

Faure's Morocco Proposals OK'd by Cabinet

MOROCCO MOP-UP—Suspects are lined up in seated positions against wall in Khourigba, French Morocco following the mop-up in an area where nationalist terrorists were allegedly concentrated. Premier Edgar Faure was reported ready to oust the Sultan of Morocco and Governor Gen. Gilbert Grandval in drastic move to bring peace to France's terror-ridden North African empire.

U.S. Officials Take Precautions To Safeguard Lives in Morocco

Casablanca, Morocco (U.P.)—Morocco began a two-week period of unusual tenseness today and U.S. military authorities took extraordinary precautions to safeguard the lives and property of American servicemen and their families.

Maj. Gen. Frederick Glantzberg, top U.S. commander in Morocco, declared half of the protectorate out of bounds for airmen at the four big strategic air bases. Servicemen and civilians began painting American flags on their cars.

With Morocco's destiny being shaped at cabinet meetings in Paris during the next two weeks, officials at Rabat, the administrative capital, expressed fear of a renewal of the uprisings which cost some 2000 lives in Morocco and Algeria last week.

'Routine' Terrorism
Rabat and Algiers officials reported only "routine" terrorist activities during the night.

French troops were reinforced at key points through Morocco. Reinforced patrols cruised in

Three Rural Fires Put Out Saturday

The Central Point Rural Fire department answered calls to three fires Saturday. The largest burned over some 60 acres.

Three trucks worked three hours to extinguish a fire in the Oregon State Game Management area north of White City, starting about 12:55 p.m. About 60 acres of grass and brush were burned.

Fire Chief Dick Krupp said the blaze adjoined a five acre section burned Friday night, but was from a separate cause.

A small fire in sawdust surrounding the burner at Continental Lumber company south of Central Point was quickly extinguished about 4:10 p.m.

The log haul at Fir Ply Inc., 11th st., Central Point, caught fire about 6:30 p.m. Chief Krupp reported that the blaze was put out by mill workers and a department unit before any damage was done.

C. B. Cordy Returns; Resumes Job Sept. 1

Clifford B. Cordy, Jackson county horticultural agent, has returned to his home here and will return to duty Sept. 1, following a year's leave of absence.

Cordy attended the University of Florida, where he studied horticultural subjects including tropical and semi-tropical fruit.

Don Berry, who has been acting horticultural agent during Cordy's absence, will remain as assistant agent.

Perjury Charged To Icardi In Death of Maj. Holohan

Washington (U.P.)—A federal Grand Jury today indicted former Army Lt. Aldo Icardi on eight counts of perjury growing out of the mysterious slaying of Maj. William V. Holohan in World War II.

Cloak and Dagger Slaying
The indictment charged that Icardi, now a Pittsburgh lawyer, perjured himself in testimony before a House Armed Services subcommittee in 1953. Icardi stated at the hearing that Holohan was killed by an enemy band that attacked a mission that the major was leading behind enemy lines in Italy.

Holohan was slain in 1944 while on a top secret cloak and dagger mission of the Office of Strategic Services. His body was not discovered until 1949 when armored cars through the native quarters of Casablanca, Rabat, Fe and other big cities.

Glantzberg sent a message to his forces outlining a precautionary security plan for the crucial two weeks ahead which may mark the beginning of peace in Morocco or open rebellion against French rule.

"We are in no danger and there is no anti-American feelings," Glantzberg said. "But special care will be needed through the next weeks' probable increase of tension."

Some American servicemen and civilians did not wait for orders but began painting the Stars and Stripes on their automobiles. Some wore a painted "U.S." on the side and one zealous patriot daubed an enormous Stars and Stripes across the entire roof of his vehicle.

American authorities said the uprisings thus far had spared all U.S. citizens.

The Air Force offered emergency housing to U.S. bases, but only three families have taken advantage of an offer of 25 trailers set up at Nouaceur. Americans driving to Nouaceur from Casablanca began taking roundabout ways to avoid driving through the Medina.

On their side it appeared the nationalists were taking scrupulous care not to involve any Americans so as to prevent any upsurge of U.S. public opinion against them.

Rita Hayworth Leaves Dick Haymes

Hollywood (U.P.)—Rita Hayworth, who stuck by crooner Dick Haymes through two years of trouble, walked out on him today "for the best interests of my children."

The much publicized couple admitted the fracture in their two-year-old marriage and Haymes blamed it simply on "pressures."

"I don't know at this time that the separation is final," Rita said.

