

Field Workers Join Staff Here

Two public health workers from abroad have joined the staff of Jackson County Public Health department to do field work for brief periods. The two women, Miss Ruth Marcondas of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Miss Victoria Ogal, Winnipeg, Canada, recently received their master's degrees in public health from the University of California.

Miss Marcondas will be here until July 6 and will then go to Cleveland O., to study the health department of that city. Later she will go to San Juan, Puerto Rico, for some work at the school of tropical medicine there.

Miss Ogal will remain in Medford for the summer and in the fall will return to her work as a health educator for the Provincial Department of Health in Winnipeg.

Today the two women with Dorothy Huskey, health educator for Jackson county, will attend a meeting and tea of the Prospect Health unit. Women of the group will explain the program of health education and projects which they have carried on in recent years. Next Tuesday the two visitors will attend a similar meeting of the Gold Hill Health unit.

Tuesday night they attended a meeting of one of the committees of the Southern Oregon Child Guidance Clinic association, tonight they are scheduled to attend a sanitation committee meeting and Thursday will meet with the parents of mentally retarded children who are carrying on a study program in the valley.

Civil Air Patrol Members Leave For Encampment

Two members of the Medford squadron of the Civil Air Patrol left Saturday, June 18, for summer encampment.

Lt. Bette E. Miller, coordinator of women's activities, and Cadet Lt. Janice Stevens left Saturday morning in a C45 aircraft for Lackland Air Force base, Texas. Lieutenant Miller was chosen as the women escort for the Western Region and Cadet lieutenant Stevens was chosen as one of the two cadets from the State of Oregon to attend this encampment.

Two women cadets from each of the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Guam were chosen to attend this special encampment at Lackland base.

Television Noses Into Homes For New Neighborly Programs

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY United Press Correspondent

Portland, Ore. — (U.P.) — Television programs have taken to moving around neighborly fashion in family living rooms far from New York City.

Any town might be the sudden object of this new TV curiosity.

A woman may find herself watching in dumb amazement as technicians string miles of cables through the house, roll up the rugs, move furniture and wheel in television cameras for a "casual" visit viewed by a nationwide television audience.

The latest expedition to strike out from the soundproofed TV studios in Manhattan arrived here this week. Eighteen people, including star Arlene Francis, made the cross-country trip to put on the NBC daytime show here and in Seattle for five days.

New Idea
"This will make five cities we have visited on one-week tours, and there will be many more," August C. Spector, production supervisor, said. "It is not the old idea of having network talent put on a show in another location. We want to show our audience how other families live."

An unexpected knock on the door may be the first hint a housewife has that her home is being surveyed for its television possibilities. Advance scouts for the Home Show pick interesting neighborhoods weeks in advance, then stroll around looking for a house that attracts them.

"My neighbors don't know whether to envy or pity me," said Mrs. Christian Kisky, surveying the front yard of her home.

Mrs. Kisky and her husband, a Portland dentist, were one of two families visited here by the Home Show cameras and Miss Francis.

The yard was criss-crossed with cables which also ran through the front door and out the back door. Four cameras, a loudspeaker, two policemen, a remote TV truck housing the monitor screens usually in a studio room and 24 people connected with the show, some who were recruited locally, were scattered in and around the house.

"This has been going on for 10 days," Mrs. Kisky sighed. "It's very interesting, but I can't get any housework done."

Small towns are next on this widespread invasion of TV programs. Invitations come in regularly from people who would like to have their town or their family shown on TV, Spector said.

The neighborly visits may even go international. Miss Francis has applied for a visa to Russia.

"Sure, we'd want to visit some homes there," she said. "Women are interested in these things, you know. And we aim to please."

Lodge Announces Two Coming Events

Two events are on the calendar this week for Medford Women of Moose.

The lodge will hold installation of officers Friday, June 24, at 8 p.m. at the hall, 11 Newtown street. Mrs. Jim Roberts will take office as the new senior regent.

Tonight the lodge will convene in regular session at 8 p.m. at Moose hall. Mrs. Robert Waller, chairman of the membership committee, will take charge of refreshments.

Showers Given For Bride-Elect In Shady Cove

Shady Cove — Miss Mary Seggesenman is being honored at a number of pre-nuptial parties. Her wedding to Chester Henry Pluke of Oakland, Calif., is set for Saturday, June 25, and will be held at 1:30 o'clock in Sacred Heart Catholic church, Medford. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Seggesenman.

Mrs. Jack Ross was hostess at her home June 17 for a shower honoring Miss Seggesenman, and she received many gifts.

Guests were Mesdames Frank Cook, Dale Sawyer, Gene Weisman, Ed Houston, Ray Briggs, Dolf Larson, Dick Bartuss, Clayton Knotts, Joe Waltz, Bert Connor and Ernest Seggesenman and Miss Joyce Connor, all of Shady Cove.

Other guests were Mesdames Mae Lane, Montana Gilhouse, Fred Morgan, Alma Mallory and Harry Casebier, all Trail, and Mrs. Minnie Blaess, Medford.

Mrs. Karl Proctor, Trail, entertained at her home Saturday afternoon at a luncheon honoring the bride-elect. Guests, Miss Seggesenman's close friends, were Mrs. Kenneth Patterson, Trail, and Miss Janet Zimmerlee and Miss Joyce Connor, both Shady Cove.
