

Fruit Packers Told Of Regulations on Women and Minors

Salem — Fruit and vegetable packers have been notified by the state wage and hour commission that changes in the minimum standards on employment of women and minors in their firms will take effect August 13.

The commission has rescinded the 1942 order governing women's and minors' employment in such firms and brought the firms under regulations of a 1952 order which governs a minimum 66 cent hourly rate, the action upon the legal minimum of overtime pay for women in the plants from time and a half after 12 hours to time and a half after 10 hours and double time after 12 hours daily. Women working with perishable products are permitted overtime hours under Oregon's wage and hour law. Minor employees of plants will be limited to a 10-hour day maximum under the change in orders.

Other Requirements

Other requirements which will newly affect women and minors working in the packing plants include a 10-minute rest period after three consecutive work hours and a sliding scale of women's overtime pay for hours worked on the seventh consecutive day. Weight-lifting restrictions and work recess regulations also are provisions of the 1952 standards not contained in the rescinded order. The wage and hour commission's action expands the 1952 order further to include meat processors but excepts the farmer processing fresh products on his farm.

The commission is comprised of Mrs. Frederic W. Young and Mrs. Mary L. Jackson, Portland, and Henry S. Howard, Eugene, with N. O. Nilsen, labor commissioner, serving as executive secretary.

New York—About one-third of all cancer deaths in the U.S. could be avoided by early detection and proper treatment.

Iowa Man Joins State Forestry Department

Salem — (U.P.) — Harry Marshall, who graduated this spring from the Iowa State College school of forestry, joined the Oregon State Forestry Department yesterday and was assigned to Astoria on timber sales.

Marshall will work under Chester J. Reed, chief forester for the Clatsop-state forest 140,000-acre sustained yield unit which goes into effect July 1. Marshall formerly worked for the Iowa conservation commission at Ames.

Roy Peairs, 1952 graduate of the University of Idaho school of forestry, has been given the post of technical forester at Springfield with the Eastern Lane Forest Protective Association. Peairs has also been associated with several western Oregon logging concerns and the U.S. forest service.

James Roosevelt's Wife Gets Surprise Default Divorce

Pasadena, Calif. — (U.P.) — Mrs. Romelle Roosevelt has obtained a surprise default divorce from Rep. James Roosevelt, whom she once accused of infidelities with a dozen women.

Roosevelt was in Washington when Mrs. Roosevelt unexpectedly won the interlocutory decree Tuesday, but was represented by counsel at the brief, uncontested hearing before Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman.

Not On Calendar

The surprise hearing was called without the case ever having been placed on the court's calendar. Judge Kauffman explained attorneys for both parties had asked for the immediate default hearing.

In obtaining the divorce, Mrs. Roosevelt made no reference to her sensational charges of a little more than a year ago that Roosevelt had been intimate with other women. Instead, she won the decree on an amended complaint which merely accused the Democratic congressman of mental cruelty.

The former nurse received sole custody of their three children, James Jr., 9, Michael Anthony, 8, and Anna Eleanor, 7, with Roosevelt granted the right to visit them only at their home.

Agent Recommends Lygus Insect Spray

First applications of spray to control lygus insects in alfalfa, lotus and clover should be made in the near future, W. B. Tucker, county extension agent, has reported.

He said fields checked recently indicated that spraying should be done as soon as possible, with a second application, if needed, in 30 to 45 days.

First applications should be made with DDT in either dust or spray form. Four pounds of 50 per cent DDT in the amount of water required to cover an acre with individual spraying machines should be used for spraying. Twenty pounds of 10 per cent DDT per acre is advisable if dust is used, Tucker said.

The second application should be with toxaphene because the latter is less toxic to bees and more toxic to grasshoppers which are numerous by second spraying time.

Around Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY

Hollywood — (U.P.) — Vivian Blaine, the original doll of "Guys and Dolls" winds up the movie version of her Broadway hit in two weeks, but she is not giving up that Brooklyn accent yet.

The brassy "Adelaide" of the musical will launch a "first" in the theater world when she re-assembles the original cast for a run in a Las Vegas hotel beginning in August.

Vivian, Robert Alda, Sam Levene and even some of the "mugs" from the Broadway opening night will present a trimmed version of "Guys and Dolls" at the Royal Nevada hotel. The only difference from a stage run will be the audience devouring steaks and the roulette tables clicking outside.

"My husband, Manny Frank, and I tied up the rights and cut the show to an hour and a half," the blonde singer explained. "We will duplicate the costumes and sets of the New York run. I think it will start a trend of musicals playing in Las Vegas. "Pajama Game" would be wonderful there."

This 12-week wind-up in Las Vegas will bring Vivian a record for holding onto a role. She started wisecracking in Brooklynese for "Guys and Dolls" on Broadway in 1950. After two and a half years, she moved on to head the London company.

Then, contrary to usual Hollywood custom, producer Samuel Goldwyn tapped her for the movie version.

"I kept hearing Marilyn Monroe wanted the part, and also Betty Grable, but Mr. Goldwyn had told me in 1951 that he wouldn't do the movie without me," said Miss Blaine as we sat in her dressing room on the set at Goldwyn Studio today.

No Disappointment

The other stage roles were taken by Frank Sinatra and non-singers Marlon Brando and Jean Simmons. Vivian thinks Marlon and Jean "did beautifully — their fans won't be disappointed when they sing."

Jehovah's Witnesses Will Attend Conclave

Seventy-five delegates from the Medford congregation of Jehovah's witnesses will attend an assembly at Vancouver, B. C., June 29 through July 3. J. W. Mather, presiding minister here, will head the delegation. Approximately 25,000 are expected to represent the northwest at the conclave.

Mather described this as one of a series of 11 world-wide conventions. In 1953, Mather pointed out, an international gathering of ministers at Yankee Stadium in New York drew a peak attendance of 165,829 from 97 nations. This year it is hoped combined attendance figures will double that.

Cities in the United States and Canada named as convention centers are Vancouver, B. C., Los Angeles, Dallas, New York, and Chicago. European cities selected are London, Paris, Rome, Nuremberg, Stockholm, and The Hague.