Haymes refused to discuss what he and his glamorous film star wife had argued over but one report was that the spat involved his management of her career.

Haymes, after first denying there was any rift in his marriage to the glamorous actress, finally broke down and admitted he had troubles once again.

Friends of the couple said the break-up came out of an uproarious dispute Saturday night after which she founced out in a rage claiming he used physical force.

Rita's friends said the rift was "irreparable."

Washington Prison Riot Leader Escapes

Spokane (U.P.)—Two men, one of them a convict ringleader in the July 5-6 riot at the Washington State Penitentiary, escaped from Eastern State hospital at Medical Lake last night after overpowering an attendant.

The state patrol identified the escapees as Herman Salter and James Eiland. Salter had been sent to the mental hospital from the state prison at Walla Walla five days ago. Eiland had been an inmate of Eastern State hospital since June.

The state patrol described both men as "dangerous."

Salter is one of 11 convicts against whom Walla Walla County Prosecutor Arthur Hawman filed charges of first degree kidnaping and conspiracy to kidnap and prison riot as a result of the July uprising.

A layer of warm air covered a cooler layer at ground level trapping the smoke from mills and other sources.

State forest patrol and Rogue River National forest spokesmen listed no new fires over the week end, but considerable smoke resulted from a 60-acre grass and brush fire in the Oregon State Game Commission management area along Rogue river on the former Camp White reservation Saturday.

Robert Roof Named To Water Resource Board by Governor

Salem (U.P.)—Gov. Paul L. Patterson today appointed seven members of the new State Water Resources Board, considered one of the most important bodies to be created by the State Legislature in many years.

The board will have vast power over water resources of Oregon and will undertake a study with a view toward getting the most efficient use out of those resources. Many Legislators consider creation of the board the most important piece of legislation passed by the 1955 session.

Named to the board are: Robert H. Foley, Bend attorney, a member of the Upper Columbia River Basins Commission and experienced in the field of reclamation; Professor Fred Merryfield, Professor of Sanitary Engineering at Oregon State College and associated with private engineering firm dealing with cities on sanitation problems; H. E. Maxey, Springfield newspaper publisher, member of the Willamette Valley Basin Commission for the past nine years and long interested in conservation; John Davis, Stayton insurance man formerly with the Bonneville Power Administration and long experienced with hydro-electric problems; Wayne Phillips of Baker, prominent rancher and cattleman, and a student of land and water problems; Robert Root of Medford, farmer and orchardist, former member of the State House of Representatives and active in reclamation projects; and L. C. Binford of Portland, past president of the Isaak Walton League, active sportsman and resource conservationist.

Members appointed by Gov. Patterson must be confirmed by a two-thirds vote of the 1957 Oregon Senate.

Disarmament Talks Start in New York
New York (U.P.)—The disarmament conference opening at the United Nations today brings East and West together for the first time in nine years with new ideas for laying down their arms.

The Big Four powers—United States, Russia, Britain and France—each are equipped with disarmament plans. All four are different.

It is hoped that out of the four some realistic program will emerge from reducing the burden of military costs on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

And at the same time reduce the chance that civilization will destroy itself in a nuclear war.

The experts see only a fair chance that the disarmament conference under U.N. auspices will succeed, despite the international fair weather created at the Summit Conference in Geneva.

There is still a wide gap between Russia's determination to outlaw nuclear weapons entirely and the West's belief that the A-bomb and H-bomb are its chief protection against the vast manpower of the Communist world.

Inversion Layer Keeps Smoke, Haze in Valley
Smoky haze hanging over the valley this morning was caused by an "inversion layer," the weather bureau office here reported.

A layer of warm air covered a cooler layer at ground level trapping the smoke from mills and other sources.

State forest patrol and Rogue River National forest spokesmen listed no new fires over the week end, but considerable smoke resulted from a 60-acre grass and brush fire in the Oregon State Game Commission management area along Rogue river on the former Camp White reservation Saturday.

Both were returned here from Fresno, Calif., late last week.

Djakarta, Indonesia (U.P.)—The New Indonesian government's anti-corruption drive has hit the Foreign Ministry. The Attorney General's office announced that a member of the ministry stationed abroad had been arrested. The name of the official was not disclosed.

Bad Check Suspects Waive Counsel Rights
Robert Hibbard Taylor, 41, Fresno, Calif., waived counsel and preliminary hearing in district court Saturday and was bound over to the grand jury on $2,000 bond on charges of obtaining money by false pretenses. The case involves a $35 fraudulent check to Sam Jennings Tire company, Medford.

