

Faber Scans Loop Rules On Protests

A counter argument from the Cheney Study Business Manager Bill Askwith has been received by Donald E. Faber, Southern Oregon Baseball league president, along with Grants Pass Manager Mel Ingram's protest of the Elks' Saturday night game with the Medford nine.

Faber said yesterday that he is studying the league by-laws regarding game protests. He expects to discuss the matter with Umpires Virgil Swanson and Darrell Copeland on Wednesday night. A decision on the protest may be reached shortly thereafter.

The issue arose in the fifth inning of the game when GP Hurler Bob Reid was throwing wide pitches to intentionally walk Medford's Derald Wooton. On the fourth toss Umpire Swanson ruled that Catcher Bob Smith stepped out of the narrow confines of his box before the ball left Reid's hand. Therefore, a balk was charged against Reid.

Considerable Squawk
The infraction allowed Medford's Jack Cooney to score from third base and another base runner, Terry Maddox, to go to third. Since it was a fourth wide pitch, Wooton went to first base. There was considerable squawking but the protest did not come until after play had been resumed. And in the protest the balk was not disputed. Ingram contended instead that Wooton should not have been allowed to remain on first base. He maintained that the ball was dead and that the count was still three balls on the Medford batter.

Although Catcher Smith was called for stepping out of the box, the balk was charged to Reid under the rule that a pitcher is not to throw the ball when the catcher is out of his box.

Metro Replaces Player on Shrine Grid Mix Roster

Portland — A change in the Metropolitan team roster for the eighth annual Shriners' hospital all star football game, scheduled for August 20 in Multnomah stadium here, has been announced by Eugene W. Ferguson, deputy police chief of Portland and the game's managing director.

Ferguson said he had been advised that Bob Grant, Beaverton end, would be unable to participate in the game and that Head Coach Tom DeSylvia of the Metros had selected Morris Arnston of Portland's Cleveland high as his replacement.

Arnston stands 6 feet, 2 inches and weighs 225 pounds. DeSylvia said Arnston played tackle for Cleveland last year and will alternate at tackle and end for the Metros.

Meanwhile preparations for the annual gridiron classic continued to move ahead of schedule, and the advanced sale of reserved seats was still well in front of the same time a year ago, Ferguson reported. Choice seats are still available and can be obtained by writing Shriners' All Star Football headquarters, Masonic temple, 1119 Southwest Park ave., Portland.

50 Marching Units
Chet Duncan, director of the hour-long pageant preceding the kick-off, reported that approximately 50 musical and marching units will take part in the colorful pre-game festivity. Nearly 2,000 persons, all in uniform, will be on the field.

The units come from all parts of Oregon and Washington, traveling here at their own expense to take part in the pageant, which has become one of the most popular features of the game.

The contest pits outstanding 1954 senior performers of Portland area high schools against the best 1954 seniors from high schools throughout the state. The State squad will be coached by Lee Gustafson who piloted South Salem to a tie for the state grid title last year. He will be assisted by Dutch Kawasoe of Vale and Fred Spiegelberg of Medford.

Six Stars Honored At Fame Hall

Cooperstown, N.Y. —(U.P.)—This little lakeside town where a Civil War general is said to have founded the game of baseball settled back into its quiet way of life today, leaving the normal stream of tourists to examine six shiny new plaques in baseball's Hall of Fame.

The plaques honor the six all-time stars of the diamond who were officially inducted into the Hall in Monday's colorful ceremonies — Joe DiMaggio, Ted Lyons, Dazzy Vance, Gabby Hartnett, Frank (Home Run) Baker, and Ray Schalk.

All six of the new members were on hand for the ceremonies, as well as baseball's highest officials.

At their conclusion, the annual major-league exhibition game was played at the field named for Gen. Abner Doubleday with the Boston Red Sox beating the Milwaukee Braves 4-2, as Ted Williams and Ted Lepcio hit homers to pace Boston's attack. Dick Brodowski pitched the full nine innings for Boston, allowing nine hits.

