

Game Commission Draws Up Tentative Rules For 1955

Regular buck deer hunting season in five southwestern Oregon counties and part of a sixth will be October 1 to 23, inclusive, and mourning dove hunting in Jackson county will not be permitted this year, if tentative regulations drawn up by the Oregon State Game Commission in Portland on Friday are adopted as final.

The tentative 1955 hunting regulations contain provisions for "liberal" deer and elk seasons to help alleviate overpopulation in some areas of the state.

Game commissioners at a public hearing Friday heard reports from ranchers and foresters that huge deer herds were seriously damaging crops and foraging on young growth at several tree farms.

The tentative deer seasons extend from Oct. 1 to 23 with a bag limit of one deer of either sex in most counties during the last nine days of the season. In addition, nine controlled deer seasons were proposed to treat "specific problem areas."

The three week's long general deer season applies to Jackson, Josephine, Coos, Curry, Douglas counties and the part of Klamath county west of Highway 97. General season in the rest of the state would be October 1 to 14 with either sex shooting October 15 to 23 for hunters who still have tags.

"Spike" Deer Hunting While nimrods in western Oregon would be allowed to shoot one deer with forked horns, or better, the tentative rules would permit killing of "spike" deer, for the first time in many years, in the area of the state east of Highway 97. Bag limit in the east part of Oregon would be one deer with "visible" antlers.

Killing of spike deer was approved for eastern Oregon because of the heavy deer population there, Commissioner Kenneth G. Denman, Medford, reported Saturday on return from the Portland session. He stated that most of the one-year old mule deer have forked horns.

However, Denman said, game men don't feel that the black tail population west of Highway 97 can stand heavy kill in the younger ages.

While hunter's choice season generally is proposed October 15 to 23, only either sex deer hunting in Jackson county would be September 24 to 27 in a narrow strip along Rogue river. That killing will be "controlled."

Specified area is between Shady Cove bridge and Roberts bridge below Grants Pass and extending two miles each side of the river, the same as last year. Tributaries are excluded.

A total of 1,000 permits will be issued to persons holding deer tags. If more than that number of applications are received by the deadline (not yet set), a drawing will be held.

Damage Reported Game biologists don't feel the either sex hunting is needed in other parts of the two counties but a lot of damage reports have been received from farmers in the specified area. The early date of the hunters' choice season is expected to accomplish the purpose of controlling just the residential or marauding deer.

Migrating deer from the higher mountains won't have reached the area by that time.

In western Oregon where either sex harvest would be October 15 to 23, allowed deer would have to be killed within a mile of agricultural areas, the same as last year. The areas will be defined and detailed in the game department's synopsis.

Business of the Game Commission, following the hearing, included the setting of antelope, elk, archery, pheasant and hunter's choice deer and elk seasons. Commissioners will convene again on Friday, July 22, for another public hearing. After the hearing they will set final regulations.

Commissioners in their tentative regulations acted to prohibit mourning dove shooting in Jackson county for two main reasons. One was complaints from farmers that they have to police their property for 1½ months after September 1. The other is the difficulty in preventing hunters from killing pheasants during the dove season.

Cascade Elk Season General elk season for the coastal area is planned for October 29 to November 13 with a bag limit of one bull with three or more points. Season in the Cascade area and northeast Oregon would be October 29 to November 23. Bag limit for the northeast area, where there are more elk, would be one bull with antlers. In the Cascade area the one bull allowed must have three or more points.

Controlled elk seasons are projected for 16 areas.

Because of the limited number of animals, commissioners left the antelope season the same as last year. Dates are August 27 to 31. There would be three areas with a drawing for 200 permits for each area.

In the tentative plans, pheasant season throughout the state was dated for October 22 to November 13 and the bag limit was set at four cocks per day and not more than 12 in possession. Only two weeks of hunting were permitted west of the Cascades and in Klamath county last year and in western Oregon the 1954 bag was only four cocks per day.

In Malheur county north of the south line of Township 26 a daily limit of three cocks and one hen would be allowed for November 10, 11, 12 and 13 with not more than four hens in possession.

The over all four cock limit for pheasants was agreed after biologists reported that roosters were not being cropped in sufficient quantity. It is felt that the change will not make any appreciable difference in the over-all kill.

Archery Season The commission listed eight archery hunting areas and seasons for hunting deer or elk with long bow and barbed arrow. They were: Canyon Creek, Grant county, Sept. 10 to Oct. 23; Hart Mountain, Sept. 3 to Sept. 18; Mt. Emily, Union and Umatilla counties, Sept. 10 to Sept. 29; Baker county, Sept. 10 to Sept. 29; White River, Wasco and Hood River counties, Sept. 10 to Sept. 29; Table Rock, Jackson county, Sept. 10 to Sept. 29; Tillamook Burn, Oct. 1 to Oct. 14; McDonald Forest, Benton County, Oct. 1, 2, 8 and 9.