Pauline Ruth Taylor, 31, also of Fresno, charged with uttering and publishing a false check, also waived counsel and preliminary hearing in district court and was bound over on $2,000 bond.

Both were returned here from Fresno, Calif., late last week.

Evans Valley School Patrons Vote on Bonds
Polls are open between 2 and 8 p.m. today at Evans Valley school at Wimer for an election on a $50,000 bond issue for additions to bring the school up to state standards.

The addition will include two classrooms and restrooms on the first floor. Restrooms are now in the basement.

Weather
Date Aug. 29, 1955
FORECAST: Considerable cloudiness through Tuesday. Mild temperatures. Low tonight 53. High Tuesday 90.
Temp. Highest Yesterday 93
Lowest this Morning 52

United Press—50th Year

MEDFORD, OREGON, MONDAY, AUGUST 29, 1955

Price 5c No. 136

Robert Roof Named To Water Resource Board by Governor
Study Planned For Efficient Use

Salem (U.P.)—Gov. Paul L. Patterson today appointed seven members of the new State Water Resources Board, considered one of the most important bodies to be created by the State Legislature in many years.

The board will have vast power over water resources of Oregon and will undertake a study with a view toward getting the most efficient use out of those resources. Many Legislators consider creation of the board the most important piece of legislation passed by the 1955 session.

Named to the board are: Robert H. Foley, Bend attorney, a member of the Upper Columbia River Basins Commission and experienced in the field of reclamation; Professor Fred Merryfield, Professor of Sanitary Engineering at Oregon State College and associated with private engineering firm dealing with cities on sanitation problems; H. E. Maxey, Springfield newspaper publisher, member of the Willamette Valley Basin Commission for the past nine years and long interested in conservation; John Davis, Stayton insurance man formerly with the Bonneville Power Administration and long experienced with hydro-electric problems; Wayne Phillips of Baker, prominent rancher and cattleman, and a student of land and water problems; Robert Root of Medford, farmer and orchardist, former member of the State House of Representatives and active in reclamation projects; and L. C. Binford of Portland, past president of the Isaak Walton League, active sportsman and resource conservationist.

Members appointed by Gov. Patterson must be confirmed by a two-thirds vote of the 1957 Oregon Senate.

Disarmament Talks Start in New York
New York (U.P.)—The disarmament conference opening at the United Nations today brings East and West together for the first time in nine years with new ideas for laying down their arms.

The Big Four powers—United States, Russia, Britain and France—each are equipped with disarmament plans. All four are different.

It is hoped that out of the four some realistic program will emerge from reducing the burden of military costs on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

And at the same time reduce the chance that civilization will destroy itself in a nuclear war.

The experts see only a fair chance that the disarmament conference under U.N. auspices will succeed, despite the international fair weather created at the Summit Conference in Geneva.

There is still a wide gap between Russia's determination to outlaw nuclear weapons entirely and the West's belief that the A-bomb and H-bomb are its chief protection against the vast manpower of the Communist world.

Inversion Layer Keeps Smoke, Haze in Valley
Smoky haze hanging over the valley this morning was caused by an "inversion layer," the weather bureau office here reported.

A layer of warm air covered a cooler layer at ground level trapping the smoke from mills and other sources.

State forest patrol and Rogue River National forest spokesmen listed no new fires over the week end, but considerable smoke resulted from a 60-acre grass and brush fire in the Oregon State Game Commission management area along Rogue river on the former Camp White reservation Saturday.

Both were returned here from Fresno, Calif., late last week.

Djakarta, Indonesia (U.P.)—The New Indonesian government's anti-corruption drive has hit the Foreign Ministry. The Attorney General's office announced that a member of the ministry stationed abroad had been arrested. The name of the official was not disclosed.

Bad Check Suspects Waive Counsel Rights
Robert Hibbard Taylor, 41, Fresno, Calif., waived counsel and preliminary hearing in district court Saturday and was bound over to the grand jury on $2,000 bond on charges of obtaining money by false pretenses. The case involves a $35 fraudulent check to Sam Jennings Tire company, Medford.

Pauline Ruth Taylor, 31, also of Fresno, charged with uttering and publishing a false check, also waived counsel and preliminary hearing in district court and was bound over on $2,000 bond.

Both were returned here from Fresno, Calif., late last week.

Evans Valley School Patrons Vote on Bonds
Polls are open between 2 and 8 p.m. today at Evans Valley school at Wimer for an election on a $50,000 bond issue for additions to bring the school up to state standards.

