Hack, Hacker Revitalize Cubs; Brooklyn Grabs 22nd at Home

By CARL LUNDQUIST United Press Sports Writer Hack and Hacker sounds like a strange partnership between a bad journalist and a bad golfer, but it could well be the key to the big success yarn of the 1955 baseball season.

Together, Manager Stan Hack and his veteran knuckleball pitcher, Warren Hacker, have revitalized the Chicago Cubs and there's something more than a similarity of names involved. Hack picked up the remnants of his seventh place 1954 Cubs and concentrated on building a strong pitching staff. Hacker who had won only six games while losing 13 in the previous season, looked like strictly a liability, but his comeback has been typical of the entire club.

"What I like best about Hacker is that he can both start and relieve," said Hack. "One day this season he relieved in a game late and started the next day." Last Saturday Hacker gained a 12-inning relief victory over the Giants, two days after being knocked out as a starter. Tuesday night as a starter he was kayoed again but gained his sixth victory, 4-3, when the Cubs scored all their runs in the sixth to defeat the Pirates. The Cubs improved their second place position with the triumph which was achieved when they struck five singles and utilized an error for their rally. Dee Fondy drove in the last two runs with a key hit.

Brooklyn won its 22nd game at home against only five defeats, 4-0 from Cincinnati on a five-hitter by Johnny Podres, Milwaukee took over second place from the Giants with a 13-4 victory that included home runs by Hank Aaron and Bobby Thomson in a six-run second inning, and St. Louis edged Philadelphia 5-4, Stan Musial driving in three runs with a triple, double and safe bunt. Owner Arnold Johnson of the Athletics who presented new suits of clothes to his players when they swept a double header in Detroit recently, must have felt like countering with lawsuits Tuesday night when they dropped a pair before the home folks, 3-2 and 7-3, to the wobbly Washington Senators.

In other American League games, the Red Sox spoiled Herb Score's 22nd birthday party by defeating the Indians, 9-5 and knocking out the rookie phenom with a three run blast in the first inning while the Tigers topped the Yankees in 12 innings, 4-3, at Detroit on Fred Hatfield's homer. The Chicago-Baltimore game was rained out.

Frank Kellert, the fill-in first baseman set the pace for Brooklyn with three hits while Podres chipped in with two in winning his sixth game.

Musial was the whole show at Philadelphia, even managing to get thrown out twice at home plate. Del Ennis and Jim Greengrass hit Philly homers.

Johnny Antonelli again ran into trouble, suffering his seventh defeat and equalling his entire loss total of 1934 at the Polo Grounds.

George Suter Jr., 23-year-old of Kansas City, pitched one-hit relief ball from the first until he tired in the ninth, to give Boston its triumph at Cleveland and the "old man" an item to cheer about despite the double loss of the Athletics.

Hatfield's homer gave Ned Garver his first victory over the Yankees since Aug. 31, 1949, but it was well-earned, an eight-hitter in which he walked only one man in 12 innings.

Kansas City, leading 2-0 in the opener, dropped it when Bob Kline doubled home two runs and another scored on Bill Wilson's three-base muffed off a fly to center. Ed Fitzgerald homered for Washington and Gus Zernial for K.C. in the nightcap in which Mickey McDermott yielded 13 hits but won.

Warren Deakins and Tom Hamlin, both Medford, were a stroke behind Sabine yesterday with 78. They had fired 80s along with Sabine and Dick Shephard Medford, on Monday. SABINE, HAMLIN GAIN JUNIOR LINKS LAURELS

Wayne Sabine, Redding, Calif., shot a five over par 77 yesterday to gain top overall laurels in the two-day medal play Southern Oregon Junior Golf tournament at Rogue Valley Country club.

He added the 77 to an 80 on Monday for a 36-hole card of 157 to capture the junior boys division prize. Sabine thereby kept the honors in his home town. Gary Laustalot, Redding, took the honors last year but was too old to come back for a title defense.

INQUIRY ENDS IN JOHNSON BOXING PROBE

Philadelphia — (U.P.) — The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission awaited briefs and arguments from six respondents today after its inquiry into the Harold Simpson-Julio Mederos bout closed Tuesday night with one commissioner taking the witness stand after he was accused of "prejudgment."

The three-man commission instructed attorneys for the respondents to file briefs on June 21 and informed them oral arguments would be heard on June 24. The board then will study all testimony in the case, which is summed nine days over a four-week period, before reaching its findings.

Commissioner Alfred Klein stepped out of his role as investigator and took the witness chair after Thomas Burke, counsel for one of the respondents, sought his disqualification from the case.

"I have received information that he has prejudged the guilt or innocence of certain of the accused," said Burke, attorney for Tommy Loughrey, manager of Johnson.

Klein was asked by Burke whether he had "a prejudgment as to any of the respondents."

"No," the commissioner replied firmly, despite an objection to the question by commission counsel Herbert Levin.

Burke claimed Klein was the "No. 1 man in charge" for the commission when Johnson collapsed at the end of the second round of his match with Mederos on May 6. A commission doctor testified the boxer was drugged.

"If it is shown that there was a deficiency in the enforcement of the boxing rules, he should not sit in judgment of the respondents," Burke contended.

The two remaining commission members, James H. Crowley chairman and Paul Sullivan, rejected the motion, however. They added they had no objection to Klein's appearance as a witness.

