

Scores of Out-of-Season Hearings Being Planned by Congressional Investigators

Washington (U.P.)—Congressional investigators today were arranging out-of-session hearings covering everything from Broadway to breweries and from the pulpit to the plow.

More than a score of inquiries already are in the works, although exact dates have not been set on most of them.

The subjects cover a variety of topics, including dope peddling, bakeries, juvenile delinquency, constitutional rights, automation, power policies, machine tools, and the stock market.

The probing lawmakers will scatter to almost every corner of the country, giving thousands of Americans their first on-the-scene look at a live congressional hearing.

Subversive Hunters
Headlines may come out of the house un-American Activities Committee's foray in search of subversives in radio and television and the Broadway theater. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee also will be hunting subversives in various parts of the country.

In one of the most elaborate studies, the Senate Agriculture Committee will hold public hearing at 17 points in 16 states on the farm program.

Senate Small Business Subcommittee will range the country for hearings on financial problems of small business.

Religion has its place on the investigating agenda. A Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional rights has scheduled hearings on separation of church and state.

Power Influence
A House Government Operations Subcommittee will study the influence of private power groups of the Eisenhower administration's power policies. Another government operations group will look into the administration's placing of retired generals in civilian jobs, while a House Small Business Subcommittee will delve into charges that the White House is using regulatory agencies as a "political arm."

A Senate Banking Subcommittee will continue its investigation of the housing program.

Another may investigate the proxy fight in the Libby, McNeill and Libby Co. The same securities subcommittee also may study the impact of stock market purchases by trust funds, insurance companies, etc.

Besides the Senate Small Business group's study of financing problems and bakery prices, it also will bring out a subcommittee report on concentration in the brewing industry. The subcommittee also will hold hearings on the machine tool industry, the New Jersey gasoline price war, and the effects of mergers on small business.

Meat Regulations Hearing Scheduled

Hearings on the proposed pilot program for meat regulations will be held Thursday, Aug. 11, in Grants Pass, and Friday, Aug. 12, in Klamath Falls, according to M. E. Knickerbocker, chief of the animal division industry.

The hearings, scheduled by the state department of agriculture, will be held at the Grants Pass county courthouse annex at 8 p.m. In Klamath Falls, they will be held at 8 p.m. in the State Department of agriculture offices at 2237 South Sixth st. Other meetings on the regulations will be held in Portland, Salem, Eugene, Redmond and Ontario.

Amendment Added To Pinball Ordinance

Portland (U.P.)—The Portland city council yesterday amended the 1951 anti-pinball ordinance to include slotless pinball machines.

The amendment, however, would not go into effect for 30 days.

John F. Reynolds, attorney for Portland Amusement Company, said the proposal probably would be referred to voters. About 12,000 signatures would be needed to bring the matter to a public vote.

The amendment bans all amusement devices in which there is an element of chance, leading pinball operator Stan Terry to charge that it was so broad that coin-operated television sets and toy pinball machines for children also would be illegal in the city.

Grange

Central Point Grange
Central Point Grange will meet Friday, Aug. 5, at 8:30 p.m. Juvenile number for the program is to be presented by Elaine Young, Agricultural committee has charge of the display table.

Annual Grange picnic will be held Aug. 14 at TouVelle Park at 1 p.m. Bring picnic lunch and hot or cold drink for your group.

4-H Club News
Ruchettes
The Ruchettes sewing club met Aug. 2 at Mrs. William's house. We had discussion about having sewing in the winter. Our decision was that we would. We had more business, then adjourned to sewing.

The last meeting is going to be held at Lona Buffington's house Aug. 9, at 7 p.m. Mary Williams will serve.
