

2 Brooklyn Rookies Impressive In Debuts; Yanks Continue Skid

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

It was 92.8 degrees on the mound at Ebbets Field but it was like Christmas morning in the Brooklyn Dodgers' dugout when Manager Walt Alston unwrapped rookie pitchers Roger Craig and Don Bessent.

Thrown into action shortly after their arrivals from Montreal and St. Paul, the two 24-year-old righthanders came through with splendid major league debuts that enabled the Dodgers to whip the Cincinnati Redlegs, 6-2 and 8-5. Their performances not only helped the Dodgers maintain their 12½ game lead but gave Alston's sore-arm plagued staff a dramatic respite.

When Alston finally put in the emergency call to General Manager Buzzy Bavasi for mound help from the minors, the Dodgers' staff had dwindled to three able-bodied performers and their National League rivals were beginning to hope they could yet be over-hauled.

Craig, a native of Durham, N. C., who had a 10-2 record at Montreal, turned in a glittering three-hitter in the opener backed by an attack that included Duke Snider's 31st homer in addition to circuit blows by Gil Hodges, Carl Furillo and Peeewe Reese. Craig walked five batters but he struck out six, yielded only one earned run and didn't permit a hit after the second inning.

Bessent, who hails from Jacksonville, Fla., and had a 6-3 mark for St. Paul, pitched six hit free for eight innings before he tired and Ed Roebuck was summoned from the bullpen to lock things up. The Dodgers had scored six runs with the aid of three Cincinnati errors in the fourth inning and added another pair in the seventh before the Redlegs started to hit Bessent.

Yanks Lead Dwindles

The American League race, meanwhile, continued to tighten up when the Chicago White Sox drubbed the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2 and 5-4, and moved to within a game and a half of the first-place New York Yankees. The White Sox now have won seven straight games — equalling the longest winning streaks of the year in the American League.

The Yankees dropped their ninth decision in 13 games when Earl Torgeson stole home while Bob Turley slept to give the Detroit Tigers a 6-5, 10-inning triumph. The Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 6-5, after losing the opener, 6-0, so the White Sox picked up ground on all three counts.

Frank Shea pitched a three-hitter in his first start of the season to give the Washington Senators a 4-0 win over the Kansas City Athletics in the other American League contest.

The Milwaukee Braves scored five unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat the New York Giants, 8-7, and then got nine-hit pitching from Chet Nichols to win the second game, 3-1. Joe Adcock hit two homers for the Braves and Del Crandall one in the opener to negate Wes Westrum's six runs batted in.

The Philadelphia Phillies handed the Chicago Cubs their sixth straight loss, 12-11, but trailed, 5-4, when the nightcap was suspended in the seventh inning. And the St. Louis Cardinals led, 1-0, behind Harvey Haddix when their second game was suspended in the eighth after they beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-8, in the opener of their doubleheader.

Dick Yost Triumphs In PGA Final Match

Seattle — (U.P.) — The Pacific Northwest Golf Association championship reposed at home in the Northwest today after Seattle's and Portland's Dick Yost turned back a strong threat that would have taken the title to California.

Yost swept four straight holes near the end of the 36-hole championship match at Inglewood Country Club here yesterday to defeat Bobby Roos, San Mateo, Calif., 4 and 2.

The two finalists were all tied up at the end of 27 holes. On the final nine, Roos started strong and took two of the first three holes for a one-point lead.

But Yost, who also won the PPGA crown in 1953, caught hold of his game at the 30th and took the next four holes to cinch the title again.

Yost got to the finals Saturday by defeating Phil Getchell of Medford, Ore., one-up when Roos downed Tal Smith, another Californian, 2 and 1.

Ruth Jassen of Seattle won the women's title Saturday with a 3 and 2 victory over Carole Jo Kabler of Sutherlin, the Oregon women's champion.

Jack Kelly Captures 4th Straight Oar Toga

Philadelphia — (U.P.) — Jack Kelly Jr. and the Vesper Boat club of Philadelphia were back on top in rowing today with successful defenses of their titles in the 83rd annual national rowing championships.