DiMaggio, at 40 the youngest man ever inducted into the Hall and therefore the most familiar to present-day fans, stole the show at the induction ceremonies with his brief speech.

The former star centerfielder of the New York Yankees concluded: "This is a happy day for me. The last chapter has been written. I can now close the book."

Lyons, who won 260 games in his 21 years as a Chicago White Sox pitcher, said, "This is the greatest thing that can happen to a ball player after he ends his career."

Lewiston Keeps NW Loop Lead

By UNITED PRESS
Lewiston hammered three homers good for eight runs and first place in the Northwest league last night in taking Spokane 11-3.

Manager Hillis Layne homered in the first with one aboard, Ralph Rose belted a grand-slam homer in the fifth and Gabby Williams smacked the other homer in the eighth with one aboard.

Lewiston's victory coupled with Tri-City's 3-0 triumph over Eugene moved Lewiston to the top of the seven-team circuit one-half game ahead of Eugene.

Vern Kindsfater hurled a neat three-hitter and his mates got him three runs in the fifth to salt away the decision. Gene Klingler's walk, singles by Don Pries and Danny Holden and Duane Helbig's double accounted for two of the Tri-City runs and the third crossed on a sacrifice fly by Tom Perez.

Salem produced a 13-hit attack good for a 10-6 triumph over Wenatchee. A four-run sixth inning got the eventual winning run across and Mel Krause added two insurance runs in the seventh with a homer with one on.

Chuck Lundgren of Wenatchee homered in the fourth with nobody aboard and in the fifth with two runners on.

Dead line Sunday. Classified in at noon Saturday, 10 a.m. Monday for Monday; other days 5:30 previous day.

Linkslady Cards Nest in One Here

Clayton Lewis, Rogue Valley Country club divoter, thought he came up with a considerable accomplishment Sunday when he won the closest to the pin contest in a team match against Eugene.

But he just couldn't quite outdo his wife, Martha, who was on the course at the same time. While her husband got only a near hole-in-one, she claimed an ace and a birdie at the same time.

Lewis came within four inches of plunking in his tee shot on the 15th hole, Mrs. Lewis teed off on 14 and lost her ball in a tree. A hunt on the ground failed to produce the ball. So, Mrs. Lewis's caddy climbed up in the tree. He spotted a white pellet in a bird's nest. It was the lost ball—not an egg.

If it had been the right kind of nest, Mrs. Lewis could have claimed an eagle along with a bird and a nest-in-one.

Lundberg Signs With Portland As Catcher

Portland —(U.P.)—Don Lundberg has agreed to help solve some of the catching woes of the Portland Beavers.

Lundberg signed up yesterday to help out Jimmy Robertson, who has been shouldered with the catching burden because of a fractured finger that probably will keep Sam Calderone out of action for the rest of the season. Lundberg, formerly with Portland, has been playing with Baker in the Tri-State League.

Oregonians To Football Hall of Fame

New Brunswick, N.J. —(U.P.)—Sixteen former college football players and five coaches were enshrined in the sport's Hall of Fame today, raising the number thus honored to 127.

Leading the way in this year's balloting, the third since the Hall of Fame was founded at Rutgers university in 1949, were Cliff Battles, West Virginia Wesleyan quarterback, 1929-31; Beatrice Feathers, University of Tennessee back, 1931-33; Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian quarterback, 1936-38 and coaches Bernie Bierman, Minnesota, Montana, Tulane and Mississippi and Wallace Wade, Vanderbilt, Alabama and Duke.

Election to the Hall of Fame is made on a basis of All-American teams, plus the recommendations of coaches, athletic directors, players, sports writers and other individuals connected with the sport. Players are eligible if they have been out of college for 10 years, while coaches are considered only if they have been retired for three years.

Chicago —(U.P.)—Taylor Sanford, coach of NCAA baseball champion Wake Forest, has been chosen "Coach of the Year" by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches. Charles Maher of Western Michigan college was runnerup in the balloting.

