Van Cuyk Hurls No-No Victory for Oakland; Beavers, Pads Divide

By PETER HAYES
United Press Sports Writer

Chris Van Cuyk's no-hit, no-run game featured a flock of brilliant southpaw pitching performances in the Pacific Coast League last night.

The giant Oakland left hander turned in the third PCL no-hitter in the past week in beating Los Angeles, 2-0, in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader.

The Oaks also took the nightcap, 3-1. Lefty Fred Besana allowed only three hits in the 7 2/3 innings he worked but began to tire and Al Gettel finished up, allowing only one hit.

Sacramento's Bud Daley would have had a no-hitter if, like Van Cuyk, he had been pitching a seven-inning game. The rookie pitcher yielded his first and only hit in the eighth inning—a single by Vern Stephens—as the Solons scored an 8-0 win over league-leading Seattle.

Beavers, Pads Split
Portland lefty Royce Lint blanked San Diego, 2-0, but San Diego came back to win the second game of the doubleheader, 4-1, behind tight pitching by Cal McLish, only right hander to post a win in last night's six games.

Roger Bowman southpawed Hollywood to a six-hit, 2-1 victory over San Francisco but Seal Manager Tommy Heath announced he would protest the win.

The Stars scored the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning when Jackie Lohrke scored on Curt Roberts' sacrifice fly. The Seals believed Lohrke failed to tag up before the catch and when they tried to find the ball to put him out, umpire Emmett Ashford admitted he couldn't find it.

Heath said he was protesting the game because the ball was not available to his team.

In Emeryville, the 6 ft., 6 in., 220-pound Van Cuyk (4-5) followed the no-hit lead of George Singleton of Seattle. Only two Angels reached base off Van Cuyk. Gale Wade on a base on balls in the first inning and Jim Fanning on Russ Rose's error in the third.

George Metkovich's two run homer in the third inning provided the 28-year-old pitcher his victory margin.

Daley Hurls Best
Daley turned in his best job of the season in Seattle, walking only one and fanning four to gain his 15th win against 10 defeats with the last place Solons. Sacramento backed him with an 11-hit assault against Ewell Blackwell (2-3) and John Oldham.

San Diego's split with Portland helped the second place Padres reduce Seattle's lead to 3 1/2 games.

Lefties Will Start for Studs In Jack Tilts Opening Tonight

Two left-handers on the pitching staff of the Medford Cheney Studs are likely starters for the Southern Oregon League team's non-loop series tonight and Thursday night with the potent independent Lumberjacks from Coos Bay-North Bend.

Manager Jack Cooney has indicated that he'll call on Marv Scherpf and Jim Kelly as starting tossers with the Cheney right-handers, Terry Maddox and Derald Wooton, to be summoned if relief is required.

Games will be at 8 o'clock both nights.

The Lumberjacks rate as at least one of the strongest clubs the Studs will face this season. And they may well prove the strongest. The powerful combination of ex-pro and ex-collegiate players comes here with a fine record of 22 wins against seven losses for the season.

High Ranked
For the past two years the Jacks have been playing a strictly independent slate. Their non-league status, however, did not keep them from being rated as the strongest semi-pro or near-professional, aggregation in Oregon.

Sugar Ray Rated No. 3 By Magazine

New York — (U.P.) — Sugar Ray Robinson, 35, smashed back into the Ring Magazine ratings today for the first time since his temporary retirement on Dec. 18, 1952.

The new ratings rank the former welterweight and middleweight champion as number three contender for the middleweight crown because of last Friday's victory over Rocky Castellani at San Francisco.

It was his fifth and most important victory in six comeback fights. It clinched a shot at Carl (Bobo) Olson's title, although Charley Humez of France is still listed as top contender, and Holly Mims of Washington, D.C., is ranked second. Castellani dropped from second to fourth.

Youngest In History
As veteran Robinson returned to the ratings, 20-year-old Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn became the youngest top contender for the light heavyweight crown in history.

Patterson's knockout victory over the heavyweight Archie McBride on July 6 enabled him to replace Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, who has been inactive pending the investigation of his Philadelphia fight with Julio Mederos. Johnson was dropped to second place.

Two former world champions—Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn and Yoshio Shirai of Japan—dropped out of the ratings. DeMarco, ex-lightweight ruler, fell out of the top 10 after his defeat by Ralph Dupas. Shirai, ex-flyweight boss, was erased from the list because of his recent retirement.

Jimmy Carter of New York, who lost his lightweight crown to Wallace Bud Smith of Cincinnati, is rated top contender for the 135-pound title, and Dupas of New Orleans is lowered to second berth.

Lumberjack pitchers for the series probably will be chosen from among Ward Rocky, Ron Webb and Jerry Tully. Irv Roth and Dick Allison could share the catching during the two-day stand.

At first base could be Jay Ragni or Jim Ruggles. Other possible infielders are Gordy Heisy, second base; Ray Stratton, third; and Roy Nicely, shortstop. Nicely has been up to the majors and had a good many seasons with the San Francisco Seals when he joined the Jacks.

The outfield may be picked from among John Kovenz, Dick Wenner, Bob Hayes and Ruggles. The Studs go into the series with five players batting over the .300 mark and one just a shade under standard. Cooney is the team leader with 44 hits in 117 times up for a .376 average.
