

DODGER'S SPREAD 11 1/2 GAMES RIVAL PILOTS FEEL FUTILE

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

A majority of National League managers already have conceded the pennant to Brooklyn but the ones who are being doggone stubborn about it—like Leo Durocher and Charlie Grimm—must be getting that futile feeling today in the face of the Dodgers' rapidly swelling 11 1/2 game lead.

Birdie Tebbets of Cincinnati is one of the many pilots who feel the Dodgers will win this year and he saw nothing to change his mind Tuesday night as Brooklyn hammered four of his hurlers for 14 hits in a 9-0 victory.

Launching their second western invasion in fine style, the rip-roaring Dodgers exploded for six runs in the second inning while southpaw Johnny Podres handcuffed the Redlegs on seven hits for his seventh triumph.

Duke Snider, who insists he'd rather hit in Crosley field than Ebbets field, capped the big six-run rally with his 20th home run that drove in two team-mates ahead of him.

Dodgers Gain Full Game

The Dodgers gained a full game on the second-place Cubs who ran afoul of both Gail Harris and Ruben Gomez in a 5-0 setback at the hands of the Giants. Harris, the rookie first baseman recently recalled from Minneapolis of the American Association, drove in three runs with his fourth homer in five games and a sacrifice fly while Gomez scattered eight hits for his third victory.

Milwaukee, still clinging to a faint hope, like the Giants, licked Philadelphia, 4-2, but remained 15 games behind the pace-setting Dodgers.

Eddie Mathews' 14th homer on the heels of a single by winning pitcher Lew Burdette proved the clincher in the eighth inning for the Braves. Loser Robin Roberts also was tagged for a two-run homer by rookie Chuck Tanner in the fourth while Granny Hamner homered for Philadelphia.

The Pirates trampled the Cardinals, 10-5, despite a pair of homers by Wally Moon. An eight-run rally in the fourth inning sewed up the game for the Pirates. Big Dale Long, who hit his fifth homer in the second inning, highlighted the fourth frame with a double and a single that accounted for three runs.

Ronnie Kline notched his fourth victory although he needed Bob Purkey's help when he loaded the bases with none out in the seventh.

The Yankees remained 2 1/2 games ahead of the American League field with a 7-6 triumph over the Tigers in 10 innings. Mickey Mantle's single with two out in the 10th scored Joe Collins with the winning run but most of the dramatics were crammed into the ninth when a pair of errors helped the Yankees score three runs to tie the score.

Tigers Blow Lead

Ned Garver had a 6-3 lead going into the ninth and didn't seem troubled even when Irv Noren hit his second homer of the game to cut the margin to 6-4. First baseman Ferris Fain then let Mantle's grounder go through him for a two-base error but Al Aber, who relieved Garver, retired the next two batters and was only one out away from victory.

Aber, however, then threw Andy Carey's little dribbler into right field, Mantle scoring from third and Carey completing the circuit on the four-base error. George Zuverink came on in the 10th and was the loser while Tom Morgan gained credit for the victory.

Saul Rogovin walked Sherm Lollar with the bases full to force in the only run of the game in the eighth inning and give the White Sox a 1-0 decision over the Orioles. Screwballer Jack Harshman gained the victory although Sandy Consuegra came to his rescue in the ninth. The victory kept the White Sox a half-game ahead of the third-place Indians, who swept a twin-night twin-bill from the Senators.

Dale Mitchell's pinch single in the 11th inning gave the Tribe a 6-4 victory in the opener after Ralph Kiner's ninth inning pinch homer tied the score at 4-all. Rookie Herb Score pitched a two-hitter in the nightcap and was rewarded with a 3-1 victory, his seventh, although he gave up 11 walks. The Indians snapped a 1-all tie in the fourth inning of the nightcap, going ahead for good on Vic Wertz' double and George Strickland's single. Mickey McDermott was the loser.

The Red Sox poured across eight runs in the third inning to rout the Athletics, 12-4, with Norm Zauchin, Jim Piersall and Ted Williams each homering for Boston. Frank Sullivan was the winner.

Wimbledon Net Draw Being Conducted Today

London—(U.P.)—The draw for next week's Wimbledon tennis championships, in which Americans Tony Trabert and Doris Hart have been top-seeded in singles, was scheduled today at the All-England Tennis club.

