WIDELY PREVALENT BUT SELDOM DIAGNOSED

It is contrary to my Hippocratic principles—Do Good If You Can But No Harm, said the Father of Medicine, in effect—to tell you poor souls the symptoms of old familiar diseases or dreadful new diseases. It seems to me you have enough to worry about just trying to keep well without going daft about it.

But after careful consideration I have decided that it may do much good and it can't do much harm to tell you how to diagnose and treat yourself. I'm the more inclined to do so because I believe that in most instances the individual with tetany doesn't consult a physician about it, unless just casually when he happens to seek medical attention for some more obvious illness or injury.

from faulty observation. For example, malaria from damp night air (mal means bad, -aria means air); but maybe we can tell the truth about this in another generation.

One medical authority of yesterday said:
"The nature of tetany is unknown."

In the opinion of the conductor of this column, who, as everybody knows, is no authority about anything except maybe shell briars and bowling greens, the cause of tetany is Ca and D deficiency; and the prevention, relief or cure of the trouble, in infant, growing child or mature adult, is simply an optimal daily ration of calcium and vitamin D. If that isn't quite clear, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing, signed, for the pamphlet Growing Pains and Adult Tetany.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Have had varicose veins in legs for years, but recently one place is opened up as though ulcer may be forming. (M. L. G.)
Answer—Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet VARICOSE VEINS AND VARI-COSE ULCER.

What! Not Afraid of Drats?
Thanks for opening the eyes of this Grandma. I had a superstitious fear of drats, wet feet, etc. but no more. Please send in the enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope your pamphlet on CALCULI AND RHEUMATISM. (Mrs. B. T. M.)
Answer—It's hard to believe it, Grandma. I hope you're not pulling my leg.

Always Cold But Not Frigid
I'm the lady who said (Apr. 19) she is 40, always tired, always cold, has no pep and has to force herself to do her housework... and we have no TV. The doctor found my hemoglobin above average, too.
Answer—Then maybe you neglect to throw an old sweater or something on your shoulders before you go out to the fence to exchange tidbits with your neighbors. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for THE IODINE RATION. (Copyright 1953, John F. Dille Co.)

Weather in June Nearly Normal in Area, Report Says

Climatic conditions in the Medford area during June were about normal, according to a summary prepared by the Medford weather bureau.

The average temperature during June was 65.2 degrees, or just 3.3 of a degree above the normal temperature for the month. Weather bureau officials noted that this was brought about by particularly warm temperatures on June 6 through 9 and 18 through 20.

The high temperature during the month was 101 degrees, on June 8, while the low was 37 degrees recorded on June 1.

The Medford bureau logged 12 clear days in June, compared with a normal of 13; 13 partly cloudy days against 8 normal, and 5 cloudy days compared with a normal of 9.

Precipitation during the month was .07 of an inch, or .90 of an inch below normal. The month's total fell on one day, June 28, although traces too small to measure were noted on other days. The only rainfall at Ashland was a trace which fell on one day.

The 30-day outlook for this area is for cool and damp weather.