Kelly, U.S. and Canadian singles sculling champion and brother of movie star Grace Kelly, won his fourth straight title on the Schuylkill river Sunday by covering the 2,000 meter distance in 7:39. He beat Pat Costello of the Detroit Boat Club by two lengths.

Vesper, trailing in points throughout the two day competition, surged into the lead by virtue of its victory in the last event, the Julius H. Barnes Trophy for the third successive year.

Studs Whack Chiefs In Series 6-1, 11-2; Black Sox Lengthen

Jack Cooney's debut as a Southern Oregon Baseball league team manager got impressive support as the Medford Cheney Studs whacked Roseburg 6 to 1 Saturday night and 11 to 2 Sunday afternoon to pull into a fourth place deadlock in the semi-pro chase.

Medford hurlers held the Chiefs to four hits in each of the two games. Warren Noyes went the route Saturday and Terry Maddox got relief by Derald Wooton Sunday. In the hitting department Cooney and Wooton were the heavy guns, batting in all the runs Saturday and piling up the most RBIs for the series, four and five, respectively.

In the meantime Drain fortified its league leadership by pasting Grants Pass 7 to 3 and 9 to 1. Coquille lost ground but kept in second spot by dividing with Bend. The coast area club thrashed the Central Oregonians 24 to 4 on Saturday. Bend was victorious 11 to 4 yesterday. Bandon had a league bye.

The Cheney Studs got first inning jumps in both its games. Cooney homered after Ed McCullough singled and Jack Fassett walked in the opening panel of the first game. That gave Cooney three RBIs, the same total Derald Wooton picked up in the game.

Winders Homered

McCullough got on base on an error in the third inning but was forced out by Fassett. Cooney walked and Wooton singled home Fassett. In the eighth Cooney walked and Maddox doubled and Wooton's safety brought in two runs. Les Winders homered for Roseburg's lone marker in the second inning.

Noyes whiffed 12 Chief batters. Eight walks given up did him no harm.

Maddox, Derald Wooton, Larry Bigham and Bob Selsor all drove in two runs in the Sunday fray. A walk, error, triple by Maddox and singles by Cooney and Dick Wooton accounted for four runs in the opening frame. Derald Wooton doubled and Dick Wooton and Larry Bigham singled for one run in the third canto.

In the seventh panel Medford piled up six counters. There were singles by Cooney, Dick and Derald Wooton, Ron Maurer and Selsor. Bigham and Fassett contributed sacrifice flies. A walk, hit batter and error figured in.

An error and Waldrop's triple nesday night foe for Medford. Roseburg won't be able to get a team together to come as was originally slated.

Coquille 000 001 021-4 8 5
Bend 014 110 312-11 13 1
Lehl, Mohler (4), Mellette (7) and Garner; Pearce and Lovejoy.

got a first inning marker for Roseburg. His single and three walks given up by Maddox forced in the other Chief tally in the fourth. A force out at home and a superbly executed play, Shoristop Selsor to Second Baseman Fassett to First Baseman Cooney, got the side out in the fourth after Derald Wooton went to the mound in relief.

Maddox in three innings plus yielded two hits and three walks and struck out two men. Wooton gave two hits and walked one. He fanned five.

Selsor's deep fielding stop of Johnny Farrell's rap in the seventh inning and throw to first for the putout was the fielding gem of the day. He had his back to the base when he started the throw and hit Cooney's glove at first with hardly a look at the base.

Business Manager Bill Askwith is now looking for a Wednesday night foe for Medford.

SUDS FOAM INTO LEAD IN COAST LOOP ACTION; BEAVERS, ANGELS SPLIT

By DON THACKERY
United Press Sports Writer

The hopped-up Seattle Rainiers foamed to head of the Pacific Coast League yesterday by collaring Oakland twice while San Diego went flat before the San Francisco Seals.

The Suds bottled up Oakland's hitting power and won, 4-2 and 3-2, at the same time that San Francisco was shaking up San Diego, 5-1 and 9-5. It left Seattle
