Orioles' Wilson Shuts Out Yanks; Fourth Straight Loss for NY

By MILTON RICHMAN United Press Sports Writer Paul Richards admits his last-place Baltimore Orioles aren't much of a ball club but he insists he has one of the best pitchers in the league in Jim Wilson.

The 33-year-old Wilson doesn't pick on the soft touches either. He has compiled his sparkling 2.50 earned run average chiefly against the hardest hitting clubs in the circuit.

Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter for the Braves last year but was unceremoniously turned loose by them the past spring, limited the league-leading New York Yankees to four scattered singles in shutting them out, 4-0, and handing them their fourth straight setback Wednesday night.

Wilson, who claims the Braves gave him the "bum's rush" after he won eight games and lost only two for them last season, helped his own cause Wednesday night when he drove in two of the Orioles' runs with a fourth-inning single. Baltimore scored all its runs in the fourth.

The defeat was a bitter pill for the Yankees who saw their lead shaved to 4 1/2 games when the second-place Cleveland Indians beat the Kansas City Athletics, 8-4. Boston's red-hot Red Sox licked the Washington Senators, 7-5, for their 11th victory in 12 games while Detroit defeated Chicago, 5-3.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers won the first game of a two-night doubleheader, 10-5, but the Pittsburgh Pirates captured the second game, 4-1. St. Louis beat Cincinnati, 6-4, Milwaukee topped Chicago, 5-1, and the New York Giants edged the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-2, in a game terminated in the bottom of the sixth inning by rain.

A six-run rally in the eighth inning, during which Ralph Kiner homered, brought the Indians from behind in their game against the Athletics. Herb Score gained his eighth victory although hit for homers by Bill Wilson and Hector Lopez. Score, who was relieved in the eighth inning, struck out five batters, raising his season strikeout total to 131.

Ted Williams played a key role in the Red Sox triumph with a homer, double and a single as Tom Brewer picked up his sixth victory. Mickey Vernon homered for Washington. The game was scheduled to be the opener of a two-night twin-bill but rain forced postponement of the second game which was rescheduled for today.

Kaline, Hatfield Homer Home runs by Al Kaline and Fred Hatfield helped Ned Garver of the Tigers to his first victory since June 7 even though he was nicked for 12 hits. Virgil Trucks was the loser.

Carl Erskine won the opener for Brooklyn even though he was nicked for successive homers by Jerry Lynch, Frank Thomas and Dale Long in the sixth inning. Vern Law limited the Dodgers to nine hits in leading Pittsburgh to victory in the second game.

Rip Repulski's three-run homer was the deciding margin in the Cards' win over the Redlegs although St. Louis had to employ four pitchers to halt a ninth-inning rally. Larry Jackson was the winner and Jackie Collum the loser.

Gene Conley hurled a three-hitter by beating the Cubs for his 10th victory. Bob Rush suffering the defeat after yielding seven of Milwaukee's 11 hits. Don Mueller's two-run homer just before rain halted the game was the winning blow for the Giants. Loser Curt Simmons started himself on the road to defeat in the sixth when he threw wildly to third, allowing two runs to cross the plate.

Fish Luck Fair On Union Creek

Portland — (U.P.)—The weekly report of fishing conditions prepared by the Oregon State Game Commission:

Southwest — Winchester bay salmon angling fair to good. Angling in central coast lakes for trout is generally slow. Water and weather conditions cold in Rogue river basin. Trout and salmon fishing both poor. Fair catches from Union creek.

Trout fishing in south fork of the Coquille river good on flies and far on bait. Best above falls. Trout fair to good on both bait and flies in Williams river. Striped bass angling fair to good in Coos river between Railroad and McCullough bridges and some taken in the Charleston area. Anchovies and pilchards best bait, but yellow jigs producing good catches.

Salmon fishing fair to good, depending on offshore winds. Trout very good on flies in North Umpqua above Rock Creek, generally slow below. Road above Steamboat rough and open only on weekends and specified hours of week days. Summer steelhead still slow. South Umpqua slow.

Treatment In Scotland Ires Furgol

St. Andrews, Scotland — (U.P.)—Ed Furgol was the angriest American, but Johnny Bulla was the one in greatest danger of elimination today as the field teed off in the second round of the British Open golf championship at the historic old St. Andrews course.