Since it determines how easy or difficult a path each player must travel toward the finals, experts regarded today's draw as possibly the all-important factor.

Congo Cops Open Stake

Congo, labrador male, owned and handled by Dick Morgan, was open all-age winner Sunday in a picnic trial held by Rogue Valley Retrievers club at Hoover lakes.

King, a labrador male, owned by Easter, Klamath Falls, and handled by Morgan, won the qualifying stake and Meg, labrador female owned and handled by William McAllister, was victor in the derby. Puppy honors went to Lucinda, labrador female, owned and handled by Otto Spores.

The trial was the third in a series this season in competition for trophies to be awarded to local dogs owner by club members living in the Rogue river valley. Other dogs may run but do not qualify in trophy rivalry. Next trial is set for June 26 and at least one more will be held.

Judges Sunday were Earl Warren and Tom Rickard, puppies; C. Weldon Kline and Kenneth G. Denman, derby and qualifying, and C. Lee Skaggs and Charles Miller, open. There were seven dogs in the derby, nine in the qualifying event and 11 in the open. Eight puppies were entered.

RESULTS:
Puppies—1. Lucinda, labrador female owned and handled by Otto Spores. 2. Dina, labrador female owned and handled by George Dukek. 3. Joe, golden male owned and handled by Mrs. Paul Skinner. 4. Danny, labrador male owned and handled by C. Weldon Kline.

Derby—1. Meg, female, owned and handled by William McAllister. 2. Rip, male, owned and handled by Gene Hunt. 3. Rocky, male, owned and handled by Lee Skaggs.

Qualifying—1. King, male, owned by Mr. Easter of Klamath Falls and handled by Dick Morgan. 2. Belle, female, owned and handled by Kenneth G. Denman. 3. Bracken, Hi Flyer, male, owned and handled by George Dukek. Fossil, 4. Belle, female, owned and handled by Earl Wescott. C.M. to Jade, female, owned and handled by Tom Rickard.

All labradors.

Carr To Enroll At Washington

Tacoma—(U.P.)—Luther Carr, Lincoln high school's sought-after three-sport sensation, said today he would enroll at the University of Washington.

The 18-year-old athlete announced his decision after admittedly "considering" just about every other college and university on the Pacific Coast.

Michigan has a resort income of $400,000,000 a year.

Job in Majors Sought by Stanky

Fairhope, Ala.—(U.P.)—Eddie Stanky, the deposed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today he's open to all offers—but they have to be in the major leagues.

"I've had several minor league offers," the 37-year-old Stanky said, "but I want a major league job. I know I could do some club a good job as a coach or in some other capacity."

The 37-year-old Stanky, who was succeeded at the Cardinal helm by Harry Walker, May 28, stated his position after turning down a job as scout in the Cardinals' organization.

Major Deals Not Likely By Deadline

Big league bigwigs sat hopefully by the telephone today, but there appeared to be little chance that any major player deals would be made before the trading deadline strikes at midnight tonight.

The Yankees would like Detroit General Manager Muddy Ruel to ring that telephone bell and say "okay" on a deal for pitcher Ned Garver; the Indians were hoping the Orioles would part with Gene Woodling and Billy Cox; and the Giants still were looking for a catcher.

But the odds were that none of these things would come to pass.

The runaway Brooklyn Dodgers, who seem to need help less than anybody, were the only ones to pick up a new player as the deadline approached. They obtained reserve outfielder Bob Borkowski from Cincinnati, but that was merely the completion of last week's deal that sent pitcher Joe Black to the Redlegs.

Giants Want Burgess

The Giants still may have a chance to land catcher Smokey Burgess from Cincinnati, for the Redlegs admit they're in a trading mood.

The Giants really are hurting behind the plate because first-string catcher Wes Westrum isn't hitting, and second-stringer Ray Katt isn't fielding or hitting. If Manager Leo Durocher is desperate enough, New York may decide to meet the reportedly stiff price Cincinnati is asking for Burgess.

But otherwise, things looked quiet on the baseball market as the clock hands moved toward midnight. From here in, they'll have to go with what they have, plus any help they can find on the farms.
