here would be interested, and that some would fail to recognize Ethel Guthrie as Mrs. Rollin Brown, she called The Tribune. After graduating from high school here, she said, Ethel had gone to Los Angeles Normal school and later married Rollin Brown, who has been on the staff of one of the movie companies for many years.

The Browns lost both their son and their son-in-law during World War II, and have a daughter.

One Los Angeles writer described the new PTA head as a "slim graying woman" and recalled that she has been active in many civic groups in that big city and in 1953 was "Los Angeles Woman of the Year."

Some say that Mrs. Brown looks a lot like Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of the Department of Health, Welfare and Education for this nation. As is to be expected, she is ready and willing to discuss child welfare and school problems and had this to say in an LA interview: "Getting qualified teachers—that's the main problem. It's even more important than getting enough classrooms, although, goodness knows, that's important too. But unless you have a well-qualified teacher in every classroom, all the building is a waste of money. Besides salary increases, teachers must be given a hand in policy so they feel they are contributing to progress."

Mrs. Daniels is hopeful that Mrs. Brown will stop in Medford some time soon to spend a few hours or days with her old friends and relatives.

The Moore Hamiltons were surprised last Sunday to read in "Washington Dateline" that their son, Alex, had been to a party. Lillian Porter Say, the Oregon Journal's Washington correspondent, was writing about the party which the Women's National Press club gave for President and Mrs. Eisenhower, and added that "no one had more fun at the president's party than Alex Hamilton."

A former OSC student, Alex received an appointment to work at the capitol from Senator Morse, and is enjoying his stay enormously. Alex, not much given to letter writing, did remember not long ago to write of the minor excitement caused by what was thought to be a threat to Vice-President Nixon. The young man, running an elevator that day, decided at one point that business was certainly dull—no one going or coming, when a group of stern-faced men showed up and hustled one of their number out. Later he learned that his part of the building had been temporarily blocked off by police while they laid a trap for the suspect.

Mrs. E. B. Hanley gave Potpourri a most enjoyable afternoon last Sunday, showing us her beautiful garden and telling lively anecdotes of her interesting life. Some of these stories she said she'd rather not have in print, but did tell us one about James Roosevelt which she thought was so good it should be repeated.

Congressman James Roosevelt, a college friend of her son, E. B. Hanley Jr., learned not long ago that there was a rumor going around about him—he was supposed to be buying up lots and lots of land thought to have uranium ore. The Republicans who repeated the rumor about Democratic James R. were mortified to find out, so the story goes, that it's brother John Roosevelt, a Republican Roosevelt, who is interested in uranium.—O.S.

American GIs Seek To Wed Austrian Girls

Vienna, Austria — (U.P.) — Applications from American GIs to marry Austrian girls have jumped about 100 per cent since the Army slapped a mid-June deadline for such requests on its troops in Austria, officials here and in Salzburg have reported today.

All four-power occupation troops are due to leave Austria after ratification of the Austrian state treaty. The Army warned soldiers this week there might not be time to process marriage applications received after June 15.

Contest of Choir Ends with Picnic

Members of the choir of First Presbyterian church and their families held a picnic last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rafe Enders, Table Rock estates on Rogue river.

The picnic terminated a contest which the choir members had conducted, with the losing side giving a chicken dinner, picnic style, for the winners.

Swimming and other outdoor games were enjoyed. About 40 attended.