After today's 18-hole round, the field will be cut in half for the final 36 holes Friday.

Furgol, former U.S. Open champion from Clayton, Mo., was loud in voicing his "disgust" over the treatment of visiting professional players here, but with a one-under-par 71 in Wednesday's opening round he appeared to be in little danger of being ousted.

On Leaders' Heels In fact, Furgol was within good striking distance of the three deadlocked British leaders, each of whom shot 70 Wednesday. These were Syd Scott of England and Dai Rees of Wales, who tied for second place last year, and title favorite Eric Brown of Scotland.

Three of the other five Yanks in the championship flight also were in good position at par 72. They were Byron Nelson, former U.S. Open champion from Roanoke, Tex., British amateur champion Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., and amateur ace Jimmy McHale of Wynnewood, Pa.

But Bulla, hard-hitting tourney veteran from Pittsburgh was three-over-par with a 75.

Golfers Tee Off In St. Paul Open

St. Paul, Minn. — (U.P.) — A fast field of golfers—from hot-shooting "kids" to calm old pros—tees off today in one of the most wide-open St. Paul Open golf tournaments in history.

A near record field of 142 will attack the Rolling Koller course to try for $15,000 prize money in the four-day, 26th anniversary event.

Veterans like Sam Snead, Dutch Harrison, Tommy Bolt, Corky Oliver, Johnny Palmer, Julius Boros, Jerry Barber, Jim Turnesa Henry Ransom and others were in the running this time.

Moody Subdues Oregon Netman

Portland — (U.P.)—Dick Moody professional dancer from Santa Monica, Calif., provided the most thrilling match of the day yesterday when he defeated Norm Merrill, Portland, 6-3, 9-7 in second round play of the Oregon State Tennis Tournament.

Top-seeded Franklin Johnson of San Francisco defeated Gary Ambrose, Portland, 6-0, 6-1 after he drew a bye Tuesday. Second-seeded Emery Neale of Portland whizzed past John Hamlin, Portland, 6-0, 6-1.

Tigers Drop Ferris Fain; Get Coleman

Detroit — (U.P.)—Ferris Fain, 33-year-old veteran of 16 major league seasons, was out of a job today and Joe Coleman, 32, one-time teammate of Fain on the Philadelphia Athletics had another chance in baseball.

The torrid-tempered Fain was given his unconditional release by the Detroit Tigers Wednesday and Coleman, aging right hander cut loose by Baltimore last Friday, was signed immediately to fill his spot on the roster.

Tiger management gave Fain's gimpy knee, which has refused to mend, as the official reason for discharge. But behind the official reason was the report of a series of heated arguments between the fiery first sacker and other players and coaches.

The two-time American League batting champion mixed in a raw verbal battle with Earl Torgeson, his replacement at first base, while the Tigers were en route to Kansas City from Chicago by train. He also engaged in an argument with Coach Schoolboy Rowe and others during a bus trip from Cleveland to Detroit Monday night.

It was learned that Manager Bucky Harris and General Manager Muddy Ruel decided then to release Fain soon thereafter.

However, Fain, who has spent nearly half his life in professional baseball since breaking in with the San Francisco Seals in 1939, denied reports of dissension. Harris also refused to comment on them, and said only that he wished Fain "luck."

Grid Workshop Program Outlined

Salem—Program for the Willamette university-New York Giants Football workshop, Aug. 1 to 6, has been announced by Willamette Coach Ted Ogdahl.

Registration will be held Aug. 1 from 9 to 11 a.m. John Lewis, director of athletics, will welcome mentors from throughout the state and Ogdahl will handle a coaching session 1 to 2 p.m.

Observation of New York Giants' morning practices is scheduled Aug. 2 through Aug. 4 from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Ogdahl will conduct coaching sessions at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Afternoon practices of Giants will also be observed by workshop members.

The Giants coaching staff will conduct the entire clinic on Aug. 5. The New York staff will include Jim Lee Howell, head coach and former Giant star; Ed Kohlman, line coach and former Giant standout; Vince Lombardi, backfield coach and former mentor at Army; Bill Swiacki, end coach and former Columbia stellar; Tom Landry, defense coach and former All-Pro defensive end.

