American Soldiers Due To Leave Austria Rush To Adopt Babies

Salzburg, Austria—(U.P.)—The scheduled withdrawal of U.S. occupation troops from Austria has brought about a deluge of requests from childless American Army couples here for adoption of illegitimate Austrian babies, welfare officials said today.

Mrs. M. F. Schantl, head of the Salzburg welfare office, said the clamor to adopt children to take back to the United States was unprecedented.

"Adoptions have averaged two or three babies a week in recent years," Mrs. Schantl said. "This morning there were 20 applications on my desk—all from Americans."

To Leave Austria
The American occupation forces are due to leave Austria 90 days after the Austrian state treaty is ratified by the Big Four powers and Austria. They probably will pull out around October.

Many of the illegitimate children were fathered by American soldiers. A number of the unwed mothers are registered prostitutes, Mrs. Schantl said.

"The American couples who come to us for adoptions often display little interest in the background of the real parents," she said. "Just so the child is healthy and good looking. One mother told me she wanted a baby even if its father was a Russian."

One American wife has applied for permission to adopt three Austrian babies, including one not yet born.

Most Applicants Alike
"Most of the applicants are alike in one respect," Mrs. Schantl said. "They do not want to be introduced to the child's real mother, or even to see her."

Each adoption application must be approved by an Austrian court and written consent must be obtained from the real mother.

When American Army couples are involved, the Army must also approve the adoption and the U.S. State Department must issue a visa for the baby.

In addition to the adoption requests, the U.S. Army reports a big boom in requests by soldiers for permission to wed Austrian sweethearts. The Army has placed a June 16 deadline on marriage applications.

Red China Expels American Bishop

Hong Kong—(U.P.)—The Chinese Communists today expelled American Catholic Bishop Frederick A. Donaghy on charges of subversive activities.

The middle-aged American bishop from Fall River, Mass., crossed into Hong Kong at 1:30 p.m., boarded a train for Kowloon and arrived at 4 p.m.

A crowd of priests and nuns greeted him as he stepped off the train and one by one knelt and kissed the bishop's ring.

Donaghy looked tired, but he appeared in good condition, generally.

The bishop asked newsmen to wait for a day or two before interviewing him.

He did say, however, that three days ago the Chinese summoned him and told him he was guilty of subversive activities and was to be expelled. He was brought to the Hong Kong border under guard.

Bishop Donaghy was first arrested at Wuchow in Kwangsi Province on Christmas Day, 1950, and was jailed for six months. When he was released from prison he was restricted to the city limits. He had been in Wuchow ever since.

Leader Says Lack Of War With U.S. Deletes Question

Djakarta, Indonesia—(U.P.)—Communist China is not willing to negotiate a Formosa "cease fire" agreement with the United States, Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was quoted as saying in the Indonesian press today.

"Since there is no war between China and the United States the question of a cease fire does not arise," Chou said. "Still less can it be used as a prerequisite for the negotiation."

Chou made his statement in an interview on June 2 when he talked to newsmen who accompanied Indonesian Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo on his recent trip to Peiping.

Familiar Assertions
The interview was published today both in Indonesia and Red China. Peiping's New China news agency also broadcast the interview. It contained the familiar Communist propaganda assertions.

Chou was asked if China would accept a cease fire in Formosa in order to speed negotiations for Formosa between the Peiping regime and the United States.

"Taiwan (Formosa) is China's territory," Chou said. "The liberation of Taiwan by the Chinese people is a question of China's internal affairs. The occupation of Taiwan by the United States has created tension in the Taiwan area. That is an international question between China and the United States. These two questions should not be confused one with the other."

"In line with its consistent stand for peaceful settlement of international disputes, China has on its part clearly indicated that the Chinese government is willing to sit down and negotiate with the U.S. government in order to ease and eliminate tension in the Taiwan area."

Welcomes Good Offices
"China welcomes the rendering of good offices by countries which are concerned about the situation in this area, especially those countries friendly to China to facilitate the realization of this negotiation."

This was an obvious reference to the recent efforts by India to bring the United States and Red China together for a peaceful solution to the Formosa question.

Chou emphasized that the Formosa question was "purely a matter of internal affairs" for China. He warned that if "there should be participation and intervention by foreign armed forces, international conflict would result—and that is precisely what we have always opposed."

Cool Air Starts Rout of Blazing Heat Wave in West Coast States

By UNITED PRESS
Relief from the Pacific Ocean and Canada started to rout a blazing heat wave in the Far West today.

The cool air swept in on Pacific Northwest cities where the temperature topped 100 yesterday. Temperatures also skidded in parts of the Southwest, but it was still 100 shortly before midnight at Needles, Calif.

Seattle Streets Buckle
The 100 degrees at Seattle tied the city's all-time heat record, set in July, 1941. There were more than 30 reports in the city of streets buckling from the heat, making them impassable to traffic.

The heat meanwhile expanded the Lake Washington Ship Canal bridge to within a quarter inch of the point where it could not have been opened for passing ships. Cold water was sprinkled on it in an attempt to make it shrink.

Other Pacific Northwest highs yesterday included 101 at Puyallup, Wash., and 100 at The Dalles, Ore., and Kent, Wash. Needles had a high of 118 and the 100s were common yesterday over the interior valleys of California and Southern Arizona and parts of Nevada, New Mexico and Texas.

Texas Mercury Slips
Temperatures slipped as much as 17 degrees later in Texas, however, while it was downright chilly in other parts of the nation. The mercury dropped into the 30s along the Middle Atlantic and New England coasts and Leadville, Colo., had a below-freezing 30.

In the deep south, meanwhile, a voracious forest fire threatened the small town of Fulton, Ga., at the edge of storied Okefenokee Swamp. The blaze had destroyed 30,000 acres of rich timberland and fire fighters feared that quickening winds would send it roaring through Fulton itself.

Washington—(U.P.)—Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. William O. Douglas today took off on the first lap of a three months' vacation that will eventually take the world traveling Douglas behind the Iron Curtain.

Their crowded schedule, beginning with a pack trip in Oregon's Cascade mountains, will give Douglas' bride of six months her first taste of what has become a "normal" summer holiday for the itchy-footed justice.

Douglas finally got a visa from the Russians for a trip through six Soviet republics in Asia. It came despite a "spy" charge they threw at him when he climbed an Iranian mountain-top on a 1950 trip.

His attractive wife won't accompany him on the trip behind the Soviet border. She's leading that to Robert F. Kennedy, counsel of the Senate's Government Operations committee.