The addition will include two classrooms and restrooms on the first floor. Restrooms are now in the basement.

MAIL TRIBUNE

MEDFORD, OREGON, MONDAY, AUGUST 29, 1955

Price 5c No. 136

8 Drown in Oregon Boating, Fishing Accidents Account For Loss of Lives

Coast Guard Saves Three Fishermen

By UNITED PRESS

Eight persons lost their lives in Oregon waterways and at the beaches in a tragedy-filled week end and three others were rescued by the Coast Guard after drifting for more than 30 hours off the fog-shrouded coast.

Five persons died in boating mishaps in the Astoria area where authorities said it was the worst record in the history of the annual Astoria Salmon Derby. Waters off the mouth of the Columbia river and in the stream itself were jammed with sports fishing craft.

Father, Daughter Die
Duane Schaeffer, 32-year-old Hammond, Ore., construction worker, and his 12-year-old daughter, Alice Marie, were the latest victims reported in the series of mishaps. Their boat, a 12-footer with an outboard motor, was found about 9 p.m. last night lying upside down on the sand on Clatsop spit. Their bodies were not recovered.

Schaeffer is the father of four other children. His wife, Alice, was hospitalized at Columbia hospital in Astoria suffering from shock.

A. W. Robinett, 34, of Wapato, Wash., drowned in the Columbia river near Spearfish, Wash., Sunday morning. Robinett, who was sturgeon fishing in a boat with four companions, fell into the water when he attempted to gaff a catch made by one of the party. His body was recovered by other fishermen who dragged the slack stream with their lines.

Eleven-year-old Donald Roley of Oregon City drowned when the 16-foot outboard motorboat in which he was riding capsized near Clatsop spit at the Columbia's mouth. A coast guard boat picked up his shocked parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roley, but could not revive the boy.

Father Survives
Allan Murchison, 29, Astoria and Marvin Barton, 29, Portland, were missing and believed drowned after their 20-foot boat crashed into the south jetty at the mouth of the Columbia in a fog. Don Barton, father of one of the missing men, survived the wreck and reported the accident to the Point Adams lifeboat station. Coast guardsmen were patrolling the jetty today in search of the missing men.

Dragging resumed this morning for two men who were missing and presumed drowned after their little round-bottomed fishing boat capsized on Dexter reservoir near Eugene.

Victims Identified
State police said the victims were Frank Reeb, 50, owner of a Springfield trailer court and Everett Colley, 27, an employee of Weyerhaeuser timber company. The boat was recovered with fishing lines still drifting in the 50-foot water.

The coast guard rescue took place north of Florence where three men had drifted more than 30 hours after the engine of their cruiser failed. Bill Erskine, Swiss Home, and his companions, Sam Matthews and Pat Williams of Florence, were picked up about 4 p.m. after a widespread search in which 25 fishing boats and civil air patrol planes took part.

State police said a car driven by Simmerman, traveling south on Highway 62, overtook a car driven by Ferd Washington Jones, 62, Gold Hill, and was unable to pass or to slow down sufficiently. The Simmerman vehicle, police said, struck the rear of Jones' vehicle then veered across the highway and into a tree.

Others Not Hurt
Jones and two passengers in his vehicle, Ada Jones and Ethel Tustin of Colorado, were not injured.

A car driven by Richard Harold Kivett, 22, Jacksonville, went out of control on Sterling Creek rd., about three miles from Jacksonville about 4:15 p.m. yesterday and hit a stump near the road. Police said Kivett told them his brakes did not work and he lost control. He was treated by a private physician for small cuts, police said.

One man was killed outright and two others were injured in accidents in this area over the week end.

David Niel Bourquin, 26, of 719 West 10th st., Medford, was killed when the car he was driving went off South Stage rd., and struck a telephone pole and mail box near Voorhies crossing early Sunday.

State police said the accident was reported about 1:40 a.m., and that the car apparently was traveling east. After the vehicle struck the telephone pole, the car veered back onto the highway, struck a mail box, and spun around.

Body Found
Jack Hunter, Jacksonville, saw the body in the ditch about 11 feet from the car as he was passing. He called state police.

Mr. Bourquin, a native of Oakland, Calif., came to Medford from Spokane, Wash., in 1945 and graduated from Medford High school the following year. He served in the Navy from 1946 to 1948. A member of the Presbyterian church and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bourquin of the same address. His father is chief of the civil aeronautics administration control tower staff at the airport.

