Here We Go Again
The businessmen of medicine who give customers the run-around, within their own coterie, whenever the customers can be pushed around—which is usually—abhor fee-splitting, paying commissions for new business, receiving percentages from firms whose products they prescribe and all that sort of shenanigan.

principal ingredient of the medicine is citrate of soda. I should say it was the principal ingredient. Unfortunately for you poor souls this home remedy is no longer so freely available as it was before the homemade foolproof cough medicine became popular. Some decided that the item was not only unprofitable but the use of such medicine at home was not good for their business. So, if you ask for an ounce or two of citrate of soda today—well, I've warned you. How you'll take the cross-examination, ridicule or insults your request entails is your own affair.

Another Lesson Learned
Mother has used nitroglycerin tablets for anxiety tiliarium as you suggested with much relief, not always complete relief but certainly. (E.W.T.)
Answer—Fortunately I have a battery of dictionaries at my elbow and after diligent search, I found the term for anxiety tiliarium—in Webster's of all places: "A painful restlessness, causing the patient continually to change the position of his legs." On that; instructions for the use of nitroglycerin to prevent or relieve "restless legs" in Little Lesson No. 2, C.V.D. (about heart and artery troubles) for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed.

Lessons Learned
Your column, unlike a MEDICAL column) somehow doesn't fill one's mind with morbid... in fact it is just the opposite... I have learned two lessons of inestimable value to my health and personal appearance, namely: I now drink not less than 1 1/2 quarts of milk every day, and the crystalline vitamin A acetate tablets have cleared up excessive dryness and roughness of my skin... California Governor Surprises Prowler

Santa Monica, Calif.—(U.P.)—California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight surprised a prowler "not five feet" from his wife's bed early yesterday and chased him out of their summer bungalow apartment.
"I nearly caught him," the 57-year-old governor recalled. "Wow! Did he take off!"
Knight said he and his wife Virginia were awakened early Sunday morning by "strange noises" in their apartment at Hotel Miramar.
"Then he was, on his hands and knees, not five feet from Virginia's bed," the governor said, "when I turned on the light between our beds, there was this round, white face staring at us." Knight said he leaped out of bed, clad in blue and white pajamas, and shouted, "I'll get him. You call the cops!"
The governor chased the prowler through the apartment and across a flower bed before the intruder escaped over a high wall around the apartment.
