Carole Jo Kabler U.S. Junior Golf Champion

Florence, S.C.—(U.P.)—Carol Jo Kabler, a 17-year-old blonde from Sutherlin, Ore., said today she felt "pretty good" over winning the U.S. Golf association's National Junior Girls' championship.

Miss Kabler copped the crown with a 4 and 3 victory yesterday over Jo Ann Gunderson of Kirkland, Wash.

Both the champion and the runner-up, a tall 16-year-old blonde of Norwegian descent, plan to enter the Women's National Amateur which begins Monday in Charlotte, N.C.

"The way Kabler hit the ball here, she's going to spell trouble at Charlotte," Florence club pro Grant Bennett predicted. "She might even win it."

Grant said both Miss Kabler and Miss Gunderson "are capable" of winning the Charlotte tournament.

Last year, the USGA's National Junior Championships were played in Philadelphia. Miss Kabler lost to Margaret (Wiffi) Smith in the first round and had to watch from the sidelines the rest of the way while Miss Smith won the championship.

Miss Kabler birdied the second, parred the third and had a fine birdie on the fourth to go

Eagles Down Lions 14-8

By UNITED PRESS The Philadelphia Eagles came up with one of those rare rookie finds today, a football star with no collegiate experience, in chalking up their second straight exhibition game victory in pre-season National League competition.

The youngster is Ted Wegert, a 23-year-old back from the Bainbridge, Md., Naval Station and he led the Eagles to a 14-8 triumph over the Detroit Lions at Dallas, Tex., Friday night.

Wegert ran 81 yards for a touchdown on a screen pass play in the opening move of the second period and came through again with a seven yard touchdown plunge on a wide pitchout in the third period.

Detroit had taken an early lead with a touchdown in the first period on an 80-yard drive featuring Lew Carpenter's running. The Lions went ahead briefly in the second period when three of their defenders forced Adrian Burk of the Eagles to ground a pass in the end zone for a safety and make out 8-7. Wegert's second touch down was the winning margin. Bobby Walston kicked both extra points for Philly.

Twin-Engine Car Sets New Drag Record

Lawrenceville, Ill. — (U.P.) — Lloyd Scott drove his twin-engine hotrod at a record-breaking 151.07 miles per hour Saturday at the second annual world series of drag racing.

The 30-year-old San Diego, Calif., speedster, driving his Chanslor and Lyons Special, thus broke his own mark of 147 mph set earlier this month at Santa Ana, Calif.

Scott's car, which he built over a two-year period at a cost of $5,000, has one engine mounted on the front and another at the rear.

