

PCC Fines For Minor Mistakes

San Francisco—(U.P.)—Dr. Glen Seaborg, University of California member of the Pacific Coast Conference, said today most of the fines levied on member schools were for minor mistakes in interpreting the rules.

The PCC slapped a total of $12,900 worth of fines Saturday in the first such action since 1950.

Hardest hit was Oregon State, which was assessed $2,650. UCLA was fined $2,250, and Washington State $2,050.

"People might get the impression that the schools drawing the heaviest fines were guilty of serious offenses," Seaborg said. "Actually, most of the violations were of a minor, technical nature, mistakes made in interpreting the rules."

H. P. Everest, University of Washington representative and PCC spokesman, said the fines were "corrective, rather than punitive."

Other conference schools were fined as follows: Washington, $1,600; California, $1,200; Idaho, $1,200; Southern California, $900; Oregon, $600; Stanford, $500.

Spec—(U.P.)—Officials of Oregon State College expressed surprise today at "loading the league" in fines levied on schools by the Pacific Coast Conference Saturday for violations of its athletic code. But they had no comment.

The Blazers were wacked for $2,650, the highest amount of any of the nine schools involved. Total fines ran to $12,900. Athletic director "Spec" Stone said he had been aware of the charges pending against Oregon State, but said he didn't think "they were that serious."

Reports Sal Maglie Bought For $30,000

New York—(U.P.)—Did the Cleveland Indians buy Sal (The Barber) Maglie from the Giants in hopes he can pitch them to a pennant? Or did they do it just so he wouldn't fall into the hands of the Yankees or White Sox?

Baseball circles were buzzing those questions today as the 38-year-old curve ball artist flew in from Milwaukee to join the Indians for the big series with the Yankees beginning Tuesday night.

Manager Al Lopez of the Indians insisted that his club wanted Maglie for himself alone, and that they paid the Giants only the regular $10,000 waiver price. But strong reports persisted that the Indians grabbed Maglie so that the Yankees or White Sox wouldn't do it—and that they paid about $30,000 for him.

The Yankees and the White Sox both are hunting for pitching help right now—the Yankees with Bob Turley failing to win regularly and the Sox with Dick Donovan lost indefinitely with appendicitis.

Swarthy, Sal owned a 9-5 record with the Giants, but has been knocked out of the box in his last eight starts. He hasn't won a game since July 2 and hasn't pitched a complete game since June 29.

Ransom Wins Open Golf Tournament

Akron, O.—(U.P.)—The sub-par efforts of six top pros failed Sunday to stop Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., who pulled ahead of three others in a sudden death playoff to cop first money in the Rubber City Open golf tournament here.

Ransom, Jackson Bradley of Houston, Tex., and Jack Burke and Doug Ford of Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., all finished the 72-hole grind knotted at 27-hole strokes.

But Ransom sank a 12-foot putt to birdie the par-four, 375-yard first hole of the playoff and win $2,400. Ford, Burke and Bradley each copped $1,467 in sharing second money. Burke's effort was conceded the toughest. He needed—and picked up—seven strokes to be in contention.

The par-72 Firestone Country Club course had been "toughened" for the tourney, which featured most of the regulars of the tournament circuit.

Ransom, leading after the third round, saw his advantage fade. Ford, newly crowned PGA champ seeking his second tournament victory of the year, pulled ahead of Ransom at the end of nine and held on until Ransom birdied the deciding hole.

Anthony-Boyd TV Bout Tonight

New York—(U.P.)—Middleweight Tony Anthony of New York, the kayo-or-get-kayod kid, will test his punch and somewhat fragile chin tonight against able young Bobby Boyd of Chicago in a television 10-round at St. Nicholas arena.

Only five of Anthony's bouts have lasted the distance. Smart and explosive, he knocked out 18 opponents, but was stopped three times himself for his only defeats.

Boxer - puncher Boyd, state middleweight champion of Illinois, knocked out 19 or his 41 opponents. He displayed zing and ruggedness at St. Nick's on April 11 while losing a disputed split decision to slugger Milo Savage. However, Bobby, too, has been stopped three times in his six defeats.
