AAUW Elects Californian; Gives Award

Los Angeles —(U.P.)— The biennial convention of the American Association of University Women drew to a close today with committee chairmen scheduled to report to the 2000 delegates on progress made at the week long meeting.

The association elected new officers yesterday and Dr. Anna L. Rose Hawkes, retiring dean of Mills College, Oakland, was chosen to succeed Dr. Susan B. Riley, of Peabody College, Tenn., as president.

The convention ends tonight with a banquet at which author Jessamyn West will speak on "The Choice of Greatness."

A distinguished scholar of medieval and Renaissance literature who prefers obscurity to limelight in following intellectual pursuits has been selected as the 1955 Achievement Award recipient by the American Association of University Women.

The $2,500 award was presented to Dr. Rosemond Tuve, professor of English at Connecticut College, New London, for her research and critical writings—chiefly on the poets Spenser, Milton, and Herbert—as well as for her inspiring teaching. The announcement of the award was made last night at the fellowship session of the association's biennial convention. The award, made annually since 1943, was presented by Mrs. J. D. Arnold, Rapid City, S.D., vice-president from the Northwest Central Region of AAUW which contributes the award. The region, comprising five states — Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, provides funds for the yearly award.

The citation, given by Dean Elizabeth S. May, Norton, Mass., chairman of the association's fellowship funds committee, traced Dr. Tuve's years of scholarly research here and abroad and outlined some of the contributions of her painstaking study and illuminating interpretation.

Dr. Tuve was also cited as a teacher "of rare power both to inspire and to train, so that her influence is great both on our general attitude in these times so critical for the study of the humanities, and in sending good women on to scholarship and teaching."

The award will be "put to the uses of scholarship" says Dr. Tuve, "it will use me, rather than I use it . . . there are books I need to see in London and Oxford."

In accepting the award Dr. Tuve defended the role of the "ivory tower scholar" in our society in a talk titled, "The Race Not to the Swift."

Sunset Pictures Kitchen of Home In Eagle Point

The kitchen of the Vinson Vaughn home near Eagle Point is pictured in an article in the July issue of Sunset magazine. This is the second time that pictures of the Vaughn's new home have been published by Sunset.

The article is entitled "Three Efficient Baking Centers" and pictures kitchens in homes of Carmel, Calif., and Honolulu, T.H., as well as the Vaughn home. The picture shows the storage door in the Vaughn kitchen which holds pots, pans, cooky tins and other utensils and which closes to cover the work table and cupboards.

First Sunset article on the Vaughn home described the children's rooms and their equipment. Ben H. Todd, Medford architect, designed the home.

The selection was announced by Mrs. F. H. Price of Newman Grove, Neb., president of the national federation.

Visitor Leaves

Mrs. Jerome Richardson returned, by plane, to her home in Seattle Monday after spending a fortnight in the valley. She visited in Medford at the home of Mrs. W. T. Poff, 1110 West Eleventh street and in Ashland at the home of Mrs. W. W. Bell.

The Richardsons formerly lived in Ashland during the war, when Warrant Officer Richardson was stationed at Camp White. After spending a year at Osaga, Japan, they moved to Seattle and this is Mrs. Richardson's first visit to the valley in seven years.

While Mrs. Richardson was here she made trips to Crater Lake and Klamath Falls.

Eisenhowers To Celebrate Anniversary

Washington — (U.P.) — President and Mrs. Eisenhowere celebrate their 39th wedding anniversary today by playing host to members of the White House staff at an evening picnic at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

The President planned to fly or drive, depending on the weather to the farm in the early afternoon after a busy morning at his White House office.

His office schedule included a cabinet meeting, receiving the final report of Harold E. Stassen as retiring foreign aid chief, the swearing in of John B. Hollister as Stassen's successor in the post, and a farewell visit with retiring Assistant Commerce Secretary Samuel W. Anderson.

Mrs. Eisenhower has been at the farm since June 10.

About 150 guests have been invited to the 6 p.m. EDT picnic. It will be a private affair with no press coverage.

In addition to the White House staff, the first couple had some personal friends who will remain as guests over the July 4th week end.

In order to provide adequate accommodations, the Eisenhowers decided to spend the week end at Camp David, in the nearby Catoctin Mountains, instead of in their new farm home.

