Strawberry Meringue Cake

Divine For Parties
Another party item. Here we start with a baker's 13-ounce sponge cake; quickly wind up with a divine party cake. Beat two eggs white until stiff but not dry. Blend in one eighth teaspoon salt, one half cup granulated sugar and one teaspoon lemon juice gradually. Continue beating until meringue stands in rounded peaks. Fold in one and one half cups washed and sliced strawberries. Spread meringue over top and sides of sponge cake with a spatula.

Small Baked Alaska

At the bakeshop you find those Mary Ann (or fruit cake or shortcake) individual shells. Baked Alaska like this is easy to make exciting to serve. Cream is masked with meringue and quickly oven-browned.

For six servings, beat four egg whites with one fourth teaspoon salt to a soft foam. Gradually blend in one fourth cup confectioners' sugar (sifted). Add one fourth teaspoon vanilla extract. Continue beating until meringue stands in rounded peaks. Divide one pint any flavor ice cream into six portions. Place a portion of ice cream in center of each cake shell. Cover entirely (this is important because otherwise ice cream will melt). Place on a cookie sheet and brown quickly in hot oven, 450 degrees for about five minutes. Serve immediately. Or make in advance and keep frozen until ready to brown in oven and serve.

Other Party Tricks

Bread Sticks. These can be made in a variety of flavors by cutting bread slices into strips, brushing them with melted fat and rolling in grated Parmesan cheese. . . in celery, sesame or poppy seeds. . . or in mixture of cinnamon and sugar and toasting them in a moderate oven for ten minutes. Serve as appetizer or with salads or soups.

Donut Sandwich. Split donuts wide and serve with chocolate pudding between the halves or put a ball of peppermint ice cream in donut hole and top with hot fudge sauce.

Day old doughnuts can be cut in half, spread with fruit jelly and topped with walnuts, then heated in a slow oven for five minutes. Sprinkle confectioners' sugar over top, if you like.

Half-Toast. This means toasting on one side only and spread on the untoasted side. Much better flavor is obtained and the canapes are easier both to bite and to cut than when toasted on both sides.

Meat Loaf Variety

Meat loaf appears often on many family tables. That's why we've gathered this collection of ideas to help give your meat loaf new interest, new flavor, new "style."

First of all, don't get in the bread or cracker crumb rut. Substitute corn or wheat flakes, uncooked quick oatmeal or cooked rice. For added flavor and juiciness, use some ground pork or bulk sausage with the ground beef. Vegetables such as peas, corn, diced carrots and beets are good surprise additions.

Give your meat loaf new styling by shaping it round, square, oblong, in ring mold or make into individual loaves or unusual shape (not hamburger rounds) and cut baking time in half. Serve meat loaf with a new barbecue sauce or mushroom sauce or with a fruit glaze.

Veal Cutlet Delight

A real delicacy for a special occasion. Instead of pounding flour into the veal, pound grated dry cheese, either Parmesan or Romano into the meat. Then pan fry slowly until lightly browned in a little hot fat. Season with onion or garlic salt and pepper; cook over low heat about 15 minutes, turning once or twice. Serve with hot tomato sauce spiked with Worcestershire. Or combine tomato sauce and sour cream as distinctive sauce.

Pork Chops and Corn In Fine Casserole

The casserole is king in many kitchens. Here pork chops are baked atop a tasty scalloped corn mixture. Four servings. Two batches if you're serving more than four.

Trim some of fat from edges of four end-cut pork chops. Rub chops with mixture of salt, pepper and paprika. Brown in a little hot fat. In a medium saucepan, cook one fourth cup finely chopped onion in two teaspoons butter or margarine, until soft. Blend in three tablespoons flour and gradually add one cup milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add two teaspoons Worcestershire, one teaspoon dry mustard, two teaspoons sugar, one fourth cup cracker crumbs one half teaspoon salt and one No. 303 can two cups whole kernel corn. Pour into a greased one and one half quart casserole. Place chops on top, cover and bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 minutes.

Lettuces, Dairy Products

Head Many Shopping Lists
Crisp tender heads of California iceberg lettuce are plentiful, a big value for the making of many a fine salad. California accounts for about two thirds of the nation's total lettuce production. Late season is causing the famed firm-head iceberg to compete with other type lettuce referred to as loose-heads. Buyers will note that broken, ragged, bruised or wilted outer leaves of the iceberg type usually do not affect quality of the head; can be quickly trimmed.

Other vegetable plentiful include carrots, celery, cauliflower, yellow onions, Italian and white summer squash. The colorful purple eggplant is increasing in supply along with corn-on-the-cob and green beans. New potatoes make good eating and so radishes and green onions. If you've asparagus or rhubarb freezing or canning in mind, better grab them fast.

Dairy Products. This is the month of super abundance of dairy products. Enjoy cottage cheese more often both as a vegetable (eaten plain) or in salad combinations. For lunch, try cottage cheese with strawberry jam. Put a pitcher of milk on the table and let the children help themselves. Chances are that they'll drink more without coaxing.

Fruit Buys. California strawberries are at their seasonal best with crop harvesting areas moving northward right along. If you're any preserving or freezing, talk situation over with your favorite fruit man. Bargains are unlikely since commercial freezers are taking all the strawberries they can get.

Citrus Fruits and Juices. Healthful, plentiful and reasonable in price. Volume shipments of Valencia oranges are under way
