

Patterson, Langlie Seen in Senate Bid; Ike Seen as Candidate

Portland—(U.P.)—Gov. Robert Smylie of Idaho Friday night predicted that President Eisenhower would seek a second term in the White House and, at the same time, hinted at the U. S. Senate candidacies of Gov. Paul Patterson of Oregon and Gov. Arthur Langlie of Washington.

The three governors shared the rostrum at a $100-a-plate dinner here before more than 500 persons representing the hard core of Oregon Republicans. Careers Lauded
The youthful Idaho executive paid tribute to the careers of Patterson and Langlie and added that he "felt certain" that when the call came for them to do more for their country that they would be willing and ready.

The largest crowd of Republicans ever to attend a fund-raising dinner in Oregon applauded when Smylie declared that "the politicians of the left forget that it is not the Republican party but the American people who need President Eisenhower."

Gov. Langlie chided Oregonians for what he called their weaknesses in the last congressional campaign when the state sent two Democrats to Congress. "But let me assure you," he said, "the rest of the country is suffering with you."

Langlie said there was a strong, reasonable chance that the federal budget would be balanced by the Eisenhower administration next year and he asserted Democratic candidates would be rejected because the party's "only political gimmick" was free spending.

Unemployment Said Cut
Gov. Patterson challenged the state GOP to go on the offensive, pointing to what he said were the "real and actual" gains in the American standard of living since Eisenhower's election.

He said the Republican administration had reduced unemployment to its lowest rate, percentage-wise, ever achieved in times of peace.

Presiding at the dinner in the main ballroom of the Multnomah Hotel was Elmo Smith, John Day, president of the Oregon Senate. He said the slogan for the GOP in Oregon during the coming campaign would be "No More in '56."

Central Point Fire District Awards Truck Contracts

Central Point — The Central Point Rural Fire Protection district board Friday night awarded a contract to American LaFrance Foamite corporation of Elmira, N.Y., to furnish a White City fire station a 1,000 gallon per minute pumper.

The pumper, complete with accessory equipment, costs $21,155. American LaFrance also was awarded a contract to furnish 2,500 feet of 2½-inch fire hose and 2,000 feet of 1½-inch hose for $6,400.

Other Awards
Coast Apparatus incorporated of Concord, Calif., was awarded a contract to furnish a 1,000 gallon tank truck for $7,681, and the Capital Fire Equipment company of Sacramento, Calif., was awarded a contract to furnish 20 turnout coats, 20 helmets and several special hose gaskets for $661.80.

The White City fire station, at the corner of Agate st. and Avenue G, was authorized by residents of the district when they approved the 1955-56 budget. The building and land are being furnished by the White City Realty company.

Land has been cleared for the building, and construction is expected to start soon. Officials of the realty company said the building probably will be completed within three months so it will be ready when equipment arrives.

RODEO GRAND PRIZE—High-point cowboy in the 13th annual Rogue River Roundup will be awarded the saddle shown above, donated again this year by Evert Gibson, of Gibson's Saddlery, Medford. The Roundup will be held next weekend. Gibson, in addition to making and donating the trophy saddle for the past two years, has been of assistance to the sponsoring Jackson County Mounted Sheriff's posse, as his place of business has been a sort of unofficial headquarters for many of the contestants. Gibson is a former roper, and is well-known in the rodeo circuit.

13th Annual Roundup Of Sheriff's Posse Slated on Week End

The 13th annual Rogue River Roundup, under the sponsorship of the Jackson County Mounted Sheriff's Posse, is next week end, July 29, 30 and 31, at the posse grounds on Sage rd., west of Medford, according to Leonard Wash, general chairman.

The Roundup will include night shows Friday and Saturday and a day show Sunday. A western horseman's parade Friday at 4 p.m. will mark the beginning of the three days of activities, Ward said.

The grand entry and rodeo will open the show at the posse grounds at 7:30 p.m. that night. Another parade, featuring horsemen, floats, and heavy equipment, will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday in downtown Medford.

Earl Miller, mayor of Medford, has proclaimed the week of July 25 as "Rogue River Roundup Week," citing the "time, effort and skill" the posse has contributed to Jackson county.

He pointed out that the unit is non-profit, is "designed as an auxiliary to the county sheriff, pledged to uphold the law of our commonwealth and to serve in times of emergency or disaster," in inviting residents of Medford and Jackson county to "join with the posse" in the celebration.

Prizes totaling more than $700 will be given to the cowboys and cowgirls taking first, second, third or fourth place in any of the six main events. Bronc riding, calf roping, bull riding, bareback bronc riding, bull dogging and saddled steer riding are the featured events. Top prize for the contestants will be a Gibson saddle presented to the all-around cowboy winning the most points. Prizes will be decided on a 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent basis. Entries for all events close at 6 p.m., July 28, Ward added.