"The commission is just as well interpreted as anyone else in hearing all the facts," Sullivan said.

Erautt Helps Pads Fatten Margin Over Seattle Suds; Loop All-Star Club Chosen

By PETER HAYES United Press Sports Writer

The Pacific Coast League all-star team that plays San Diego next Monday won't include the hottest pitcher in the league, Eddie Erautt.

The 30-year-old San Diego right-hander's 9-2 record is one of the key reasons why the Padres won the honor of playing host to the annual all-star game by leading the league on Memorial Day.

Erautt helped the Pads fatten their first place lead to seven games last night by turning back the second place Seattle Rainiers, 4-1, in the opener of their important series in San Diego.

Erautt was helped at the plate by Julio Becquer who drove in three of San Diego's four runs with two singles and a sacrifice fly. Erautt and his pitching rival, Ewell Blackwell (1-2), acquired from San Francisco last week, gave up seven hits each.

The San Diego ace yielded a homer to Bill Glynn in the sixth inning, the first run off him in 17 innings, and then held the Rainiers hitless the last three innings.

Other Games In other games, Hollywood squeezed past Los Angeles, 2-1, and valuted from seventh to fifth place; Oakland handed San Francisco its fifth straight defeat, 5-3, and Sacramento snapped a four-game losing streak by downing Portland, 6-4.

Sacramento won it at home with a five-run outburst in the seventh inning to break a 1-1 tie and give Bud Dudley his ninth win after five setbacks. Richie Myers, who earlier had homered, singled in two runs for the key blow of the big inning.

All-Stars Named Meanwhile, the PCL Baseball Writers Association announced the all-star team that will oppose the Padres Monday. It will be piloted by Lefty O'Doul, manager at Oakland, with Tommy Heath, San Francisco manager, tabbed for coaching duties and Chet Johnson of Sacramento, playing coach.

Voting for several of the positions resulted in ties, but all players who tied will make the trip.

The team includes first baseman Steve Bilko of Los Angeles, Jim Marshall of Oakland and Bob DiPietro of San Francisco; second baseman Gene Mauch of Los Angeles; third baseman Don Eggert of Portland and shortstop Richie Myers of Sacramento.

Outfielders will be Dick Whitman of Portland and Bobby Del Greco and Lee Walls of Hollywood.

Behind the plate will be Ray Orteig of Seattle and reserve catchers Len Neal of Oakland and Joe Ginsberg of Seattle.

Pitchers include Gene Bearden of San Francisco, Turk Lown of Los Angeles, Red Munger of Hollywood, Larry Jansen of Seattle and Daley and John Briggs of Sacramento. Piper Davis of Los Angeles and Mike Baxes of San Francisco will be utility infielders.

White Sox Get Jim Busby Back

Chicago — (U.P.) — General Manager Frank C. Lane of Chicago White Sox corrected his "biggest mistake" when he traded three players to the Washington Senators to repossess centerfielder Jim Busby.

"I've always said that was the worst trade I ever made," Lane said today describing the May 13, 1952, shift in which he gave up Busby and infielder Mel Hoderlein to get outfielder Sam Mele from the Senators.

"I didn't want to trade him," he added, "but we wanted to get Mele."

Lane gave up three recent acquisitions in order to get Busby this time — catcher Clint Courtney and pitcher Bob Chekales, obtained during the winter from Baltimore, and outfielder Johnny Groth, acquired from Baltimore before the 1954 season.

KELLY, SCHERPF MAY HURL IN TILT TONIGHT

Either Jim Kelly from Santa Clara university or Marv Scherpf from Linfield college is to be on the mound for the Medford nine tonight when the Cheney Studs play host to the Yreka, Calif., Indians in a non-league semi-pro baseball scrap at the fairgrounds park.

Manager Clarence Melbye said he planned to call Derald Wooton to the hill but Wooton was struck on the ankle by a batted ball in practice last night. The painful injury was expected to keep him sidelined this evening.

If Scherpf gets the bid it will be his last pitching duty for the Studs before a two-week absence. He is a National Guardsman and will leave next week end for summer training.

Same Line-up The Studs' line-up in the infield is slated to be the same as usual with Jack Cooney at first base, Ritchie Price at second, Ed McCullough at third and Melbye at shortstop. Howard Morris will be in the catcher's position. Outfielders will be chosen from among John Niles, Larry Bigham, Bill McLean, Fred Luper and Harvey Tonn.

Lon Skinner Cops Water Skiing Meet

Lon Skinner, Medford, added to his list of aqua honors over the week end by winning first place overall in the water ski meet held last Saturday and Sunday at Soda Bay, Clear Lake, Calif.

Two other Medfordites picked up prizes. Attorney Bob Dickey was first overall in the novice division and Bill Wall was first in men's jumping.

Skinner was best in the trick riding event, fourth in the slalom, and fifth in the jumping with 65 feet his longest leap.

Wall goes 75 Feet The novice division was new this year and was for men who had not skied previously in a tournament. Entries in the division skied along with the experienced men but were rated separately.

Wall, showing excellent form, went 75 feet in his longest jump. He was sixth in the slalom but did not enter trick riding.

The tourney reportedly was the first such event of the season in California. It was sponsored by Golden Gate Water Ski club, San Francisco. Scoring was 500 points for first in an event, 300 for second 200 for third, 150 for fourth, 80 for fifth and 60 for sixth.
