

State Officers Of IOOF Lodge Attend Ceremony

Jacksonville — Members of the Odd Fellows lodge from many parts of Oregon gathered in Jacksonville August 28 in celebration of the first anniversary of naming of the Jacksonville lodge hall as an "ancient and historical shrine." The hall, oldest IOOF hall in use in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, was designated a shrine a year ago in special ceremonies, and a plaque erected. The Jacksonville lodge is No. 10 in the state.

W. Robert Massey, Salem, grand master, was present for the anniversary celebration. Many of the members came from Klamath Falls where a patriarchal rendezvous had been held Saturday, followed by a hospitality breakfast Sunday morning.

Luncheon was served in the old Jacksonville IOOF dining room by members of Ruth Rebekah lodge. A short business meeting was also held, with Jack McDaniels acting as master of ceremonies. The grand master spoke and Harley Looney, Lake Grove, past grand master, gave a talk on historical Jacksonville and its lodge.

Other speakers were Earl Shakk, Portland, grand secretary; Roy Gibbs, Ocean Lake, grand secretary; Herbert Munsell, Klamath Falls, grand representative and past grand patriarch; George Howard, Canby, grand high priest of the grand encampment; Peter Stolsig, Eugene, grand patriarch; John Van Dorn, Forest Grove, grand senior warden.

Eighty-one guests attended during the day. During the patriarchal rendezvous in Klamath Falls, the golden rule and royal purple degrees were conferred on Carl S. Hoskins and Kindred Thomas. The golden rule degree was conferred by Rose encampment, Junction City, and Harrisburg encampment. The royal purple degree was given by Blue Mountain encampment, Prairie City.

Jack McDaniels and Clarence Jordan also attended the Klamath Falls sessions.

Don't throw away those leftover cold cuts. Try freezing them instead, advise Amana freezer home economists. Then, on a day when you have a yen for something "different", dip the slices (without defrosting), into an egg and milk batter, and then in bread crumbs. Saute or deep-fry. You'll find them delicious.

Three-Way Cards Said To Give Good Picture

Stowe, Vt. — (U.P.) — School report cards were once pretty much of a one-sided affair, but times have changed in this ski resort center.

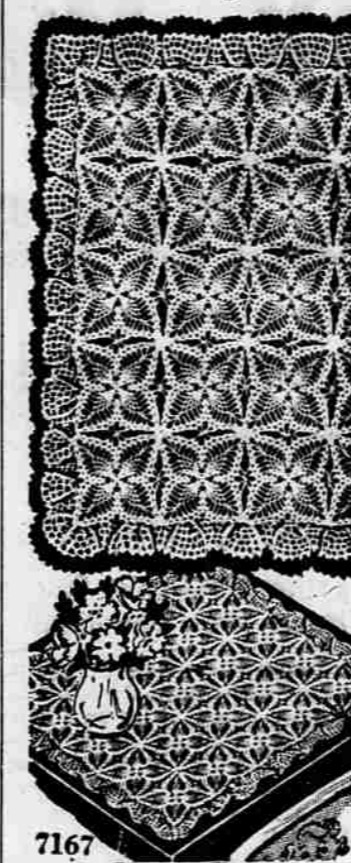

High school students still bring report cards home, but they now return to school with a special report from their parents. It covers home membership, use of leisure time, and health habits.

Parents submit the report twice during the school year as part of a three-way report system developed by a committee of parents, students, and teachers. The school reports on the scholarship and citizenship each nine weeks of the school term. The system is designed to give an overall picture of each student's individual development during the school year.

Dior Influence Spreads to Men

Paris — (U.P.) — Fashion czar Christian Dior has set out to influence men's wear.

The house of Dior has opened a boutique — with a special section for men's fashions.

"We are not opening a tailoring business — heaven forbid!" said a Dior aide. "But there is a lot more to men's dress than suits."

The men's section contains all the accessories the fashion-conscious man needs — ties, socks, handkerchiefs, colored and suede vests, suspenders, scarves. And leather pants.

"Nothing better for sportswear," a Dior spokesman said of the pants.

Most famed customer to date in the men's section has been Marlene Dietrich, the actress.

"She bought a pair of the leather pants — for herself," a salesgirl said. "They are in black and with her figure — well, she just gave them everything."

Will Dior go on to more basic designs in men's clothing? "Who knows," said the aide. "This has been such a success — maybe."
