On The Side

By E. V. DURLING
(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Tip banditry continues to increase. Why can't a waiter take your order for both food and drink and handle the service for himself? In many places he does. However, in others, a sauve, unpleasantly servile captain of waiters writes your order on a slip and hands it to the waiter. Your cocktail order is given to another waiter. And so what? You are made liable for three separate tips. Even if you tip your waiter 20 per cent of the check, the captain of waiters and the coctail waiter will give you nasty looks if you don't grease their palms.

Among the Married

Most arguments between husband and wife start at breakfast. The discussion usually originates over something trival and frequently develops into a serious disagreement. For example, a London couple started a breakfast argument over a cracked teapot. One word led to another until the husband rose from the table in a rage, put on his hat, slammed the door and went out. The wife cooled down shortly after and was sorry for what she had said. So she prepared a wonderful dinner for her spouse. All his favorite dishes. However, she waited in vain for him to come home. He had enlisted in the French Foreign Legion for five years! Call this to the attention of your wife. Good men willing to bear the burdens of matrimony are hard to find. To be on the safe side, and avoid agruments at the morning meal, it might be wise for your wife to bring you your breakfast in bed.

Sidelights

The world's smallest television set, owned by Lawrence White of Surrey, England, has a screen that measures one and three quarter inches by one one and a half inches . . . Clem McCarthy, vice president of The Circle to the Square Association of Bathtub Singers of Manhattan has added two numbers to his program. One is the touching ditty titled "There's a Tear in My Beer Tonight."

Record

What's the largest lobster you have ever seen? Largest ever caught weighed 34 pounds and measured 23¾ inches from nose to tail. Boy, that was really a large lobster. Even larger than the one Jim Duffy, the Sheepshead Bay fishing genius, says got away from him.

Get It Right

A drama scribe discussing a former actress says she was in the cast of the musical comedy "Flora Dora." Thus giving the impression the piece was about a girl named Flora Dora. Some of these Johnny-come-latelys should study the history of the drama. The name of the piece was Floro-dora." It was not the name of a girl but that of an island in the Philippines.

Asking

Queries from clients. Q. Was Evelyn Nesbit the original "Gibson Girl?" A. No, sir. However, Evelyn did pose for Gibson's celebrated "Question Mark" picture . . . O. After a period of exercise under my supervision my wife's measurements are height, 5 feet 6; bust, 38; waist, 24 and hips, 37. How is she going to look in a bathing suit? A. Your matrimonial mate will unquestionably present a superb appearance in her swim suit.

Please Note

How many church members are there in the United States? That is something every young man in the editorial, writing or entertainment fields should know. The answer is about 95,000,000! This makes understandable the success achieved by films based on Biblical tales. Incidentally, there have been some outstanding records made in the sale of phonograph recordings of hymns and other religious songs.
