Timber Sale Bids Called by Bureau

Bids on two timber tracts totaling 327 acres and an estimated 9,976,000 board feet will be received by E. K. Peterson, district forester, for the bureau of land management at 10:30 a.m. July 14, at the city hall, it was announced today.

The purpose of the sale is to harvest the defective, old growth timber, to reserve and protect the existing second growth, and to promote prompt establishment of an adequate crop of new seedlings. Both timber stands contain douglas fir, sugar pine and incense cedar.

The timber sale for the Jackson county marketing area is located in Jamison Gulch, a tributary of Pleasant Creek, and is 17¼ miles from the nearest rail head, which is in Rogue River. The appraised price is $83,812.35 for 4,071,000 board feet on 193 acres. The timber sale for Josephine county's marketing area is located at the head of the Grave Creek drainage. The appraisal is $104,124.25 for approximately 5,505,000 board feet on 134 acres. No bid for less than the appraised price will be accepted.

Bloodhounds Used In McKenzie Search

Eugene — (U.P.) — Bloodhounds today were hunting for Earl Smith, 62-year-old Sacramento, Calif., auto dealer feared drowned with two companions in a McKenzie river boating accident June 27.

Bloodhounds owned by Norman Wilson of Dallas, Ore., late yesterday picked up what Wilson said was Smith's scent on the bank of the McKenzie just downstream from where Smith and two other men disappeared. The bodies of Milo Thompson, McKenzie river guide and Aram Adams, 48, Bakersfield, Cailf., were found in the river June 28 near where the boat carrying the three men capsized.

Wilson said, however, it was possible Smith might have fished on the bank at the point where the tracks were found on the day before the boating accident.

Bloodhounds were pressed into the hunt after Smith's wife asked that further search be made.
