

Partnership Dams Claim Contested By PP&L Official

Portland — (U.P.) — Paul B. McKee, president of Pacific Power and Light company, late Friday contested claims by Oregon's two U. S. senators that appropriations for Northwest dams by a joint congressional public works committee marked the "death" of partnership power proposals in the area.

"Emphasize Need" — Senate appropriations for Northwest power development amount to only about one-third of the region's full requirements," McKee said, "and actually emphasize the urgent need for partnership action."

McKee, president of the Northwest's largest private power company, said "any claims that these appropriations eliminate the need for local participation in the power financing problem is completely unrealistic."

A House - Senate conference committee Thursday appropriated $1,000,000 to start work on Ice Harbor dam on the Snake river near Pasco, Wash., $500,000 in construction funds for Cougar dam and $310,000 for Hills Creek dam, both of which would be located in the Willamette basin in Oregon.

Democratic Senators Wayne L. Morse and Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon hailed the action as sounding the death knell for partnership development of the area.

The compromise public works measure, containing the appropriations, now goes before both the House and Senate for final approval.

Monmouth, Ore. — (U.P.) — State Democratic Chairman Howard Morgan, speaking from his ranch here Friday, credited a Democratic congress and the hard work of Sens. Richard Neuberger, Wayne Morse and Rep. Edith Green for congressional action on appropriations for northwest projects.

"Once again," Morgan asserted "a Democratic congress, this time ignoring a Republican president, has voted a new start in the northwest."

"These facts speak louder than words," he said.

Portland Woman Loses $4,000 in Con Game

Portland — (U.P.) — The classic "pigeon drop" game claimed another victim here Friday—this time a 76-year-old housewife who was bilked of $4,000 life savings.

Two unknown women approached Mrs. Julia Marciannelli, wife of a retired grocer, and offered to split an envelope containing "several thousand dollars" with her if she would put up some money of her own as a "sign of good faith."

Mrs. Marciannelli withdrew four crisp $1,000 bills and handed them to the women. They promptly disappeared.

Vets Affairs Chief Receives Citation

Salem — (U.P.) — H. C. Saalfeld, director of the State Department of Veterans Affairs, returned Friday from Ocean Lake with a citation for the department, presented to him by the 34th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, currently in convention at the coast city.

The citation commends Saalfeld and the department for fair administration of the World War II Veterans' bonus program and for patriotic services "of benefit to war veterans and the community."

Oil Being Removed From Ship Aground In Columbia River

Astoria — (U.P.) — An oil barge was alongside the grounded freighter Santa Adela in the Yonings Bay mud flats Saturday emptying the Grace Line vessel of some 200 tons of bunker oil. Another effort to lighten the freighter was scheduled for later, when Astoria longshoremen were to begin unloading general cargo, which consisted generally of flour.

Wedged in Mud
The vessel went hard aground Thursday, and remained firmly wedged in the mud near the mouth of the Columbia river despite efforts by the tug Salvage Chie to free her.

The Chief's skipper, Fred Devine, indicated a fresh attempt to free the vessel would be made at high tide this afternoon if her cargo had been lightened enough.

The coast guard cutter Yacona was to help in the operations. The vessel, en route to Central and South American ports, went aground as she attempted to put out to sea from Astoria Thursday.