The main lodge and guest buildings at the camp provide more room than there is at the farm house. It also is cooler in the mountains than it would be at the farm on the edge of the Gettysburg battlefield.

President Eisenhower is expected to return to the White House late Monday.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LOTS of young women are featuring flat heeled shoes nowadays. That's because the women are getting taller and the men shorter. The women would like to have high heels but they have to eliminate them because they have husbands or boy friends who are of medium height. And if a man is not as tall or taller than his sweetheart or wife it tends to give him a feeling in inferiority. Still it is too bad. High heels make a woman look smarter. Also aids her to carry herself better. Flat heels have a tendency to make a woman shuffle along.

Almost Confidential

Why not more night golf on regulation links? Should not be a very difficult problem to illuminate a golf course . . . The age of Marlene Dietrich seems a subject of endless discussion. Get it right. The birth date on Marlene's most recent passport is December 5, 1905. So she is 49 "going on" 50.

Blushing

Few present day females can blush naturally. A blush has male appeal. It also enables an appearance of sweet innocence. If a woman does not blush naturally, it can be done mechanically. All she has to do is to hold her breath and mentally count to fifty-five. Remember that, young women, when getting married. It will enable you to be a blushing bride.

Recorders

Now there is a recording machine so small it can be hidden behind a necktie. This remarkable gadget will record all conversation between its possesor and other people. The others will not know that what they are saying is being recorded. This tiny recording device can also be hidden in a woman's handbag. So, once more, let me remind you of the saying "five things observe with care: of whom you speak, to whom you speak and how and when and where."

Over There

The population of Germany is approximately 70,000,000. In Germany there are about 8,000,000 more women than men. The German girl who gets a grade A man really has to have an effective husband hunting technique. However, quite a few German girls are clever that way. That's why so many G. I. Joes stationed over there have married Germans.

Morning Meal

Discussing morning meals that are different, a Bostonian says he regularly has a New England boiled dinner for breakfast. I believe in a large meal in the morning. So do many health experts. Yet I think this Bostonian is overdoing it. A New England boiled dinner is too much for breakfast. I suggest he just have a simple breakfast of orange juice, prunes, cereal, ham and eggs, rolls, coffee and a few hotcakes.

Horses and Women

Following extensive search on the subject of the character of red-haired women, an anthropologist said females of that type are usually "proud, sensitive, brave, imaginative, impulsive and intelligent." This estimate does not entirely agree with the research of our horses and women experts but it is pretty close to their findings. Red-haired women make excellent wives for men capable of handling them. It is their being so impulsive and stubborn that makes the redheads difficult to break into matrimonial harness.

Briefly

Detroiter with literary ambitions says she would like to write a novel but has no time as she has a house, a husband and two children to care for. When Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin" she had a house, a husband, six children and some boarders to care for! . . . Cancer (June 21-July 22) women are idealists. They put a man on a pedesta!. Then they criticize him because he doesn't live up to their dreams. Or, so say the stargazers.

The figures given are based on a survey of construction expenditures in 21 cities around the state, made for the Oregon Business & Tax Research Bulletin for June.

Hope Continues for Three Missing Men

Kalispell, Mont. —(U.P.)— Flathead County Coroner Saul Catron said today there was still some hope that three Tacoma, Wash., men missing since their light plane vanished Tuesday might be found.

Four search planes joined in a systematic search of the high rugged mountain area northwest of here yesterday but failed to turn up any trace of the plane.

Missing are Phil Meyers, Clarence Hebbel and Harvey Preszler. They left here early Tuesday to fly along the south fork of the Flathead river in search of uranium.

Canyonville Child Recovering From Rattlesnake Bite

Canyonville, Ore. —(U.P.)—A four-year-old girl bitten by a rattlesnake was in "good condition" today after treatment with anti-snake-bite serum flown here from Portland by the Air National Guard yesterday.

The girl is Linda Hayter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hayter of Canyonville. She was bitten on the hand by the snake while playing in a vacant lot with a group of children yesterday morning.

Dr. J. A. Aaronson, hospital osteopath, credited the serum and the action of the ANG with saving the young girl's life. She had only been "holding her own" before the serum arrived.

The doctor said the hospital was unable to locate any snake venom serum except in Portland. Dr. Aaronson said the serum reached the hospital in time to prevent painful swelling and discoloration, severe symptoms of rattlesnake bites.

Canyonville is located in southern Douglas county.
