

Plans Laid for Indian Aid Fund; Chieftain Speaker

A talk to promote further understanding between the American Indian and the white man was made by Chieftain Whitefeather Monday evening at the Medford Church of the Nazarene. The grandson of Chief Sitting Bull spoke to a large audience at a meeting sponsored by the Medford Council of Church Women.

Following the talk, plans were laid for a fund to be set up to aid the Indians of southern Oregon. Dr. Bull came to Medford from Klamath Falls where he has been working among the Indians.

He told of his experiences singing in European opera before entering Christian work. His life's work now, he said is "to win Christians . . . to make the Indians' needs known to the government and others, and to make other people to be understood by the Indians."

Speaking of the Indian desire for self-government, the chieftain said that some Americans say all of the Indians are not yet ready to govern themselves. "I've not seen any place in the United States where all white men or Negroes were capable of governing themselves," he declared, "but that did not hold back their progress."

Dr. Bull presented a varied musical program, demonstrating various organ techniques in churches throughout the world and singing excerpts from former operatic performances. He sang in German, Italian, Spanish, and other languages, including Hawaiian and various Indian tongues.

Funds From Tea Will Buy Drugs For Mission Work

An event of August will be a silver tea to be given by the Women's association of First Presbyterian church at the home of Mrs. Bert B. Lowry, Fern Valley road, August 16. Hours will be from 2 to 5:30 o'clock and all women of the church and their friends are invited to attend.

All women's organizations of the Presbyterian church throughout the United States have designated August as the time for a silver tea in order to raise funds for the purchase of miracle drugs. It is pointed out that these drugs are much needed in mission work, both in this country and abroad.

This is the one fund-raising event of the year for this particular need, it is stated. Contributions from the teas are sent to national boards of the church for distribution to the neediest place. Last year Miraj, India, and the southwestern part of the United States were selected as spots where the funds were most needed.

This year it is hoped sufficient money will be raised to purchase mobile health units to be used in Cuba and the Philippine Islands.
