

Prineville Man Wins Legion Member Award

Redmond—(UP)—Richard L. Miller of Prineville was awarded the grand membership prize at Friday's session of the Oregon American Legion convention here. The award is a trip to the national convention at Miami, Fla.

A certificate for meritorious service was presented to William D. Browne, Portland police detective chief, for "combating subversive influences through the American Legion in the nation."

The convention ends today with election and installation of officers.

ones like Daniel Boone," added Hillary as he peeled a grape with grimy fingers. "He didn't stand around and go to Congress. He went out and pioneered."

The programs and movies they do like, they decided, are "Lassie," "Shane," "The Kentuckian," "High Noon" and Edward R. Murrow.

The kids' first job is to change a proposed "Davy Crockett High school" here to "Albert Einstein High school."

I inquired if members of the anti-Davy Crockett group could be identified by membership buttons. "No!" screamed the boys. "We don't want to buy anything!"

By ALINE MOSBY United Press Correspondent

Hollywood — (UP) — A revolution that may topple the nation's economy, or at least the fur business, is brewing here today.

Two boys have launched an "Anti-Davy Crockett" club. This movement to dethrone the current idol was hatched over bicycles and spraying hoses on a hot afternoon down the street from some friends of mine.

The leaders of the insurgents are Anthony Wilde, 11, and Hillary Silver, 10.

They are collecting neighborhood anti-D.C. members because: 1. Davy was a low-living gambler and a drinking man and not "as perfect as Disney says."

2. It was all a commercial plot to get kids to buy coonskin caps, anyway.

"We're starting a club and Hillary's cousin in Salinas, Calif., already has one," reported young Wilde.

They Don't Swallow It
"No man is that good. Davy is just a Superman in a coonskin cap and we don't swallow that stuff. It's nothin' the way he really was."

"Disney said he died last in the Alamo!" continued Anthony. "Actually the whole battle was a terrible military mistake. "Davy used to gamble, we learned in school. But Disney shows him as such a clean guy, discouraging gambling 'n everything. Nobody could be that good. My dad's great but he gets traffic tickets sometimes."

Hillary further orated that the real Crockett "knocked out guys and cheated people out of money."

"How could he have killed a bear when he was three?" snorted Hillary. "And he didn't grin any ole' bear to death. Everybody in our school's against him. Frankly, we're bored by Davy Crockett."

Have to Buy Things
"The worse thing is you have to buy things. Instead of kids buying books out of their allowance, they have to buy hats. If you don't buy one, you're an oddball."

"The good pioneers are the
