THE CALCIUM IN AN OLD CODGER'S BONES

Milk, whole fresh milk, skim milk, buttermilk, sour milk, Bulgarian milk, acidophilus milk, evaporated milk, dried powdered milk, whichever you prefer, is the best food source of calcium.

Any and every kind of cheese is second only to milk in this respect.

Not less than 1½ pints, three large glassfuls, of milk daily is the most essential item in the high calcium health diet.

The trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers, who almost outnumber honest doctors today, are still telling their gullible customers that "too much" calcium is dangerous, as it may be "deposited" in the bones, joints, arteries etc. This makes the poor souls stop asking foolish questions and readily submit to a series of "shots," which are expensive, of course, even if they are calcium gluconate or calcium chloride in solution! Whatever it is, the poor souls imagine it must be more powerful that way.

To the best of my knowledge none of the purported medical authorities who warn about "too much" calcium, "too much" vitamin D, etc., has ventured to specify how much too much would be. From the clippings collected for me I gather that any amount the p. m. authorities have not yet learned to prescribe is too much.

Why are the bones of elderly people more fragile than the bones of young persons? Any schoolboy who studied physiology in the 19th century can answer the question—and there are a lot of 19th century schoolboys practicing medicine today. From the text book Fourteen Weeks in Physiology, by J. Dorman Steele, Ph. D., a copy of which a namesake kindly sent me, I quote:

"The composition of the bones at maturity is about one part animal to two parts mineral matter. In youth it is nearly half and half, while in old age the mineral is greatly in excess . . ."

Steele conjured his notion out of fancy, for precise chemical analyses of bone had not yet been made. Today there can be no question that the bones of the aged are easily broken because the bones become gradually demineralized with advancing age. The demineralization is especially a steady loss of calcium is due primarily to nutritional deficiency (malnutrition), especially inadequate intake of calcium, that is, less than the amount one gets in 1½ pints of milk—three full glasses daily. And how much calcium does one get in 1½ pints of milk? Maybe 10 or 12 grains. Not enough for a growing child, but perhaps enough to keep a mature adult from aging prematurely.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Gray Hair Doesn't Look So Gray

My husband and I both . . . It is true what readers say about your iodine ration bringing back color to your hair. My husband, 64, was snow white . . . the brown color started coming back after the first two months . . . I had only a little gray, but that has disappeared . . . (Mrs. E. R.)

Answer—I won't question your statement. On the other hand I do not say the iodin ration will restore natural color to gray hair. I merely say it can do no harm to get your nutritional requirement of iodine. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, for the pamphlet THE IODIN RATION.

The Hatters Won't Like This

I am 51. Following your suggestion I have not worn a hat in the past 30 years, no matter how cold, hot or dry the weather. Most people regard me as a nut, I imagine, but thanks to your teachings I enjoy excellent health and . . . (C. M. T.)

Answer—Nobody will love me now. The less clothing or cover anyone wears, with comfort, the better for health. That's all I have to say about it.

Russians Treated San Francisco Home Well, Owner Says

Hillsboro —(U.P.)— Mrs. Neal McNeill, mistress of the $400,000 mansion occupied by the Russian delegation to the United Nations last week, said today they were "simply wonderful" the way they cleaned up after them.

"You just can't imagine cleaner people," exclaimed Mrs. McNeill after a close inspection of her house.

Few Cigarette Burns

"Except for a few cigarette burns and a stain or two, they left the place just as they found it. We really didn't know what to expect, but it just couldn't have been cleaner."

Mrs. McNeill said she was escorted on an inspection tour by a Russian who remained behind to see that all was to her satisfaction. She said he took pride in pointing out the Russians' good housekeeping.

Paid $4000 Rent

The Russians paid $4000 rent for the two weeks they used the mansion. They said they "just didn't get a chance" to use the swimming pool."

Mrs. McNeill, whose husband is a wealthy San Francisco auto dealer, said Alexander Zinchuck, first secretary of the Soviet embassy in Washington assured her that Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov was very pleased with his accommodations.

FROZEN FOODS

NO VACATION

Schools are closed for the summer, but there's no vacation from the pressing school problems we face.

Next September, schools will reopen needing at least 124,000 more teachers. By 1965, nine million additional children will have entered elementary and secondary grades. School problems will be the subject of the White House Conference on Education, called by President Eisenhower for November.

Follow through now by joining your neighbors and fellow-citizens in local school conferences. Let's all help!
