

Oregon School Added to List At AAUW Session

Los Angeles—The addition of three colleges and universities to the list of institutions meeting requirements for membership in the American Association of University Women today took place at the afternoon session of the association's national convention in Los Angeles. The institutions are: Midland college, Fremont, Neb.; Northern State Teachers college, Aberdeen, S. D.; and Pacific university, Forest Grove, Ore.

These additions bring to 366 the number of institutions approved for AAUW membership. Graduates of these colleges and universities who hold degrees that meet the AAUW requirement of a basic foundation in the liberal arts are now eligible for membership in the Association. All degrees of Midland and of Northern State Teachers college are approved; for Pacific university, the B. A. and B.S. degrees will now admit to AAUW membership.

The association now has over 136,300 members, with 1,310 local branches organized in every state, and in Hawaii, Alaska, Guam, and the District of Columbia.

Delegates heard Dr. Helen D. Bragdon, general director, report on the role of the association's national office in Washington, D.C., at the opening session Monday at the Embassy Auditorium.

Mrs. Susan B. Riley, Nashville, Tenn., national president, addressed the convention Monday night saying "Believe and act on the belief that men are capable of making choices, and that value judgments are important if you want to mould a future in which man is informed, free, unafraid and invincible."

Shady Cove HEC Picnics in Park

Shady Cove — Shady Cove Grange HEC members held a picnic at Casey's park June 14. Guests present from other Granges were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chamberlin, Mrs. Rosie Smith, Mrs. Winnie Brown and Mrs. Pearl Lusk, Eagle Point; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Densmore and daughter, Sandra, Phoenix Grange, Mrs. Richard Pfeiffer, Shady Cove.

Mrs. Paul Motschenbacher will be hostess for a family potluck supper at her home on July 12 at 6:30 p.m. A short HEC business meeting will follow.

Oven or spit barbecued chicken served with ice-cold spiced canned cling peaches is delicious fare. Buy the peaches already spiced or heat a few hole spices and a little vinegar with the peach syrup and let the tender peach halves soak in the flavor for 24 hours.

League School Topic of Article

The kindergarten for hard of hearing children which Medford Junior Service league operates in here is the subject of an article in the June issue of Hearing News, the official publication of the American Hearing society.

It is written by Mrs. B. Brandt Bartels, member of the league who served as teacher at the kindergarten until the arrival of Miss Minette Shanahan last fall. Mrs. Bartels tells of the founding of the kindergarten by the league, tells of the methods used in instructing the deaf, how the league raises funds for its operations and of the cooperation of the community in the project.

Editor of the magazine is Mrs. Margaret Rostel, Washington, D. C. Both Mrs. Rostel and her husband, the late Ernest Rostel, formerly were on the staff of the Medford Mail Tribune and were well known in Medford.

Arboretum Head Visits in Valley

Dr. Brian Mulligan, curator of the Washington arboretum at the University of Washington, Seattle, with Mrs. Mulligan and their two sons, are guests in Medford of Mrs. E. B. Hanley, Ross lane. Mrs. Hanley has served on the editorial board of the arboretum's publication, and has contributed articles.

Dr. Mulligan is interested in the native plants and flowers of this area, and has been making collecting trips to various districts of interest.

The Mulligans have visited the Oregon mountain and Mt. Ashland areas, and yesterday went to Crater Lake National park with Mrs. Hanley and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Leavitt. Mr. Leavitt formerly has been superintendent of the park.

Miss Claire Hanley, Jacksonville, president of the Oregon Federation of Garden clubs, and Mrs. H. O. Smith, Cave Junction, a former president of the federation who has made a study of wild flowers in her district, and Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Nichol, Medford, accompanied the Mulligans on their trip to Oregon mountain. Mrs. Nichol also is a former state officer of the garden club federation and she and Mr. Nichol have an extensive collection of colored pictures of Oregon wild flowers.

Dr. Mulligan also visited Ashland mountain to collect wild flower specimens and was accompanied on this trip by Marcel LePinec, Medford nurseryman who is an authority on native plants.

Dr. Mulligan spoke for a meeting of Oregon Association of Nurserymen held here Monday.

Grange

Central Point Grange Lecture hour and 4-H program will precede the regular meeting of Central Point Grange, Friday night, July 1.

A Red Cross meeting for civil defense has been called at 8 p.m. in the Grange hall by Mrs. O. A. Eden, Medford. Information will be given that we may be prepared in case of natural disaster or war. Maj. Gen. J. H. Hicks of Civil Defense in this area, and Col. H. J. Meiring, food committee chairman, will be introduced.

Mrs. C. W. Anhorn has charge of the 4-H program to be presented at 8:30 p.m. Included will be a short skit and reports by those who attended the annual 4-H summer school.

Miss Judy Gebhard presents the Juvenile Grange number. Please bring sales slips for the Juveniles.

Agriculture committee has charge of the display table. Plans for a Grange picnic are being discussed. The date and place will be announced soon.

For unexpected Friday night guests, serve frozen fish sticks topped with a lemon, butter and almond sauce. Cook the fish sticks according to the package directions and top with the sauce just before serving. If dressed for time you'll find the canned diced almonds come in very handy.

Bible-Reading Grandmother Boosts Winnings to $16,000

New York—(U.P.)—Mrs. Katherine E. Kreitzer said today the nicest thing about her winning $16,000 on a television program is that it has caused a lot of people to "dust off their Bibles."

The quiet little grandmother from Camp Hill, Pa., who has read the Bible daily for most of her 54 years, correctly identified the seven brothers of the Biblical character, Joseph, last night on the Columbia Broadcasting program, "$64,000 Question."

Mrs. Kreitzer won $8,000 last week by giving "Mene Mene Tekel Upharsin" as the words constituting the handwriting on the wall. She had until last night to decide whether she wanted to risk losing the money in trying to double it.

"The $8,000 looks like a lot of money," she said. Then she asked for the $16,000 question. She stepped into a sound-proof booth with a one-way window that cut off her view of the audience and was given 30 seconds to concentrate before trying to identify Joseph's youngest brother and then six others. The studio audience was tense as an unseen orchestra played "suspense" music.

When the time was up she promptly gave Benjamin as the name of the youngest and then, without faltering, named Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar and Zebulun, as six of the other 11.

Mrs. Kreitzer, who works as a typist at the naval supply depot in Mechanicsburg, Pa., appeared to be taking the whole thing a great more calmly than most members of the audience.

"I didn't go into this because we had any pressing need of money," she said. "The money is just luxury."

Next week she will again appear on the show and will get the choice of going home with $16,000 or trying to double it. If she correctly answers the $32,000 question she gets the opportunity of coming back the following week to try for the jackpot question of all jackpot questions, the $64,000 question.

If she misses anywhere along the line, she gets a Cadillac convertible as a consolation prize.

Women Needed in Political Offices, AAUW Group Told

Los Angeles—(U.P.)—The American Association of University Women today took up the question of woman's role in politics and heard two experienced members urge that more women run for elective office.

Bertha S. Adkins, assistant to the chairman of the Republican National Committee, told delegates attending the AAUW biennial convention that "government needs able women, and I only hope that in our next election we will see more women than ever as candidates."

Adkins, of Washington, D.C., said millions of women work on the "inside" of politics, in party and precinct work. But she added, "I am here to encourage more of you to get on the 'outside'—to run for public office as politicians."