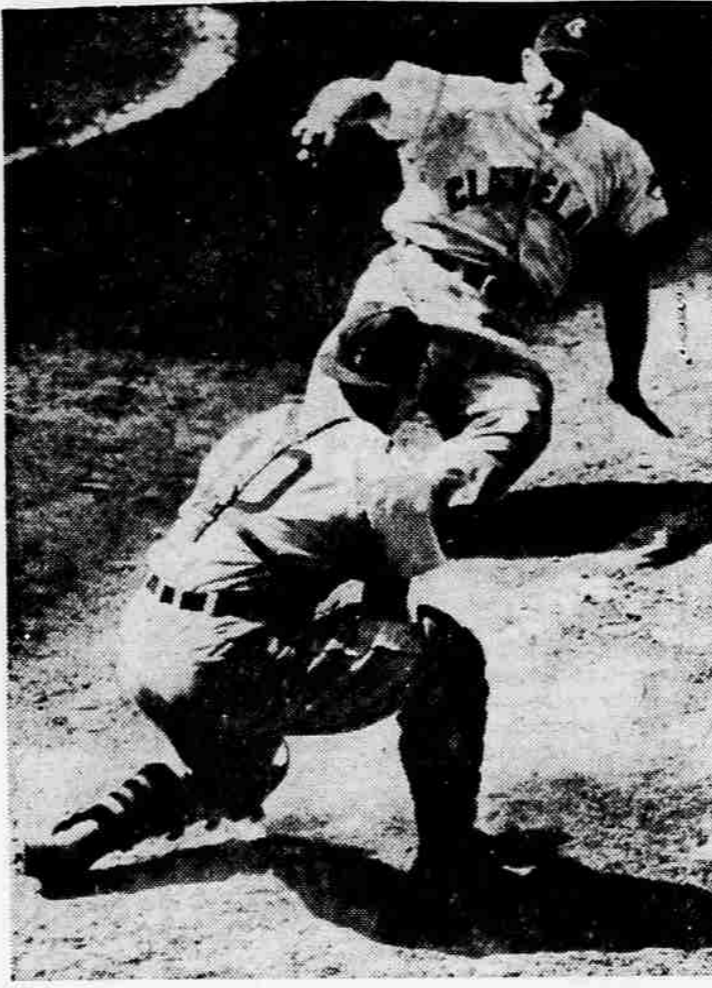

Despite the record speed, Scott faces a runoff today for the title with defending champion Art Arfons of Akron, O., who Saturday went 136.986, four miles faster than his best speed of last year. His auto is powered by a 12 cylinder Allison aircraft engine.

An estimated 350 cars, a record number, entered the meet sponsored by the Automobile Timing Association of America.

OLD MEN GET LESSON Long Beach, Calif. — (U.P.) — Junior gave the old man a lesson in baseball in a game between the small fry members of a little league team and their fathers. The little leaguers, all 12 years old or under, walloped their dads 32-4. The fathers, who made 18 errors, had to pay off with malted milks.

TAG, YOU'RE IT!—This is one run that is sliding right into the face of oblivion as Tiger catcher Red Wiggins gets set to take Indian Gene Woodling at the plate in fourth inning at Detroit. It didn't matter much though, as Cleveland won, 5-3.

Cheney Studs to End Home Schedule Today

Medford's Cheney Studs will fight today to avoid a "losing" baseball season and, perhaps, end up with a "winning" one when they encounter the Coquille Loggers in a Southern Oregon League hassle.

The game will be at 2 p.m. at the fairgrounds ball yard and the occasion will mark the last opportunity local fans will have to see the Studs in action at home this year.

Medford went into the week end two-game stand with the Loggers with a record for the year of 18 wins, 20 losses and one tie. There are two tangles remaining on the Studs slate. Opportunity for a winning year, more wins than losses, remained if the Studs beat Coquille last night. If they lost, there is still the chance for a break-even campaign.

Southern Oregon League play finishes for the Medford nine today. The Studs needed at least one win in the series to guarantee not sharing the cellar with Grants Pass, Coquille, now in third place, is battling to move into second spot in the final standings.

When the Studs lost three straight to Coquille over the long Independence day holiday week end, they looked at the Loggers as one of the strongest clubs they had on their slate. Although the Loggers have had some difficulties since, the appraisal hasn't really changed.

Coquille has handed League Champion Drain its only losses in the circuit, taking a series from the Black Sox early in the season but dropping a pair in the second half.

Terry Maddox is the likely chucker for Medford this afternoon unless the plans of Manager Jack Cooney went askew last night. The Coquille tosser may be either Jim Lehl or Bill Jigam.

Season finals for Medford are two games next week against the Independent Lumberjacks at North Bend.

IBS Rejected Out-of-Court Settlement

Washington —(U.P.)— The Justice Department has rejected a move by the International Boxing Club, defendant in a three-year-old monopoly case, to reach an out-of-court settlement, it was learned authoritatively Saturday.

The department refused to accept the proffered deal because it considered insufficient the concessions volunteered by the powerful professional boxing corporation.

The club was charged in March of 1952 with monopolizing the promotion, exhibition, broadcasting, telecasting and motion picture production of professional championship bouts in the United States.

It was learned that attorneys for the club met with the Justice Department's antitrust experts about two months ago in an effort to negotiate a settlement. The department Saturday would not comment on these talks, nor even admit they took place. But a spokesman said "There is nothing being discussed at this time with defense counsel." "We are still preparing to go to trial," he said.

Santee Fails In Mile Record Try

Toronto — (U.P.) — An unheralded assault on the four-minute mile fizzled in a late August heat wave Saturday when Wes Santee whipped Gordon Price of England and Fred Dwyer of the U.S. Army in a slow 4:11.1 mile at the Canadian senior relay championships.

Running in 90-degree temperatures, Santee, who has been close to the four-minute barrier more than a half dozen times, was content to lag in third place until the final 220 yards. Then he opened up like a Kansas tornado, whirled past Dwyer and Pirie, and sprinted to the tape 2.5 seconds in front.