The Giants will hold a scrimmage on Aug. 6.

Pro Grid Frays Won't Be Televised in State

Portland — (U.P.) — Harry Glickman, Portland sports promoter, today said the two professional football games billed for Portland next month will not be televised in Oregon.

Glickman said there would be no Oregon telecast of either the Los Angeles Rams-Pittsburgh Steelers grid contest Aug. 6, or the Rams-New York Giants fray Aug. 28.

Jack Fleck Ranks 12th In Pro Golf Winnings

Chicago — (U.P.)—Jack Fleck's National Open victory put him into the 25 top money winners in professional golf for the first time in his career, but his total earnings of $8,752.38 this year left him only 12th in the lineup announced today.

Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N.Y., continued to lead the field with $17,948.74 while Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., who has won four tournaments this season, more than other competitors, held second with $16,643.93.

Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., took over first place in the Interest Already High for Shrine Football Game

Portland — Early interest in the eighth annual Shriners' hospital all-star football game, scheduled for August 20 in Multnomah stadium here, indicates one of the largest crowds in the game's history, according to Eugene W. Ferguson, deputy chief of Portland police and managing director of the gridiron classic.

Ferguson said that mail orders for reserved seats are slightly ahead of a year ago at this time. Mail orders for reserved seats are being accepted at Shrine All Star headquarters, Masonic temple, 1119 Southwest Park ave., Portland.

"The early interest apparently stems from the fact that persons close to the football picture in the state foresee a close, hard-fought contest," Ferguson stated, pointing out that supporters of the Metropolitan squad are optimistic about the chances of their team this year.

The colorful contest pits the cream of the seniors from last year's Portland area high schools against the outstanding senior performers from high schools throughout the state.

Portland Tutor Hopeful

The Metropolitan squad has dropped four straight to the State eleven, but Head Coach Tom DeSylvia of Portland's Jefferson high school is hopeful the tide can be turned this year.

DeSylvia has lined up a husky, fast aggregation and this year the Metros will have the advantage of living together for two weeks prior to the game.

In past years the State squad has lived together during the two week practice period while the Metros, with few exceptions, lived at their respective homes.

This year the Metros will be quartered at Lewis and Clark college, and their supporters believe this will provide an opportunity for them to become a more closely knit team.

Lee Gustafson, who piloted South Salem to a tie for the state prep title last fall, will direct the State team.

Rocky Stone, Paul Eckel and Mike DeVore are to represent Medford high in the All-Star grid clash. Fred Spiegelberg, Medford, will be one of the coaches.

chase for the Vardon Trophy, awarded to the player with the lowest average score per round, with a mark of 70.00.

Red Munger Halts Padres; Oakland Tops Portlanders

By PETER HAYES United Press Sports Writer Hollywood righthander Red Munger's four-hit, 2-1 victory over San Diego set the pace for sharp pitching in the Pacific coast league last night.

Munger fanned nine, walked only one and whittled his league-leading earned run average to 1.61 in chalking up his 11th win against five defeats. He has won three straight.

The 36-year-old flinger's performance also helped the Stars regain third place ahead of the Portland Beavers who lost out to Oakland in 10 innings, 2-1. That was a tight duel between Oakland's Harold Skinny Brown and Red Adams.

In other games, Jim Brosnan set Seattle down on six hits for a 3-2 Los Angeles victory and Marino Pieretti of Sacramento hung a six-hit, 6-1 defeat on the San Francisco Seals, who were playing without the services of their suspended manager, Tommy Heath. In Hollywood, Carlos Bernier scored both Star runs off loser Lloyd Dickey (5-5). He walked in the second and tallied on George Vico's single and tripled in the seventh after Bobby Del Greco's two-bagger.

Milt Smith scored San Diego's only run when he tripled in the fourth inning and trotted across on Munger's wild pitch. Oakland left fielder George Metkovich shared the hero's role with Brown, who yielded only five hits in notching his ninth win against one defeat—tops for the league. Metkovich homered in the ninth inning to tie the score at singled home Brown in the 10th inning to win it.

Ed Mickelson homered in the second inning with nobody on for Portland and Adams (6-4) made that lead stand up until the ninth. Adams allowed eight hits.