In deciding to let archers shoot elk, the commission set a minimum 50-pound pull for bows.

Bow hunters will not be required to have permits this year. They have not been serving their purpose and something new is being devised for next year, Denman reported.

Medford took lone command of the Intermediate League in Southern Oregon Junior baseball Friday by nicking Ashland 3 to 2.

The nod left Medford the only unmarred club in the circuit. Ashland, which suffered its first loss, is now in second position.

Friday's mix was a make-up for a tussle originally set for June 28. Ashland defeated Central Point 6 to 2 on July 5. The score was not previously reported.

Games last week ended the first half of play in Intermediate, Cub and Pee Wee circuits.

Grants Pass in Front Grants Pass is unmarred Cub leader and Medford Tigers and Central Point are deadlocked at the top of the Pee Wee southern division heap.

Pee Wee games this Monday are Medford Tigers at Ashland, Central Point at Medford Wildcats and Lone Pine at Jacksonville. On Thursday it will be Wildcats at Lone Pine, Central Point at Tigers and Ashland at Jacksonville.

Intermediate play Tuesday will be Ashland at Lone Pine and Central Point at Medford. In the Cub circuit Ashland goes to Grants Pass on Wednesday.

Chicago Tribune Sports Editor, Arch Ward, Dies

Chicago — (U.P.) — Arch Ward, 58, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune and a member of its state for more than 25 years, died in his sleep Saturday at his home.

Dr. William Rothman, family physician, said he had suffered a coronary thrombosis. He had a heart attack about three years ago, but recently had been in good condition.

Ward, a native of Irwin, Ill., was known for his promotional activities in baseball, football and boxing. He was credited with originating the annual All-Star Game between teams, selected by fans' votes, of the two major leagues.

Set for 1955 Game He had been planning to leave this week end for Milwaukee, where the 1955 version of the popular game is to be held next Tuesday.

The first All-Star Game was

Friday through Monday, Labor day.

Last year the tourney attracted approximately 220 men. Under this year's plan there will be a championship flight of 64 and eight other flights for the first round. Thirty-two was the previous title flight maximum.

No limit has been placed on the total number of women who may enter. The field has averaged around 50 in past tourneys. Men's post entries will be accepted only if the 192 figure is not reached by the August 27 deadline.

Co-Chairmen for the tourney are Bob Lockwood and George Schuler. They conducted their first committee session last Thursday and preparations are now in full swing for the 1955 event.

Dom Provost Jr., now of Portland, and Sue DeVoe, Medford, are defending titlists. Provost, Ashland resident as well as Rogue Valley Country club member at the time of his triumph, defeated Phil Getchell, Medford, 1 up. Miss DeVoe, Medford, had to go to the extra 37th hole to edge Mrs. Richard Borst, Portland.

The tourney is expected, as usual to bring linksmen here from throughout western Oregon and from California and Washington points. Entries of 11 men and six women are already on file, an indication of early interest.

Getchell in Morse Cup Foursome Win

Seattle, Wash. — (U.P.) — California golfers won three of four Scot foursome matches at the Inglewood golf course here Saturday to build up a 3-1 lead at the end of first half competition in the inter-sectional match for the Morse cup.

The amateur golfers will compete cup play today with eight singles matches.

In yesterday's matches Dave McBreath and Cy Pennel (Calif.) defeated Harry Givan and Rod Funseth (NW) 1 up; Tal Smith and Charley Seaver (Calif.) downed Bruce Cudd and Lyle Crawford 1 up and Bob Ross and Dick Gidding (Calif.), defeated Dick Yost and Erv Parent 3 and 2.

Northwest golfers garnered their only point when Phil Getchell and George Beechler, (NW) beat Ernie Peiper and Jack Bariteau 3 and 2.

Olson To Fight In Portland

Portland — Portland Boxing club matchmaker Tommy Moyer is eyeing one of two "big crowd" stadia and one of four "big league" opponents for Bobo Olson, busy middleweight champion of the world, when he fights in Portland for the first time Saturday, August 13.

Moyer — himself former national amateur lightweight champion — is looking for a location that will hold a $75,000 gate. He expects the first appearance of Bobo in the Northwest will attract that large a crowd.

His favorite locations for the bout are Portland's Multnomah stadium — approximately 35,000 capacity — and Portland Meadows racetrack — approximately 25,000 capacity.

The "big league" opponents Moyer is currently dickering with are Kid Gavilan, former welterweight champion; tough Tiger Jones; Sugar Ray Robinson, the comeback kid, and Rocky Castellani, TV tyro.

Moyer anticipates the 10-round, non-title bout — agreed to by Olson and his manager Sid Flaherty — will be the best ever witnessed in Portland.

"Any of the four fighters would give a night's wages to meet Bobo," Moyer said, "with the hope of dumping him and getting a chance at his title in a return bout."