Harris, Barker, Mansfield Win Tennis Trophies

Mary Kay Harris, Jane Barker and David Mansfield won championships in the tournament which concluded the summer tennis program of the Medford city school system.

Miss Harris was victor and Pat Barnes runner-up in the junior girls bracket and Miss Barker champ among senior girls. David Dunn was runner-up to Mansfield in boys play.

Winners received trophies from Lamport's and Sam's Sporting Goods stores and Warren Brenner, instructor for the summer program.

Brenner reported that 51 boys and girls in the school district attended the classes. There were four sessions of one hour each five days a week for five weeks. Three weeks of intensive instruction were followed by a two weeks tourney.

The Dalles, Roseburg Vie For Legion Title

Portland —(U.P.)—The Dalles and Roseburg will square off for the state American Legion Junior baseball title in best three out-of-five series starting Sunday night at Roseburg, Legion officials said today.

The two teams will play at Roseburg again Monday night and the rest of the series will be played at The Dalles.

Dead line Sunday. Classified in at noon Saturday, 10 a.m. Monday for Monday; other days 5:30 previous day.

Middlecoff, Ford In PGA Finals Today

Northville, Mich. —(U.P.)—Cary Middlecoff took aim today on the only major U.S. golf title he never has won and, Doug Ford, his opponent in the 36-hole PGA championship match, was shooting for the title in his first try.

They gained the final round Monday by identical scores of 4 and 3. Middlecoff turned back Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Ford brushed aside blond Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N.Y.

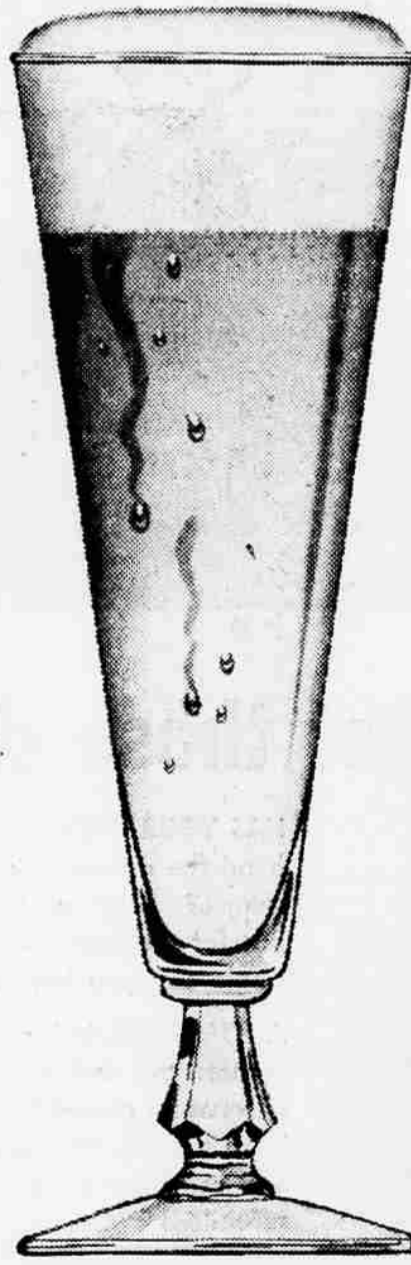

So today these two par-shattering golfers, who both play out of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., met in the match which means more to the pros than any other championship, although the first place money is only $5,000. But the cash value of it goes far beyond that in endorsements, sporting goods manufacturers' affiliations and exhibitions, more than triple that golfing jackpot.

Both of them found the key to their victories on the par five 507-yard 17th hole of the Meadowbrook Country Club course. Both of them eeked the hole to go 1 up. From that point in, it was easy.

Philadelphia —(U.P.)— Temple University athletic director Josh Cody has announced the appointment of Ben Kish, former Philadelphia Eagles fullback, and Cliff Ricum and Carmen Picone, former Temple players, to the school's football staff.
