No Red Objection To Big 4 Plans

Union Leaders Seek Settlement Bids by U.S. Steel Rivals

Bethlehem, Republic Reply to Demands

Pittsburgh — (U.P.) — The CIO United Steelworkers, promised a still unspecified wage increase by U. S. Steel Corp., today sought competing bids for a speedy contract settlement from "Big Steel's" two biggest industry rivals.

Bethlehem and Republic Steel corporations, second and third ranking producers, returned after a nearly two-week bargaining recess to hand USW President David J. McDonald their reply to demands for a "substantial" pay boost.

U. S. Steel told the 1,200,000 member union Monday it will be ready Thursday or Friday to tell exactly how much it is willing to pay to satisfy USW contract demands ahead of the June 30 strike deadline for 600,000 steelworkers in the industry.

That will complete the lineup of the "Big Six" producers group, which employs two-thirds of the basic steelworkers involved in the industry-wide negotiations. Their contract settlements will set the pattern for smaller firms, whose contract wage provisions also run out in nine days.

McDonald expected the Steel industry's initial offers at least to match the 7½-cent-an-hour wage increment in the CIO United Auto Workers guaranteed annual wage settlements with Ford and General Motors.

John A. Stephens, U. S. Steel vice-president, opened the crucial second round of wage negotiations by stating his company would offer its employees an increase based on "consideration of their loyalty, cooperation, and increased productivity."

Washington — (U.P.)—Administration officials said today that Health Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby is backing the Public Health Service "to the limit" in its handling of the polio vaccine problem.

They insisted she was being technical rather than being critical Monday night when she told newsmen the service must bear the responsibility for operation of the government's vaccine safety program.

The statement, made during a radio interview, was interpreted by some as an implied effort to shift criticism of the government's vaccine policies from Mrs. Hobby to Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele.

Mrs. Hobby explained later that her remarks "should not be interpreted in any way as criticism of the surgeon general or the Public Health Service."

Salk anti-polio shots will be given at Lincoln and Jackson schools tomorrow for first and second graders who received their first shots the week of May 23.

Shots will be given at the cafeteria in Lincoln school, and in the Jackson school gymnasium between 9 and 10 a.m.

The second series of shots will be completed Thursday at Washington and Roosevelt school and at Phoenix for Talent and Phoenix children.

Pendleton — (U.P.) — Ralph Robertson, Portland, was named yesterday to be new president of the Oregon State Pharmaceutical association. He succeeds Orville Corbett, Burns.

Portland — (U.P.) — The new law grants the President's request for authority to lower tariffs 5 per cent a year for three years to expand world trade.

But it includes provisions which will make it easier than at any time since the 21-year program was launched for American industries to press demands on the President for higher tariffs to protect them from injury.

President Eisenhower did not recommend these provisions. But the White House raised no objection when the Senate wrote them into the administration bill after it passed the House.

Some Democrats protested that the President had yielded to "protectionists."

Police knew the names of the five but refused to give additional details while the chase was on. They would say only that three of the men were New Yorkers, that one man was from Manchester, England, and a 37-year-old Canadian woman was involved.

County Assessed Valuation Estimated at $80,000,000

The total assessed valuation in Jackson county has risen from about $61,000,000 last year to about $80,000,000 this year, according to County Assessor Robert G. Fowler said yesterday.

He estimated the current valuation during a talk at the weekly roundtable session of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon. Fowler said detailed figures on assessed valuation will not be ready until some time next week.

Not until the total budget of the county is applied to the assessed valuation can the millage rate be figured.

Fowler also discussed the current dispute over the valuation of orchard and shade trees as part of the value of land, and pointed out that a conference is being held Friday in an attempt to work out a solution.

A total of 59 votes were cast, all of them for Barker. He will succeed Mrs. Moore Hamilton as a board member. Mrs. Hamilton, who did not run for reelection, was chairman of the board, and a new chairman will be elected soon.

In other first class districts, C. Norman Gall of Gold Hill, the only candidate in School District 6C, was elected with 22 votes, and Mrs. Mabel Stemple, with 41 votes was reelected to the Ashland board. She also was an only candidate.

Of 23 districts within the county, results of the annual elections in only nine were available this morning, including Medford, Central Point and Ashland.

Second and third class districts elected three directors instead of one as in the past, to comply with recent legislation requiring five-man boards instead of three-man boards.

In Jacksonville, Floyd Wyatt was elected to a three year term, Russell McIntyre to a four-year term, and B. J. Christianson to a five-year term.

Recently five Medford and Ashland men appeared before the county court to discuss possibilities of approving licensing a dog racing track in Ashland.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held in the county court's office at 11 a.m. Friday.

Military Program To Receive Added Five Days of Study

Plan Sent Back By 16-14 Vote

By UNITED PRESS

A House committee rebellion against rush tactics of its chairman today stopped immediate action on a military reserves program.

Members of the House Armed Services Committee rejected by a 16 to 14 vote a plea by Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) for action today on what critics called a watered down version of the compulsory reserve measure, a measure much weaker than the one President Eisenhower requested.

Vinson told the committee that house leaders wanted it to act today on the bill, which he had introduced only yesterday, so the House could take it up Thursday. But the committee decided instead to send the measure to a subcommittee for five days of study.