Funeral services will be held in Conger-Morris chapel at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, with the Rev. John Reynolds of the Presbyterian church officiating. Committal will follow in Siskiyou Memorial park.

Two Others Injured
Two persons were injured, neither seriously, in an accident about nine miles north of Prospect on Highway 62 about 4:20 p.m. yesterday. Maurice Ralph Kohlie, 52, Buffalo, O., and Kenneth Gordon Simmerman, 43, Eugene, were taken to Community hospital by Medford ambulance.

Salvation Army, Red Cross, Seek Flood Aid Money

A Salvation Army voluntary disaster fund has been organized here, and a little more than $1,000 has been raised for work in the flood-damaged northeastern states, it was reported today.

The effort, an "unofficial" one started by members of the local Salvation Army advisory board, is to help pay for relief and rehabilitation work by the Salvation Army units in New England and other stricken states. Mobile canteen service and other assistance has been rendered.

A spokesman for the group said donations may be mailed to Post Office Box 39, Medford. He added the members of the advisory board know of the problems faced by the Salvation Army, and the way in which they are handled, with little administrative expense and no waste. The funds will be used as Salvation Army workers on the scene think best.

The American Red Cross chapter here will conduct a "Tag Day" Wednesday in Medford and Ashland to raise funds for flood relief. A goal of $1,650 has been set in Jackson county, and contributions totaling $686.53 have so far been received.

Oil Refinery Fire Continues To Roar
Whiting, Ind. (U.P.)—A multi-million dollar oil refinery fire roared into its third day today, keeping 1500 persons from their homes in a devastated two-square-mile area.

Standard Oil Company officials said the flames at its giant refinery finally were under control, although three fuel oil tanks containing 750,000 gallons of fuel still burned fiercely.

One thousand company employees worked through the night fighting the fires, which burst from the core of a staggering explosion at 6:15 a.m. Saturday.

The blast, heard for 100 miles, roared from a 26-story cracking plant located in the 1600-acre refinery. Chain reaction explosions among the fuel tanks sent tons of metal flying into slumbering homes. Two persons were killed, hundreds were injured, and 10 per cent of the refinery became flaming, twisted rubble.

Seats Available for Last Festival Plays
Ashland—Many good seats are still available for the last three performances of the 1955 Oregon Shakespearean festival according to Manager Bill Patton.

Tonight is the second and final performance of "Timon of Athens," the final playing of "Macbeth" will be Tuesday night and the season will close Wednesday with "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Reservations may be made by calling the box office in Ashland, 9-5111, or the reservation desk in First National bank, Medford 3-4531.

A record-breaking house Saturday night, with many turned away, gave rise to a rumor that no seats are available for the final performances, Patton said.

'Unimportant' Burglary of Ashland Home Finally Told
Several items, including ladies clothing more than 50 years old, were stolen when a house owned by Albert L. Peachy Sr., at 909 Peachy rd., Ashland, was ransacked about three months ago, Jackson county sheriff's office said today.

The burglary was not reported until late last week, officer's said, because Peachy did not "think it was important." He reported it on advice of his daughter.

Sheriff's officers reports stated the house, which previously was used for storage purposes only, was entered through a window sometime last April or May.

The burglary was discovered by Peachy when he went there to straighten it up so he could move into the house.

The entire house, both upstairs and downstairs, was ransacked, officers said, and contents of drawers, cabinets and boxes were scattered on floors. Burglars also ate several cans of food, and used two plates and spoons, the report stated.

Items stolen included old fashion clothing, both ladies and childrens, some of which was more than 50 years old, a saddle, a rawhide lariat, floorlamp, window drapes, two homemade formal dresses, and two new pillows and a set of dishes.

No estimate as made of the value of stolen property.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring 10 other persons, two critically.

Zelma Morales, 4, was dead on arrival at El Paso General Hospital. Two other children, George Valdez, 5, and Ricardo Lujan, 10, died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Doctors worked to save the lives of another child, Ramon Ramirez, 8, and an adult, Mrs. Tomasa Venezuela, 43. Both of Ramon's legs were blown off, and Mrs. Venezuela was believed to have caught a shell fragment in the chest.

Seven other children and 22-year-old Amado Rivera were seriously injured, most of them suffering from burns.

Police said they think the explosive was a 90-millimeter shell which some of the children found on a picnic a few days ago.

Expanding Artillery Shell Kills Children
El Paso, Tex. (U.P.)—An artillery shell exploded in the midst of a group of children gathered around a small fire last night, killing three of them and injuring