Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D. Readers should address inquiries to: Dr. William Brady, 263 El Camino, Beverly Hills, Calif.

WHO KNOWS WHAT ALLERGY MEANS? When the doctor prescribed a basic health, corrective, protective, reducing diet (as patterned on p. 43 of The 7 Keys to Vite... for which send 25c and stamped self-addressed envelope) for a patient with spurious sinusitis, the patient squawked that he couldn't take a quart of milk a day. My stars, he couldn't take milk at all—he was allergic to milk. One might as reasonably purport to be allergic to outdoor air, tap water or gravy. Doctors and folks have carried the notion of allergic sensitivity far beyond reason. Allergy has become a byword in the glib chatter of the half-informed. It's as useful as ulcers for smart-cracks.

For all I know, it may well be that some persons do acquire a peculiar sensitivity to one or another component of milk, persons who for some reason, have lived for long periods without milk or with too little milk in their diet or with only "processed" milk or milk products. In the pamphlet on Allergy (ask for it in writing and inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope) I suggest potassium chloride and vitamin C for relief of the spell and calcium feeding to prevent or combat development of allergic sensitivity. So it is all right to use the KCl and C as medicine for relief of distress or as a palliative remedy. The Ca and D, however, is nutritional, not medicinal, and in order to get the full benefit of it, one must eat the daily ration throughout the year. Incidentally, the hay fever season is opening, and hay fever is allergy to one or another kind of pollen, and if you decide to go on a high calcium diet with Ca and D supplementation, you had better start on it right now—four glasses of milk every day. Inclose an additional ten cents when you write for any of the foregoing pamphlets, for the one on Hay Fever. And still another ten cents if you want also the pamphlet on Asthma, for that's an allergic condition too. Then there's the Ecze-ma—that's allergic, too—the pamphlet will set you back another dime. These health pamphlets should all be free, not just one to a reader with a charge for additional distributing exceeds the stipend of the grasping old charlatan who conducts this column, so the only alternative is to charge for some of the pamphlets or bid you all good-bye and devote myself wholly to the bowling green 313 days a year from now on. Say, that's a pleasant prospect! The many big interests that do not like me very well, might proffer me an appointment as consultant or something, which position would provide a salary, bonus or pension and the opportunity to join the loafers on the bowling green 313 days in the year—for such an Elysium would I quit trying to teach you poor souls how to keep well!

MOO-O-O'S AND MUSINGS. We are informed that in next year's show, a lion will put its head in Clyde Beatty's mouth. This is just the sort of thing you can expect if you grow up wanting to be a circus lion.

Oceanlake Civic Leader Drowns in Boat Accident

Oceanlake—(U.P.)—A prominent Oceanlake civic leader and insurance company representative drowned here in a boating accident at Devil's Lake. Dead was Virgil Muckler, 50. His body was recovered by game warden Neil Jordan and local residents.

The drowning occurred at the north end of the lake. Muckler's speedboat collided with a boat loaded with children, throwing him into the water. No other persons were injured.

Public Welfare Office Here Closed Saturdays

The Jackson county public welfare office will be closed all day Saturdays, effective this week, it was announced yesterday.

The change will include all public welfare offices in the state, according to Mrs. Blanche Lyman, who is in charge of the local office. It was ordered by the state public welfare department.

The office has few applications on Saturday morning, with the exception of migrants during winter months, Mrs. Lyman noted. The local office previously had been open until noon on Saturdays as are other county offices.
