O. T. Wilson now threshing grain in this district, claims the yields so far have been disappointing. The straw, he says, is tough and in some cases heavy enough to produce 60 to 80 bushel grain, but turns out only about half that amount. Also we hear many complaints about apples and other fruit not sizing up, and corn and vegetables not having the usual flavor. John Payne, the sage of Payne's Gulch, up Ramsey canyon way, says these conditions have been brought about by the atom bomb experiments, which he says has ruined the atmosphere.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vanderpool and five children, who have resided at the Modoc Orchard for the past three years, where Mr. Vanderpool was employed, left last Tuesday for their former home in Cassville, Mo.

Something we heard the other day while the SP train issue was being discussed, struck us as being rather amusing. A bystander, who seemed to be in all sincerity, remarked that those who are trying so hard to keep the SP passenger train running, ought to have to ride on it.

into the Sanford Richardson farm last Friday, accompanied by Rex, the elk hound pup, the kind of dog Don says they use in Denmark to stalk an animal which in this country is called a moose. To one not well versed on dogs, Rex's ears and curled up tail might be mistaken for a pedigreed berkshire pig. Although from prize stock, the pup does not as yet have a perfect rating, as the tail carried hoop style on the back is a little off center which may cause a pulling to the right when tracking moose.

John Wilson, the Shady Cove mechanic, with his little daughter Debbie, was a brief caller here Thursday. He explained why his brother Steve could bid more than the appraisal price on his last timber purchase from the Forest Service.

Many from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Dora Lynch in Medford July 26. The Lynch family lived in this community some 35 years ago, and at that time Mrs. Lynch had charge of the boarding house at the Modoc Orchard where the crew of 25 to 40 men took their meals.