"This fight will be a battle all the way. Olson's a busy fighter and gives fans their money's worth all the way," he added.

Moyer said he scheduled the fight for a Saturday night so that out-of-town fight fans can come to town more easily and spend the week end.

Price of tickets and places where they will be sold will be announced as soon as a site is chosen for the fight.

Tatum Accepts Arizona U. Post

La Grande, Ore. — (U.P.) — Roy A. Tatum, chief football and track coach at Eastern Oregon college of Education for five years, Friday accepted a post as football line coach at the University of Arizona.

Tatum will assist Warren Woodson at Arizona. He is now attending summer session at the University of Oregon at Eugene.

EOCE president Frank B. Bennett said yesterday he knew nothing of Tatum's departure. Athletic director E. R. Quinn said he knew Tatum was considering offers, but thought that he wouldn't leave so close to football season.

When asked about a replacement for football season, Quinn said "I guess I'll have to take over." Quinn has also served as assistant football coach at the college.

Robin Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies ace right-hander, posted his 150th major league victory Saturday as he limited the Pittsburgh Pirates to three hits for a 7-1 triumph.

Now in his eighth major league season with the Phils, Roberts did not walk a man and used only 84 pitches in the nine-inning stretch. The Pirates picked up all their hits in the second inning, then Roberts settled down and retired 22 men in order.

It was Roberts' 13th victory of the season against seven defeats. He aided his own cause with a homer in the eighth inning, while batterymate Andy Seminick also homered in the fourth.

Other National Games In other National League action, the New York Giants turned back the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-2, with the aid of two home runs by Pitcher Jim Hearn, while the Milwaukee Braves whipped the Cincinnati Redlegs, 5-2, for their fifth straight triumph.

In the American League, Bob Turley pitched the New York Yankees to a two-hit 4-0 victory over the Washington Senators; the Boston Red Sox rallied for a 5-4 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles; the Chicago White Sox stopped the Cleveland Indians, 6-0, and the Kansas City Athletics edged the Detroit Tigers, 2-1.

The Giants, bounding back from their disastrous Friday night defeat by the Dodgers, totaled 18 hits against three Brooklyn pitchers. In addition to his two homers, Hearn also added a single in four trips to the plate and knocked in four runs.

Get 14 Hits The Braves, who now trail the Dodgers by 12 games, also went on a hitting rampage against the Redlegs, collecting 14 safeties, including homers by Joe Adcock and Johnny Logan. Ray Crone allowed Cincinnati only six hits in pitching the sixth straight complete game for the Braves.

Turley had a no-hitter going against the Senators until the sixth inning when Pete Runnels singled to center. Clint Courtney followed with the only other hit off the Yankee hulking right-handed. It was the 16th shutout suffered by the Senators this season.

The Red Sox fought a stubborn uphill battle against the Orioles before emerging with their 13th victory in their last 15 games. Boston scored two runs in the fifth to tie the score at 4-4, then picked up its winning run in the eighth on a triple by Sammy White and a single by Grady Hatton.

Connie Johnson, recalled from Toronto 10 days ago, outdueled Early Wynn in pitching the White Sox to their shutout victory over the Indians who now trail New York by five games. Johnson allowed only six hits and struck out 12 men. Wynn, who suffered his fourth defeat against 11 victories, gave up all the White Sox' runs before he was relieved by Bob Feller in the fifth inning.

Jim Finigan's eighth-inning single scored Vic Power from third base and carried the Athletics to their squeaker over the Tigers. Al Dittmar gave up seven hits in collecting his fifth victory of the season, while Frank Lary was charged with his 10th defeat.

In the only night action, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, on Stan Musial's grand-slam home run in the sixth inning. Chicago's runs also came on homers by Hank Sauer and Jim King.

Klamath Falls Asks To Enter Northwest Loop

Spokane — (U.P.) — President O. E. (Babe) Hollingberry of the Northwest baseball league has predicted the league will have eight teams next year.

He said he had applications from three cities which wish to field teams in the class B circuit next spring.

He did not name the cities but the United Press learned that Tacoma, Wash., Missoula, Mont., and Klamath Falls, Ore., have applied for league membership.

Hollingberry said the seven team schedule had worked out better than anticipated this season and that the league generally was "in good shape."

NFL Giants Start Training July 21

New York — (U.P.) — Jim Lee Howell, coach of the New York Football Giants, said Saturday he will have 14 men bidding for nine halfback berths when the team begins training at Salem, Ore., July 21.

Most of the National Football League clubs, which are limited by rule to 33 players, carry four offensive halfbacks, four defensive backs and a ninth player who can play either way.

Frank Gifford, former USC star, and Kyle Rotz of Southern Methodist are the offensive regulars from last year who are returning. Buford Long of Florida and Wayne Berry of Washington State, both of whom saw some action on both offense and defense last year, also will be back.
