Milk Price War at Prineville Ended

Prineville — (U.P.) — A three-day milk war subsided as quickly as it started yesterday when independent operators and two dairies of the Central Oregon Milk Producers Pool agreed to "prewar" prices for milk.

The pact provided that Bickers' dairy here will continue to sell only raw milk. Sunrise and Clauson dairies will boost their slashed raw milk from 60 to 80 cents a gallon, the same as Beckers' now receives.

The agreement is effective today and is intended to step the spread of price cutting which for a time threatened to spread to other central Oregon towns.

Kenneth Green, manager of the central Oregon pool, said that reports that his organization had met to slash milk prices to meet independent cuts were false.
