Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Readers should address inquiries to:
Dr. William Brady
263 El Camino, Beverly Hills, Calif.

A doctor tells me my body does not assimilate the calcium in the tablets I have taken with great satisfaction for two years. He claims it gets into the blood stream more readily when he gives it in "shots." . . . (Mrs. E. B. H.)

Ben Told by a doctor that a person past middle age should not take too much calcium, as it is likely to cause kidney stones . . . (A. V. W.)

How much is "too much," I wonder? This is a simple variation on the hokum some physicians solemnly handed the customers 15 or 20 years ago—that "too much" vitamin D might cause the arteries, liver, lights, etc. cetera to harden, or some thing. They never told how much vitamin D was "too much."

I was at one time badly crippled with arthritis (writes Mrs. D. B.). Following your suggestion I began supplementing my diet with calcium and D three years ago. Now I am 73, seem to be entirely free of joint trouble, and I'm living an active, normal, happy life. But wait, Doctor, there's no bowling today. You've got to stay where you are and hear the rest of my sad story.

(The lady is right. There's no bowling today. Believe it or not, it rained gently, steadily all last night and this morning—a $10,000,000 rain—so pray—continue, Ma'am.)

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Correspondent

Editor's note: Aline Mosby is on vacation. For today's guest column, actor Kirk Douglas writes about his Hollywood memories.

By KIRK DOUGLAS
Written for the United Press
Hollywood — (U.P.)—I see by the calendar that I have been in Hollywood for ten years. Well, that's a nice round number and I don't aim to dispute it. But statistics are cold and a man remembers events, not numbers.

I remember the day in 1945 that I stepped off the train in Los Angeles Union Station, an actor out of a modestly successful Broadway play, another young hopeful in town for a screen test.

I remember the agency sent a third assistant sub-agent to meet me. He now runs a popular New York restaurant and I wish I had 10 per cent of him.

Remembers Roles
I remember my elation when "Champion" was a hit and the satisfaction of seeing my name in lights. I remember fine roles in fine movies.

Now that I have started my own company, Bryna Productions, and supervised the million details that went into the making of my first film, "The Indian Fighter," I think often of those carefree, uncomplicated days when I was only an actor.

But my most cherished memory, the biggest thrill of my career, took place in 60 minutes one March night in 1950.

I had been nominated for an Academy Award for my performance in "Champion." On my way to the awards, I thought of—and discarded—a hundred different acceptance speeches. I settled on one.

For Ma

I would tell everyone that this was the realization of a dream. My mother, when she lived in Russia, believed that the streets of America were paved with gold. Naturally, I would continue, she found that was not true—but she also found something better than gold in the streets: A chance to raise her children in freedom, a chance for her children to pursue their personal dreams.

The golden statuette proved, I was going to conclude, that her dream had been a good dream—maybe the streets weren't golden, but the opportunities were.

Well, sir, it was the best speech I never made, because a wonderful guy named Brokerick Crawford won the award. I confess I felt cheated—but only because I had wanted to pay special recognition to my mother, a remarkable woman.

That's why I took her name, Bryna, for my new company. I want to be certain, this time, that she receives her reward.

Klamath Forest Plans Wilderness Addition

Yreka — Some 560 acres of wilderness land will be added to Klamath National forest according to present plans.

The forest administration plans to obtain the area, in the Marble Mountain Wilderness area, from Raymond H. and Opal M. Taylor, Ashland, Ore., in exchange for some 150 acres of land located elsewhere.

The primitive area has approximately 250,000 acres, of which about 2,000 are privately owned. The government has been acquiring the privately held lands whenever possible. The primitive area was formed by a regulation of the department of agriculture, and is to be kept as nearly as possible in its original state.

Measles Lead Disease Cases Noted in County

Thirty-eight cases of measles, 23 of them in Ashland, led the list of 77 cases of communicable disease reported to the county health department last week.

Influenza cases were next most frequent with 22, of which 12 were in Medford.

One case of encephalitis, occurring after a case of the mumps, was reported, but involved a non-resident of the county. Other cases listed by the department included German measles; 3; chickenpox, 4; and strep throat, mumps, Vincent's angina and conjunctivitis, 1 each.

Rita Hayworth Sued By Columbia Studios

Hollywood — (U.P.)—Columbia Studios has brought suit against actress Rita Hayworth for collection of a $17,844 promissory note which the actress signed last Dec. 28.

The suit was filed May 9, but was sealed until the studio's attorneys could attach Miss Hayworth's stock in Beckworth Corp., her independent film production company. The suit said the note promised payment by May 1 but gave no indication what the loan was for.

Dead line Sunday Classified is at noon Saturday; 10 a.m. Monday for Monday; other days 8:30 previous day.

Holdup Man Given Nine Years in Prison

Portland — (U.P.)—Andrew Taylor, 38, was sentenced to nine years in the state penitentiary yesterday by Circuit Judge Eugene K. Oppenheimer for the holdup of a Safeway store here Feb. 2.

Taylor still faces charges of assault with intent to kill for putting a bullet through the overcoat of Police Chief Jim Purcell in a gun battle following the robbery.

Taylor's accomplice, 25-year-old Franklin C. Blenkner Jr., of Los Angeles was recently sentenced to six years for his part in the holdup.

Now various acquaintances tell me that —

1. Calcium and D is very bad for anyone to take for any length of time.

2. It is very bad for anyone's mind.

3. It will cause me to lose my hair.

4. It will cause infections.

5. It is very bad for the kidneys.

6. It causes hardening of the arteries.

Of course, the lady continues, I'd be the last to realize it if my mind was affected, but as for my hair, I have a heavy head of hair 30 inches long, brunet, with only a few gray hairs as yet . . . (Mrs. D. B.)

Characteristically, the lady doesn't know precisely what preparation of calcium and vitamin D she used to supplement her diet, whether she still uses anything for the purpose or relies on high calcium diet alone to maintain optimal health.

Another correspondent says her husband had been using calcium and D for about two years, with apparently fine results (characteristically she does not say what her husband's trouble is or was) but one day the doctor, attending another member of the family, saw the vial, advised the man to throw them away unless he wanted to get arthritis. (Mrs. S. H.)

Le'me see, now. Have we covered all the imagined hazards?

Well, no, there's still calcium deposits — but that's the subject of a piece to follow.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Diathermy Was Effective

In 1942, upon your recommendation, I received diathermy treatment for infected tonsils. I have never been bothered since. The treatments gave me little discomfort. Wouldn't mind having them again if necessary. At our house what you say goes . . . (E. G.)

Answer—Goes where—into the scrap basket? Thank you for your report. It is only rarely that anyone troubles to send such a report when he doesn't want anything. In my opinion diathermy (electro-coagulation) treatment is the method of choice for infected tonsils, provided you can find a doctor who is skilled in the difficult technique. Few tonsil snatchers have sufficient skill.