Ward announced the addition of new quarter-mile stockhorse races to the program. Three races will be held Sunday afternoon. They will be for cowboys, cowgirls, and junior riders, separately. Another attraction of the Roundup will be chuck wagon "buckaroo breakfasts" staged by members of the junior posse both Saturday and Sunday morning between 7 and 11 a.m. at the grounds.

Ward, general chairman of the show committee, will be aided by Jim Henry, advertisement; J. F. Christian, grounds; J. J. Finegan, tickets; Glen Martin, publicity; Manuel Liebman, queen and court; Tom Whittle, decorating; E. R. Cox, headquarters; and Tony Boitano, parade.

Posse officers working on the annual event are Jim Henry, captain; Harold Hulse, first lieutenant; Frank Christian, first lieutenant; and Homer Chamberlin, second lieutenant.

Rodeo stock will again be furnished by Don Miller, French Glenn, Oregon.

Blue Moon Accounts

By J. HUGH PRUETT
Astronomer, Extension Division Oregon Higher Education System

Last week we discussed blue moons in general and described two such phenomena the writer had witnessed. Today we give accounts from some readers who have sent in their observations: "When I read Harold Bell Wright's Winning of Barbara Worth, I thought his description of the blue moon was likely fiction. But later I saw the same phenomenon in approximately the same place and probably under the same circumstances." (From Spokane, Wash.)

"I have twice seen a blue moon, in Venezuela in 1919 and in British Columbia in 1939. In both cases it was midsummer." (From Wisconsin.)

"Several months ago in the Aleutian Islands I observed a blue moon on a clear night in October. I wondered if it wasn't from volcanic action." (From an army private.)

"In 1928 some friends and I sailed the yacht Red Riding Hood from England to British Honduras. When five days out from Bridgeton, Barbados, we saw a green moon. It was early April." (From Hollyburn, B.C.)

Seen Over Lake
"I observed a blue moon about 1954. The moon was rising from the Cascade Mountains in front of which was a large mountain lake." (From Monroe, Wash.)

W. T. Lathrop, meteorologist, U.S. Weather Bureau, retired, wrote as follows: "This occurred in the early 30s when I was in charge of the work in Yellowstone National Park. My impression is that when the blue effect was first noticed, the moon was about 45 degrees high. . . . The sky carried a strong suggestion of blue, a pale, weird, steely blue. I saw the blue moon for about 45 minutes.

"If I were going to try to rope it out now, I would run over the possibilities of its having been a polarization effect. I never did figure out any satisfactory explanation at the time, nor since. There was some discussion of this blue moon with friends—but just as little as I could manage. The 'why' of the unusual is always asked, entailing a response that in this case I was unprepared to give. I never did like to create a fog around something I was expected to know."

Cones Reverse Process

R. C. Stroud of Seattle offered this: "Psychology reveals the after-image to be the complementary color of any color which has strongly affected the color perception of the eye. The cones seem to reverse their process, and after staring at an orange sky for a while the eyes seem to see a blue cloud if they are turned on a white screen. The redder the sky, the more green would the after-image be in complement. This accounts for the chap whose moon was more green than blue."

More Salk Vaccine Shipments Ordered

New York —(U.P.)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has ordered 1,104,636 doses of Salk vaccine shipped to 13 states.

The vaccine previously was cleared by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The shipments raised to 35 the number of states for which enough vaccine to complete second shots has been authorized. Under the order, Michigan will receive 153,408 cubic centimeters of polio vaccine. This was authorized to supplement an early shipment of second-shot vaccine to the state.

The 12 other states were to receive their first shipments of vaccine for second shots: Washington, 8,000; New York, 455,211; Indiana, 120,000; Connecticut, 101,007; Colorado, 90,000; Nebraska, 60,003; Rhode Island, 30,006; Tennessee, 21,528; North Dakota, 19,008; Vermont, 17,145; and Pennsylvania, 11,313.

A cubic centimeter of vaccine is enough for one shot.

Mamie Praised for Dresses at Geneva

New York —(U.P.)—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower has won the praise of New York fashion experts for wearing her everyday Washington dresses during the Geneva "Summit" conference.

A spokesman for the New York Dress Institute, representing some of the nation's most expensive dressmakers, said the First Lady gave a "sermon in common sense and economy" by refusing to buy a new wardrobe for the trip.

"Most of us, with the prospect of a trip ahead, rush out madly and buy a new wardrobe, or at least a new outfit," the spokesman said, "but not our Mamie."

Judging from the dresses in which Mrs. Eisenhower has been photographed at Geneva, she is happily wearing all the dresses she ordered last spring, the Institute reported.

103,000,000 Citizens Have Life Insurance

More than 103,000,000 Americans have some type of life insurance, according to figures reports latest figures of the National Standard's managers, recently released by the home office of the Beneficial Standard Life Insurance Company.

Jerome Trepel, one of Beneficial's safety council indicate the continually increasing hazards of accidents to people of all ages.

Trepel added that the soaring costs of hospital service and surgery have created a situation where it is almost a disaster for an American family if one of them needs such medical care.