Other congressional news: Social Security: The Eisenhower administration tried unsuccessfully to persuade the House Ways and Means Committee to give a full and public airing to Democratic proposals to liberalize the social security program.

Mr. Eveta Culp Hobby, secretary of Health, Education, and welfare, said the Democratic plan would cost more than $2,000,000,000 a year.

Dixon-Yates: Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee asserted the Dixon-Yates private power project was promoted under "highly questionable" circumstances. He told a Senate group that Adolphe B. Wenzell, official of the First Boston Corp., which arranged Dixon-Yates financing, was a consultant to the Budget Bureau at a time when the bureau was discussing the project.

Marine Corps: Democrats relied on public opinion to back up a Senate vote for a Marine Corps larger than the administration wants.

The Senate decided Monday by a 40-39 vote to provide an extra $46,000,000 to keep Marine strength at 215,000 men for the next year. The administration had planned to cut the corps to 193,000 mid-1956.

Pay Raise: Key senators indicated they would support a compromise pay raise bill of about 8 per cent for 1,073,262 government white collar workers.

Budget: Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey submitted up-to-date budget figures to the Senate Finance Committee in connection with the coming request for legislation to raise the ceiling on the national debt. In the figures, Humphrey sticks by his prediction of a $2,400,000,000 deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

County Development Objective of Meeting

Representatives of communities throughout Jackson county have been invited by the chamber of commerce to bring suggestions for future development to a meeting Thursday evening.

The session, to be in the Medford hotel, will start at 7:30 p.m., and will be open for discussion of the future of Jackson county, and any ideas anyone may have on how development and progress can best be obtained.

Invitations to a number of representative county people have been mailed out chamber spokesmen said. The chamber's forum committee is making arrangements for the meeting.

County Assessed Valuation Estimated at $80,000,000

The total assessed valuation in Jackson county has risen from about $61,000,000 last year to about $80,000,000 this year, according to County Assessor Robert G. Fowler said yesterday.

Fowler also discussed the current dispute over the valuation of orchard and shade trees as part of the value of land, and pointed out that a conference is being held Friday in an attempt to work out a solution.

Jackson county's assessment ratio of 25 per cent is "about in the middle" compared to the ratios used by the other 35 counties in the state, Fowler said.

Proposals Would Let Ike Preside At First Session

Less World Tension Chief Aim of Meetings

San Francisco — (U.P.) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov apparently has agreed to a proposal that would let President Eisenhower serve as chairman for the first meeting of next month's "summit conference" in Geneva, it was disclosed today.

The proposal was one of several submitted to the Soviet foreign minister yesterday by the foreign ministers of the Big Three Western powers gathered in San Francisco for the 10th anniversary of the United Nations.

The Big Four foreign ministers met last night to talk it over. Sources close to the British and American delegations said Molotov made no objection to the proposals, and indicated his government would find them acceptable.

According to these sources, the proposals were:

1. The chief aim of the meeting would be to prove an atmosphere that would help lessen world tensions, rather than negotiate specific problems.

2. The Big Four chiefs of state will preside over the sessions in rotation. President Eisenhower will be the first chairman, followed by French, British and Russian chiefs of state.

3. The meeting should last four to six days. The exact length must be decided upon ahead of time.

4. The chiefs of state should outline in their opening statements what they consider to be the main causes of world tension.

5. As the meetings progress, the chiefs of state should suggest the procedures to follow in negotiating these problems.

6. After the Big Four chiefs of state conclude their meeting, the Big Four foreign ministers should then take over and continue as long as necessary.

Hear Molotov's Views

Attending the meeting were Molotov, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and British Foreign Minister Harold MacMillan.

Earlier yesterday, Dulles, Pinay and MacMillan drew up a list of proposals which they submitted to Molotov. Last night's meeting was called to hear the Russian's views on them.

A source close to MacMillan said Molotov was "perfectly reasonable" and merely asked time to study them. However, an American source quoted Molotov as saying there should be "no difficulty."

The Big Four foreign ministers were in San Francisco to attend the 10th anniversary meeting of the United Nations.

In his formal speech before the commemorative session MacMillan made only a brief reference to next month's "summit" meeting and no mention of the crucial foreign ministers talks here.

"Within a few weeks the leaders of the four great powers will be meeting together for the first time since Potsdam," the British official noted. He said although the tensions between East and West "have seemed unending... recently there has been a lifting of the cloud."

Ashland Loop Route Opened To Traffic

The Ashland loop road, which circles Mt. Ashland and Wagner butte, starting near Ashland and coming out in the Applegate valley, was opened to traffic this morning.

The office of the Rogue River National forest reported the loop road is being opened earlier than usual this year, because snow drifts have been smaller. The last remaining drift has been cleared from the road.

The route is a favorite of picnickers and others, who like the spectacular mountain scenery of southern Jackson county.

Cop's Word Choice Joli's Ike's Guards

San Francisco — (U.P.) — A San Francisco policeman's choice of words jolted Secret Service men guarding President Eisenhower Monday.

Just before the President stepped out of the St. Francis hotel en route to the United Nations meeting, a policeman with a public address amplifier on his car blared: "You people will have to move across the street. You can still get a good shot at the President from there."
